Structuring Sense The Normal Course Of Events:

The Normal Course of Events Hagit Borer, 2005 Structuring Sense explores the difference between words however defined and structures however constructed It sets out to demonstrate that the explanation of linguistic competence should be shifted from lexical entry to syntactic structure from memory of words to manipulation of rules Structuring Sense: Volume 2: The Normal Course of Events Hagit Borer, 2005-01-21 Structuring Sense explores the difference between words however defined and structures however constructed It sets out to demonstrate over three volumes of which this is the second that the explanation of linguistic competence should be shifted from lexical entry to syntactic structure from memory of words to manipulation of rules Its reformulation of how grammar and lexicon interact has profound implications for linguistic philosophical and psychological theories about human mind and language Hagit Borer departs from both language specific constructional approaches and lexicalist approaches to argue that universal hierarchical structures determine interpretation and that language variation emerges from the morphological and phonological properties of inflectional material The Normal Course of Events applies this radical approach to event structure Integrating research results in syntax semantics and morphology the author shows that argument structure is based on the syntactic realization of semantic event units The topics she addresses include the structure of internal arguments and of telic and atelic interpretations accusative and partitive case perfective and imperfective marking the unaccusative unergative distinction existential interpretation and post verbal subjects and resultative constructions The languages discussed include English Catalan Finnish Hebrew Czech Polish Russian and Spanish Structuring Sense: The normal course of events Hagit Borer, 2005 Structuring Sense explores the difference between words however defined and structures however constructed It sets out to demonstrate that the explanation of linguistic competence should be shifted from lexical entry to syntactic structure from memory of words to manipulation of rules The Normal Course of Events Hagit Borer, 2005 Structuring Sense explores the difference between words however defined and structures however constructed It sets out to demonstrate that the explanation of linguistic competence should be shifted from lexical entry to syntactic structure from memory of words to manipulation of rules The Oxford Handbook of Event Structure Robert Truswell, 2019-03-26 This handbook deals with research into the nature of events and how we use language to describe events The study of event structure over the past 60 years has been one of the most successful areas of lexical semantics uniting insights from morphology and syntax lexical and compositional semantics cognitive science and artificial intelligence to develop insightful theories of events and event descriptions This volume provides accessible introductions to major topics and ongoing debates in event structure research exploring what events are how we perceive them how we reason with them and the role they play in the organization of grammar and discourse The chapters are divided into four parts the first covers metaphysical issues related to events the second is concerned with the relationship between event structure and grammar the third is a series of crosslinguistic case studies and the fourth deals with links to cognitive science and artificial intelligence more broadly The book is strongly interdisciplinary in nature with insights from linguistics philosophy psychology cognitive science and computer science and will appeal to a wide range of researchers and students from advanced undergraduate level upwards Argument Structure in Flux Elly van Gelderen, Jóhanna Barðdal, Michela Cennamo, 2013-06-15 The present volume is centered around five linguistic themes argument structure and encoding strategies argument structure and verb classes unexpressed arguments split intransitivity and existential and presentational constructions The articles also cover a variety of typologically different languages and they offer new data from under researched languages on the issues of event and argument structure In some cases novel perspectives from widely discussed languages on highly debated topics are offered also addressing more theoretical aspects concerning the predictability and derivation of linking Several contributions apply current models of the lexicon syntax interface to synchronic data Other contributions focus on diachrony and are based on extensive use of corpora Yet others although empirically and theoretically grounded privilege a methodological discussion presenting analyses based on thorough and long standing fieldwork *Proceedings of the ...
