

The vacuum structure

[EVERYTHING COMES FROM THE VACUUM, EVERYTHING GOES BACK TO THE VACUUM]

Vacuum is the fundamental information field that connects everything, where everything comes from and where everything goes back to each Planck's. The vacuum constantly changes from a state of contraction to a state of expansion. Its geometry consists of two torus that rotate in opposite directions, creating a feedback loop. As this dynamic, the geometrical structure of the vacuum passes alternately from the cuboctahedron to the star tetrahedron.

The cuboctahedron :
It is the only geometrical solid with perfect vector equilibrium. 14 tetrahedrons + 12 squares (12 equal vectors) point to a central nucleus (the singularity). The cuboctahedron represents the force of contraction (growth).

The star tetrahedron :
14 tetrahedrons pointing out, representing the force of expansion (detachment). The star tetrahedron is non-rotational.

From the cuboctahedron to the star tetrahedron, the vacuum geometry passes through all the Platonic solids.

The tetrahedron is the smallest possible geometric volume.
The basic structure underlies the oscillations of the vacuum. On a human scale, these represent the ultimate significant level of fractal description of the universe.

The first three fractal iterations of the vacuum structure : 14 tetrahedrons, then 112, then 1584.

The vacuum structure :
The geometrical combination of the cuboctahedron and the star tetrahedron forms the vacuum structure, consisting of 14 tetrahedrons, of which 144 faces are visible. It is perfectly isotropic, and is the only 3D matrix that can grow into perfect fractal patterns. In doing so, it naturally creates a vector equilibrium at regular fractal intervals. It is the fundamental structure of the universe, which generates a force of expansion (detachment) and a force of contraction (growth), allowing the reality of matter to manifest itself.

14 Planck's spheres - which define the position and geometry of the 14 tetrahedrons of the vacuum structure - interpret the holographic interference patterns.

In 2D, the structure obtained is that of a flower of 16 with 57 circles. The most complete representation of the flower of 16 contains 25 circles. The two concentric circles surrounding this pattern imply that it develops infinitely, infinitely.
