Tickle, Francine Prose, Joseph Epstein, Simon Blackburn, Wendy Wasserstein, 2006-03-01. Envy Richard H. Smith, 2008. For centuries scholars have argued that envy is the source of much aggressive behavior as well as the root cause of much unhappiness but it is only recently that there have been attempts to examine the emotion from an empirical perspective. This book is the first of its kind to offer a comprehensive summary of current theoretical and empirical work on envy provided by scholars from a range of disciplines. The first section of the book focuses on the rich theological, philosophical and evolutionary foundations of scholarly thinking on envy. The second section covers the social psychological work on envy and includes chapters on social comparison processes, definitional challenges, the link between envy and schadenfreude, intergroup envy and fear of envy. The third section covers research on envy from organizational psychology, experimental economics, marketing, neuroscience and anthropology. The fourth section focuses on the implications of understanding envy for physical and mental health with chapters on psychoanalytic conceptions of envy, health psychology and the challenges of coping with envy. A final chapter consists of reflective comments on all the chapters and brings together recurring themes and makes suggestions for future research on envy. Masters of Science Fiction and Fantasy Art Karen Haber, 2011-06-01. The Influence of Envy on Consumers' Buying Behavior for Branded Products Regina Schneider, 2019-01-15. Master's Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Business economics / Offline Marketing and Online Marketing, grade: 1.3, Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne, Paris School of Economics, course: Consumer Psychology, language: English, abstract: The present study analyzes envy and its effects on individuals' willingness to pay. On the basis of previous research in the field of envy, an experiment with 80 subjects was designed in order to find out more about malicious envy in relation with branded products. By eliciting malicious envy through a pitch and toss game with an unfair outcome, a better off and a worse off participant could be determined. During the experiment, malicious envy was supposed to influence individuals willingness to pay for a bar of chocolate. After collecting the willingnesses to pay the results of an experimental group and a control group were compared. The findings show that malicious envy effectively influences the subjects' willingness to pay for the branded product as well as for the no name product in a negative way whereas the general perception of the chocolate is positive.
