The Military-industrial Firm John F. Gorgol, 1972

Routledge Revivals: Defence Industries (1988) Daniel Todd, 2018-02-01 Originally published in 1989 Defence Industries presents a worldwide survey of defence industries. It argues that modern weapon systems and electronic warfare have led to the transition of the military industrial enterprise into a multifaceted entity where electronics production is the key. It analyses the extent of defence industries showing that large portions of the aerospace shipbuilding motor vehicle and electronics industries are devoted to defence and discusses where the defence industries are located. It examines the differences in government policies contrasting the superpowers with newly industrialised countries. The World Aircraft

Industry Daniel Todd, Jamie Simpson, 2019-08-13 Aircraft building is a major industry for many developed countries. This book first published in 1986 provides a comprehensive survey of the state of the world aircraft industry. It looks at how the industry developed and at its problems. It examines the role of governments showing how this differs from country to country. It concludes by assessing the prospects for the future shape of the industry particularly as newly industrialised countries become more involved. Jonathan Brown, Mary B. Rose, 1993 A collection of papers based upon a joint symposium of business historians from the universities of Lancaster and Reading. Each paper addresses some aspect of entrepreneurship and topics under that heading range from business culture and family firms to cartels and the British arms industry. Forging the Military-industrial Complex Gregory Hooks, 1991 Eyeing the Red Storm Robert M. Dienesch, 2016-04 In 1954 the U S Air Force launched an ambitious program known as WS 117L to develop the world's first reconnaissance satellite. The goal was to take photographic images from space and relay them back to Earth via radio. Because of technical issues and bureaucratic resistance however WS 117L was seriously behind schedule by the time Sputnik orbited Earth in 1957 and was eventually cancelled. The air force began concentrating instead on new programs that eventually launched the first successful U S spy satellites. Eyeing the Red Storm examines the birth of space based reconnaissance not from the perspective of CORONA the first photo reconnaissance satellite to fly but rather from that of the WS 117L. Robert M Dienesch's revised assessment places WS 117L within the larger context of Dwight D Eisenhower's presidency focusing on the dynamic between military and civilian leadership. Dienesch demonstrates how WS 117L promised Eisenhower not merely military intelligence but also the capacity to manage national security against the Soviet threat. As a fiscal conservative Eisenhower believed a strong economy was the key to surviving the Cold War and saw satellite reconnaissance as a means to understand the Soviet military challenge more clearly and thus keep American defense spending under control. Although WS 117L never flew it provided the foundation for all subsequent satellites breaking theoretical barriers and helping to overcome major technical hurdles which ensured the success of
