The Millennium Development Goals In Africa

Christian G. Meyer

The Millennium Development Goals In Africa:

Millennium Development Goals F. O. C. Nwonwu, Francis Nwonwu, 2008 This book reviews the progress prospects and challenges of meeting the Millennium Development Goals MDGs in Africa Each chapter corresponds with one of the eight goals of the Millennium Declaration The introduction sets the stage for the discourse contained in the main text while the conclusion forms an opinion from the findings and prescribes the way forward The goals in sequence include

- bull Eradicate extreme poverty and hunger
- bull Achieve universal primary education
- bull Promote gender equality and empower women
- bull Reduce child mortality
- bull Improve maternal health
- bull Combat HIV AIDS malaria and other diseases
- bull Ensure environmental sustainability
- bull Develop a global partnership for development

While it is apparent that most North African countries are on track to achieve the above goals by 2015 few countries in sub Saharan Africa are expected to succeed in this As well as reviewing progress towards meeting the Millennium Development Goals the authors also analyse the obstacles and challenges that stand in the way of achieving the goals These include internal economic and cultural obstacles as well as external and environmental factors such as reductions in funding problems in accessing global markets and the implications for Africa of climate change

Implementation of the Millennium Development Goals Nicholas Awortwi, Herman Musahara, 2016-06-13 In September 2000 world leaders from 189 countries including 147 Heads of State gathered at the United Nations General Assembly to consider the challenges of the new millennium They adopted the Millennium Declaration which set out a vision for inclusive and sustainable globalization UN 2000 A RES 55 2 The leaders pledged to work towards ensuring that conditions of extreme poverty are eradicated wherever they existed To actualise this declaration the UN established eight Millennium Development Goals MDGs to be achieved by 2015 The goals were broken down into 18 concrete targets and 48 indicators to track progresses in implementation For the past 14 years thereafter countries in sub Saharan Africa have been striving to achieve the goals So far some have achieved some of the goals and the results toward the rest of the goals are also by and large positive though off target This book brings together results of studies on progresses and challenges in the implementation of the MDGs in Lesotho Kenya Botswana Madagascar Tanzania Ghana Uganda and Nigeria The authors focus on selected goals as cases The book also presents lessons that can inform the post 2015 development agenda

Africa and the Millennium

Development Goals Ahmed Rhazaoui, Luc-Joël Grégoire, Soraya Mellali, 2005 The Millennium Development Goals MDG constitute an ambitious agenda to significantly improve the human condition. The goals set clear targets for reducing poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, environmental degradation and discrimination against women. Realizing the Millennium Development Goals in the years ahead will be a particularly challenging task in sub-Saharan Africa in light of weak and often faltering macroeconomic performance, vulnerability to negative climatic shocks, fertility rates and population growth that outpace those of other regions and a devastating combination of poverty, continued civil conflict and the effects of HIV/AIDS. This book provides empirical estimates of current progress in African countries and reviews the various obstacles standing in the way the roles and responsibilities of national actors and their partners and the advocacy, monitoring and evaluation aspects of MDG implementation. The authors emphasize the need for changes in public policy and for action in both the developed and developing countries.

Africa and the Millennium Development Goals Charles Mutasa, Mark Paterson, 2015-10-29 This unique work by the Centre for Conflict Resolution CCR Cape Town South Africa tracks the progress Africa has made in achieving the United Nations Millennium Development Goals MDGs since 2000. Thirteen analytical chapters written by scholars and practitioners with expertise in the various areas covered by the eight MDGs are organized around the larger themes of political economy, structural issues, sustainable goals and human development goals. They critically assess the progress that Africa has made towards the achievement of the MDGs, discuss how to accelerate that progress and offer alternatives and recommendations in support of institutions in Africa that are engaged in promoting the achievement of sustainable development. Throughout they examine the role of various actors including the African Union, Africa's regional economic communities, the United Nations, the European Union etc, civil society and other external development partners in light of their contributions, shortfalls and viable options in shaping the continent's development agenda. Together they provide a unique assessment from experts on the ground of whether the goals were a success and what remains to be done to achieve sustainable economic and human development in Africa.

Achieving the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) in Africa Scott Drimie, Dan Kuwali, University of Cape Town, Centre for Conflict Resolution, 2013. The MDGs which were signed by 189 countries including 53 African states in 2000 set eight benchmarks to eradicate extreme poverty and hunger, achieve universal primary education, promote gender equality and empower women, reduce child mortality, improve maternal health, combat HIV/AIDS, malaria and other diseases, ensure environmental sustainability and develop a global partnership for development by the year 2015. This CCR seminar report which is based on a policy research seminar held in Cape Town from 13-14 May 2013 assesses critically the progress that the continent has made towards achieving the MDGs and to support African institutions in shaping the post 2015 development agenda.
