Is this the Best God Could Do? Sarah Tirri, 2011-03-03 Is This the Best God Could Do nonfiction approximately 115 000 words was born of a crisis of faith of the most cruel kind the loss of my mother who lingered on the brink death for five weeks and that is where the book begins I was living the American dream a happy wife and mother and by most measures charmed and then she died suffering terribly in the process in spite of my ardent prayers Like many in this position I felt that God had let me down but once my grief passed I realized that the God of traditional Christianity keeps us in thrall by fear and guilt by insisting we are small when we are really quite big beings When the World Trade Center collapsed I also realized that the end of the world might well be upon us because it is a self fulfilling prophecy brought about by the zealot believers in the Abrahamic religions fear carried to an illogical extreme This epiphany made me angry Is This the Best God Could Do is also the result of that anger However although the topic is obviously deadly serious I debunk the warped monotheism of the Big Three with humor and wit as well as reasonable albeit edgy argument What follows the section in which I recount the loss of my mother and the realization that the Abrahamic version of God has been messing with us for a couple thousand years is part dialogue with that big guy picture Groucho Marx as interlocutor Hi God of Christianity Sarah here I can appreciate your dilemma I really can But the next time one of your angels gets out of hand please try to take care of the problem instead of making it one of ours part personal history and part reasoned deconstruction But the conclusion I reach about religion does not amount to an advocacy of atheism Although the monotheistic God is discounted as a manmade thing one used to control us I also argue against the godless scientism of Richard Dawkins The God Delusion Sam Harris Letter to a Christian Nation and Christopher Hitchens God is Not Great In fact I argue against this limited perception of human being as a random function of extraneous forces in favor of a more profound participation of humans in reality leading to a profound spiritual transformation on the part of individuals and eventually all of humanity I also argue for a kind of pandemic version of the dramatic wake up effect Eckart Tolle's concept from A New Earth I experienced when my mother died The human race indeed the very planet is going through extraordinary changes all cause for great alarm among the monotheists as the beginning of the end I insist in Is This the Best God Could Do that on the contrary our situation is karmically inevitable and the dire straits in which we find ourselves an invitation to spiritual growth and thereby a renewal of civilization I also call for those born to relative wealth the American populace in general but also most of the Western world to accept responsibility for charting the way forward because it is easier to evolve beyond the traditional notions of religion when one's belly is full and one is warm and dry But Is This the Best God Could Do is not just a polemic about the medieval grip of fundamentalism that holds humans back from the self awareness necessary to find a way forward through the difficulties of history to an enlightened way of life the book also charts the path I offer guidance to the reader for achieving the kind of awareness that allows them to hear God's voice and to participate in the world as an active agent instead of being just a passive believer to understand the magnitude of our spiritual reality Although my book is utterly unique in its mixture of elements the strident debunking of monotheism the hopeful recognition of the bigness of humans as spiritual beings to stand in opposition to the smallness of fear and guilt a hope filled recipe for saving us from ourselves and memoir Orthodox Life, 2001 Building a Future on Peace and Justice Kai Ambos, Judith Large, Marieke Wierda, 2008-12-04 Results of the 2007 Nuremberg Conference on Peace and Justice Tensions between peace and justice have long been debated by scholars practitioners and agencies including the United Nations and both theory and policy must be refined for very practical application in situations emerging from violent conflict or political repression Specific contexts demand concrete decisions and approaches aimed at redress of grievance and creation of conditions of social justice for a non violent future There has been definitive progress in a world in which blanket amnesties were granted at times with little hesitation There is a growing understanding that accountability has pragmatic as well as principled arguments in its favour Practical arguments as much as shifts in the norms have created a situation in which the choice is increasingly seen as which forms of accountability rather than a stark choice between peace and justice It is socio political transformation not just an end to violence that is needed to build sustainable peace This book addresses these dilemmas through a thorough overview of the current state of legal obligations discussion of the need for a holistic approach including development analysis of the implications of the coming into force of the ICC and a series of hard case studies on internationalized and local approaches devised to navigate the tensions between peace and justice The Crucified God - 40th Anniversary Edition Moltmann Jürgen, 2015-11-02 Arguably the most powerful of Moltmann's books The Crucified God is a seminal work on the crucifixion and its significance It is one of the most influential theological books of the twentieth century The Crucified God Jürgen Moltmann, 2015-07-31 Jürgen Moltmann's The Crucified God is one of the most influential theological books of the twentieth century and a classic to be found on every reading list on Christian doctrine Arguably the most powerful of Moltmann's books The Crucified God is a seminal work on the crucifixion and its significance The book takes death despair and dreadfulness the dark side of the human condition with total seriousness and relates these to a liberating hope of redemption through divine agony and suffering Influential for many years especially with political and liberation theologians but also much more widely the book represents a concentrated blast of hard edged doctrinal reflection and will continue to inspire upcoming generations who take seriously the life changing notion that God was in Christ Reissued with a new foreword by the author himself Colossians, Philemon Ernest D. Martin, 1993-06-04 Ernest D Martin takes Bible students into the rich text of the letter to the church at Colossae and the highly personal letter to Philemon Martin draws on his experience as pastor teacher and writer to engage the reader in the complexities of the text All the while he focuses on a Christ centered biblical theology and the amazingly relevant pastoral concerns that shaped these letters In commenting on Colossians Martin highlights a wholistic Christology in contrast to the past and present perversions of the gospel In the section on Philemon he draws attention to the social implications of the koinonia of faith for the servants of Jesus Christ

Building Peace from Within Maphosa, Sylvester B., DeLuca, Laura, Keasley, Alphonse, 2014-02-07 This book seeks to examine how successful models of building peace from within in the African context function It draws emerging lessons to provide critical recommendations on policy practice and academia our primary audience While there are numerous examples of failures of conflict resolution in Africa shown by intractable conflict axes less attention is paid to successes While acknowledging the challenges that exist this edited volume provides positive examples of building peace from within in fragile contexts through many forms of initiatives and actions at different levels community based through individual and or collective local peace initiatives government through ministries and or departments and regional through external and or multilateral infrastructure for peace As a guiding principle the notion of building peace from within draws from the idea of community regeneration which describes voluntary and peaceful activities of grassroots actors that reflect their broader interests of building peaceful communities and existence
