Structural Models and African Poetics Sunday O. Anozie, 2016-08-19 In this pioneering work first published in 1981 Sunday O Anozie examines the relevance of structuralism and semiology to literary criticism in general and to African poetics in particular Behind the growing body of African literature lies an immense reservoir of oral tradition for which the proper tools of analysis and interpretation have yet to be found This book represents the first comprehensive full scale exposition analysis and critique of structuralism by a non Western and non European scholar From an African viewpoint it examines the roles to be played by structuralism and post structuralism in the development of the general principles governing poetics and literary creativity in Africa This title will be of interest to students of literature and literary theory Ideology & Form in African Poetry Emmanuel Ngara, 1990 Emmanuel Ngara evaluates the ability of poets to communicate with their readers His two studies of style and ideology in novels from Africa have made a considerable impact He has now used the same technique to help students come to terms with the demanding question of poetic style From back cover Critical Perspectives on Léopold Sédar Senghor Janice Spleth, 1993 This collection of essays aims to highlight the importance that Senghor has had in bringing an African perspective about Africa to the West Topics covered include Senghor s ideology his poetic method and the influence of Western religion on his work Africana Journal ,1981 International African Bibliography ,1981 Apidan Theatre and Modern Drama Kacke Götrick, 1984 Three Great African Novelists Anjali Gera Roy, 2001 Africa and the West Isaac James Mowoe, Richard Bjornson, 1986-02-13 This volume written by leading African and Western specialists is among the first to provide a broad interdisciplinary view of African culture that allows contemporary Africa to be understood on its own terms freed from Western ethnocentric preconceptions and values The book begins with an overview of current African scholarship followed by Philip Curtin s historical essay on Africa s 400 year relationship with European culture with special emphasis on the mass migrations brought about by the slave trade Discussions of indigenous cultural symbols and religious belief systems reveal a rich and continuing heritage and deepen our understanding of modern African society Several chapters are devoted to the intellectual and cultural life of Francophone Africa its major writers and scholars and the deep cultural conflict experienced by French speaking African elites A chapter by Leopold Senghor former president of Senegal and a leading cultural figure in Francophone Africa offers an eloquent statement of the post colonial African world view A new form of imperialism the control of the mass media by powerful industrial nations and the dangers it poses to African identity and autonomy are examined Other topics covered are the evolution of African legal and judicial systems and recent developments in African musicology The Black Novel Asha Viswas, 2000 The Conch ,1981 Structure of Time and Space in Wole Soyinka's A Dance of the Forests Mbala Nkanga, 1990 Journal of the Humanities ,1999 The West African Village Novel, with Particular Reference to Elechi Amadi's The Concubine George Nyamndi, 1982 George Nyamndi provides in this work an historical and analytical study of the West African village novel Starting with history he locates in the contact of Western and African cultures the circumstances that gave birth to the genre He traces the development of the West African village novel through the different phases of adjustment to its present directions underlining both its particularities in theme and treatment and its similarities to other literatures of the world born of the clash of values Particular attention is given to Elechi Amadi a major though little known West African village novelist George Nnamdi focuses on Amadi's The Concubine to demonstrate the author's artistic achievements as well as the relevance of his themes to African culture and society Africa, America, Asia, Australia, 1994
