Struggle For Market Power:

Market Power Politics Stephen E. Gent, Mark J.C. Crescenzi, 2021-01-12 How are the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait the Russian incursions into Ukraine and Georgia and China's occupation of islands in the South China Sea related In this book Mark Crescenzi and Stephen Gent show how all three important moments in history are driven by the motivation to capture market power Whether it was oil for Iraq natural gas for Russia or rare earth minerals for China the goal isn't just the commodities themselves it is the power to determine their price on the global market They develop a new theory of market power politics that explains when and why states will delay cooperation or even fight wars in pursuit of this elusive goal

Competition Laws in Conflict Richard Allen Epstein, Michael S. Greve, 2004 Moreover states have powerful incentives to permit domestic industries to exploit outsiders or even to facilitate such practices High profile antitrust conflicts from the prosecution of Microsoft in state national and international forums to the transatlantic disagreement over the European Union's merger policy illustrate the difficulties Possible solutions to these problems range from improved intergovernmental cooperation to direct policy harmonization to a new regime of structured competition in antitrust policy modeled on U.S. corporation law

Economic Interdependence and International Conflict Edward Deering Mansfield, Brian M. Pollins, 2009-09-15 A cutting edge collection of essays on the critical question of the relationship between economic interdependence and conflict among states

The Struggle for Market Power James Alan Jaffe, 2003-11-13 An account of the respective market ideologies of capital and labour during the Industrial Revolution

Government and the Food Industry: Economic and Political Effects of Conflict and Co-Operation L. Tim Wallace, William R. Schroder, 2012-12-06 This book's purpose is to shed light on the threats and opportunities arising from the incentives and restrictions of governmental actions which food industry managers discover in their search for profits The food industry as defined here includes farmers their input suppliers processors and distributors This text explores how the private sector reacts to the stimulus of public support measures rules and regulations which are usually motivated by entirely different ends than those desired within the private sector No current single model of economic behavior as yet adequately encompasses or quantifies these complex vectors and forces Management is comprised of many factors most of which can be identified ex post but few of which can be appraised precisely ex ante The perceptual processes by which managers respond to governments are influenced by culture aptitudes individual and collective goals details of most government business relationships are discussed Few openly since management and government officials are understandably often reluctant to share the decision tree route by which trust is built and understandings are negotiated Our text differs from others in that we combine both a theoretical and experiential approach to the subject The insights provided by the case study material give a more macro and yet realistic view than that usually offered elsewhere We indicate the risks and dynamics of the situations faced by management while also showing the importance and strategic relevance of a solid analytical foundation for managerial purposes
