Structures Of Everyday Life Volume 1:

Rural Modernity, Everyday Life and Visual Culture Rosemary Shirley, 2016-03-03 Through the lens of the everyday this book explores the countryside as an inhabited and practised realm with lived rhythms and routines. It relocates the topography of everyday life from its habitually urban focus out into the English countryside. The rural is often portrayed as existing outside of modernity or as its passive victim. Here the rural is recast as an active and complex site of modernity, a shift which contributes alternative ways of thinking the rural and a new perspective on the everyday. In each chapter pieces of visual culture including scrapbooks, art works, adverts, photographs and films are presented as tools of analysis which articulate how aspects of the everyday might operate differently in non metropolitan places. The book features new readings of the work of significant artists and photographers such as Jeremy Deller and Alan Kane. Stephen Willats, Anna Fox, Andrew Cross, Tony Ray Jones and Homer Sykes seen through this rural lens together with analysis of visually fascinating archival materials including early Shell Guides and rarely seen scrapbooks made by the Women's Institute. Combining everyday life, rural modernity and visual cultures, this book is able to uncover new and different stories about the English countryside and contribute significantly to current thinking on everyday life, rural geographies and visual cultures.

Civilization and Capitalism, 15th-18th Century, Vol. I Fernand Braudel, 1992 This social and economic history of Europe from the Middle Ages to the Industrial Revolution organizes a multitude of details to paint a rich picture of everyday life.

The Nature of Order, Book Two: The Process of Creating Life Christopher Alexander, 2020-03-30 Scientifically this is perhaps the most exciting of the four books. How do beautiful creations come into being? Nature can make an infinite number of human faces, each one unique, each one beautiful. The same is true for daffodils, streams and stars. But man-made creations, especially the towns and buildings of the 20th century, have only occasionally been really good, more often mediocre and in the last 50 years have most often been deadly. What is the reason for the difference? It hinges on the deep nature of the processes we use. Merely understanding the geometry of beautiful and living form, the topic of Book 1, is not enough to help us create such a living geometry. In the 20th century our society was locked into deadly processes which created our current built environment, a process that most people were not really aware of and did not question. Despite their best efforts and intentions, architects and planners working within these processes could not achieve a living built environment. Life and beauty in the built world arise only from processes which allow living structure to unfold. The secret lies in knowing as nature does what must happen, in what order, what sequence of events allows a living form to unfold successfully. Here in Book 2, Alexander puts forward a fully developed theory of living process. He defines conditions for a process to be living, that is, capable of generating living structure. He shows how such processes work and how they may be created. At the core of the new theory is the theory of structure-preserving transformations. This concept, new in scientific thinking, is based on the concept of wholeness defined in Book 1. A structure-preserving transformation is one which preserves extends and enhances the wholeness of a system Structure preserving transformations provide the means for any step by step process social biological architectural or technical to reach configurations which are most profound most capable of supporting life The process of creation whether in the formation of a single object or in the piecemeal aggregation of a town requires this sort of generative process a careful and deliberate sequence of steps in which each step creates the context for the next one and each next wholeness is derived from the previous wholeness Our billions of beautiful and unique human faces come from one class of sequences Driven by these sequences an initial cell differentiates again and again until beautiful and complex human beings emerge infinitely various always harmonious Making changes in society so that streets buildings rooms gardens and towns may be generated by hundreds of such sequences requires massive transformations This book is the first blueprint of those transformations

Henri Lefebvre, Metaphilosophy, and Modernity Patrick Gamsby, 2025-08-22 Henri Lefebvre Metaphilosophy and Modernity provides a new interpretation of the work of Henri Lefebvre 1901-1991 reframing it as being above all a metaphilosophy of modernity Henri Lefebvre is increasingly being recognized as one of the great twentieth century thinkers Nevertheless the majority of scholarship on Lefebvre predominantly focuses on his theorizing of space often taking Lefebvre's The Production of Space as the point of departure and or on his theorizing of everyday life with his multi-volume Critique of Everyday Life as the focal point This book argues that it is Lefebvre's concept of metaphilosophy that provides the connective tissues for these works one that is chiefly concerned with deciphering the enigma of modernity The book will appeal to a wide interdisciplinary and international audience from the fields of sociology philosophy cultural studies geography the history of ideas and literary studies This includes scholars and students interested in Henri Lefebvre's writings everyday life modernity space time leisure work continental thought critical theory Marxism and technology
