Studies in Stagecraft Clayton Meeker Hamilton, 2023-07-18 Learn the art of the stage with this handbook on theatre design and production Clayton Meeker Hamilton provides a comprehensive overview of the topics critical to producing memorable stage performances This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Studies in Stagecraft Clayton

Hamilton, 2010-04 Many of the earliest books particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive We are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern editions using the original text and artwork Further studies in stagecraft Susan Richmond, 1931 Greek Theatre in the Fourth Century BC Eric Csapo, Hans Rupprecht Goette, J. Richard Green, Peter Wilson, 2014-06-18 Age old scholarly dogma holds that the death of serious theatre went hand in hand with the death of the city state and that the fourth century BC ushered in an era of theatrical mediocrity offering shallow entertainment to a depoliticised citizenry The traditional view of fourth century culture is encouraged and sustained by the absence of dramatic texts in anything more than fragments Until recently little attention was paid to an enormous array of non literary evidence attesting not only the sustained vibrancy of theatrical culture but a huge expansion of theatre throughout and even beyond the Greek world Epigraphic historiographic iconographic and archaeological evidence indicates that the fourth century BC was an age of exponential growth in theatre It saw the construction of permanent stone theatres across and beyond the Mediterranean world the addition of theatrical events to existing festivals the creation of entirely new contexts for drama and vast investment both public and private in all areas of what was rapidly becoming a major industry This is the first book to explore all the evidence for fourth century ancient theatre its architecture drama dissemination staging reception politics social impact finance and memorialisation work directly with international colleagues staying up to date and relevant requires keeping up with international currents of thought in one's field. But when one's colleagues span the globe it's not always easy to keep track of who's who or what kind of research they're conducting. That's where Intellect's new series comes in. A set of worldwide guides to leading academics and their work across the arts and humanities. Who's Who in Research features comprehensive profiles of scholars in the areas of cultural studies, film studies, media studies, performing arts and visual arts. Who's Who in Research: Performing Arts includes concise yet detailed listings; include each academic's name, institution, biography and current research interests as well as bibliographic information and a list of articles published in Intellect journals. The volumes in the Who's Who in Research series will be updated each year, providing the most current information on the foremost thinkers in academia and making them an invaluable resource for scholars, hiring committees, academic libraries and would-be collaborators across the arts and humanities.
