A powerhouse of the farmworker and Chicano civil rights movements, social activist Agustín Lira spun out songs that fueled the pioneering political theater group Teatro Campesino. From the United Farmworkers grape strike in 1965 through the next half-century of his original music with a message, Lira tenaciously tells the truth as he sees it. On Songs of Struggle and Hope, he and his trio Alma treat us to signature songs of La Causa as well as to new creations that speak of homelessness, child obesity, personal loss, and hope for the future. 61 minutes, 40-pages of bilingual notes and photos.

Choosing to SEE Mary Beth Chapman, Ellen Vaughn, 2010-09-01 I've told my kids for years that God doesn't make mistakes writes Mary Beth Chapman wife of Grammy award winning recording artist Steven Curtis Chapman Would I believe it now when my whole world as I knew it came to an end Covering her courtship and marriage to Steven Curtis Chapman struggles for emotional balance and living with grief Mary Beth's story is our story wondering where God is when the worst happens In Choosing to SEE she shows how she wrestles with God even as she has allowed him to write her story both during times of happiness and those of tragedy Readers will hear firsthand about the loss of her daughter the struggle to heal and the unexpected path God has placed her on Even as difficult as life can be Mary Beth Chapman Chooses to SEE Includes a 16 page full color photo insert

On Critical Pedagogy Henry A. Giroux, 2020-03-19 Alongside Paulo Freire Henry A. Giroux is widely considered to be the founding father of critical pedagogy This classic work represents his best writing on critical pedagogy spanning the past 40 years The 2nd edition includes four new chapters covering the rise of fascist culture in America and across the globe and the dictatorship of ignorance in the age of Trump and post truth This impassioned work opens by discussing critical pedagogy in schools before extending the notion to the educational force of culture politics and society Giroux analyses the increasingly empirical orientation of teaching focusing on the culture of positivism and examines some of the major economic social and political forces undermining the promise of democratic schooling in both public and higher education He argues against the tendency by both right wing and neo liberal interests to reduce schooling to training and students merely to customers He points to the increasing attack on public and higher education by right wing populists and the Trump administration in an age of growing authoritarianism Giroux also considers the legacy of Freire and issues a fundamental challenge to educators public intellectuals and others who believe in the promise of radical democracy

Teaching to Change the World Jeannie Oakes, Martin Lipton, Lauren Anderson, Jamy Stillman, 2015-11-17 This is an up to the moment engaging multicultural introduction to education and teaching and the challenges and opportunities they present Together the four authors bring a rich blend of theory and practical application to this groundbreaking text Jeannie Oakes is a leading education researcher and former director of the UCLA teacher education program Martin Lipton is an education writer and consultant and has taught in public schools for 31 years Lauren Anderson and Jamy Stillman are former public school teachers now working as teacher educators This unique comprehensive foundational text considers the values and politics that pervade the U.S. education system explains the roots of conventional thinking about schooling and teaching asks critical questions about how issues of power and privilege have shaped and continue to shape educational opportunity and presents powerful examples of real teachers working for equity and justice Taking the position that a hopeful democratic future depends on ensuring that all students learn the text pays particular attention to inequalities associated with race social class language gender and other social categories and explores teachers' role in addressing them The text provides a research based and practical treatment of essential topics and it situates those topics in relation to democratic values issues of diversity and cognitive sociocultural and constructivist perspectives on learning The text shows how knowledge of education foundations and history can help teachers understand the organization of today s schools the content of contemporary curriculum and the methods of modern teaching It likewise shows how teachers can use such knowledge when thinking about and responding to headline issues like charter schools vouchers standards testing and bilingual education to name just a few Central to this text is a belief that schools can and must be places of extraordinary educational quality and institutions in the service of social justice Thus the authors address head on tensions between principles of democratic schooling and competition for always scarce high quality opportunities Woven through the text are the voices of a diverse group of teachers who share their analyses and personal anecdotes concerning what teaching to change the world means and involves Click Here for Book Website Pedagogical Features Digging Deeper sections referenced at the end of each chapter and featured online include supplementary readings and resources from scholars and practitioners who are addressing issues raised in the text Instructor s Manual offers insights about how to teach course content in ways that are consistent with cognitive and sociocultural learning theories culturally diverse pedagogy and authentic assessment New to this Edition
