course As Kimmy eats she pauses How do they make chicken bones she asks as she casually inspects the piece she is holding They're part of chickens her mom says matter of factly We don't make them Kimmy's expression suddenly turns to one of horror You mean this used to be a real chicken like on Old Macdonald's Farm she wails dropping the piece she is holding I'm never gonna eat chicken again Here an innocent question about something that baffles this six year old leads her in a direction she had not imagined possible Her mom's response provides anomalous information that shocks her it challenges her existing view of what bones and perhaps even chicken really are In the end she constructs a new evidently disturbing connection The chickens we eat are indeed the chickens that roam about on farms or used to From this moment forward the meaning of chicken dinner will never be the same for Kimmy Using dozens of stories of real kids like Kimmy Jean Anne Clyde and Mark Condon bring to life fundamental concepts about learners learning and teaching They believe that when teachers want a fresh perspective on the kind of learning that is possible in classrooms they must first examine how children really learn not in the controlled context of school but in out of school settings where kids like Kimmy have learned successfully since birth By inviting you to help analyze these stories Get Real will help you become a sophisticated kidwatcher able to recognize appreciate and capitalize on natural learning strategies You can create rich curricular experiences that encourage kids to refine and expand their natural learning strategies in the classroom Get Real examines the everyday contexts that support children's learning so you can make those qualities a part of your own classroom offers an extensive discussion of tools such as multiple literacies provides illustrations of children's work and the significant artifacts from their world that prompted their learning experiences helps you appreciate the multitude of resources for learning and teaching that exist outside of school moves learning from the real world to theory to practice with a collection of specific strategies for you to follow includes a self assessment that links theory to practice to help you identify your strengths and target areas for growth Whether you are an inservice or preservice teacher Get Real will help you recognize and build on kids natural learning strategies to create a learner centered classroom that maximizes success for all children

Digital Technologies in Early Education Centers. Opportunities and Concerns Felina Lehmann, 2021-06-22 Seminar paper from the year 2021 in the subject Pedagogy Nursery Pedagogy Early Childhood Education grade 1 3 University of Bamberg Lehrstuhl für kindliche Bildung und Erziehung language English abstract In my paper I want to investigate the effects of rethinking early childhood education towards the use of digital technologies in order to find out what opportunities and chances arise from this change In addition possible concerns and challenges will be discussed in this regard I have structured my paper accordingly by starting with looking at the extent to which digitalization changes the required knowledge base by defining and thinking the concepts of Information Literacy and Technology Literacy together and highlighting essential skills in an interconnected world After defining the term ICT in early childhood education examples will be used to discuss how the implementation of digital technologies can look like regarding the work with parents the work of the educators and the work with children

Following this the opportunities and chances to rethink and implement pedagogical approaches and to adapt the learning experiences to the 21st century which result from the implementation of ICT will be discussed After describing the opportunities the concerns of digital resource use in day care centers will be further addressed with a special focus on the challenges for the educator It should be noted that it is not possible to go into the opportunities and concerns in depth as this would go beyond the scope of this paper but rather the aim is to contrast the basic ideas about the main potentials and limits of digital technologies in early childhood education centers and to highlight the role of the educator

PAKS Outdoors -

Parents and Kids Science Danny L. McKenzie,1997 Easy to complete activities that focus on science process skills using materials that fit in a plastic zipper bag

The Caterpillar Lucia Catherine John,2008-01-16 The Caterpillar was written as part of a series of children s books designed to teach them about the deeper truths of life Through specific lessons young children will learn about nature and how it functions In a light and funny way it takes the child s mind through a day in nature where certain things like having dinner which we take for granted may be of much greater significance to other creatures This book is about actions and consequences The children reading this book will can find out on their own the lessons to be learned by the characters and how it impacts their own lives at home at school and with their friends The consequences of the actions in one book will be found in the next book coming up The Caterpillar Finds Dinner The new Caterpillar books occupy a very special place in a new method which is soon to be published Help Any Child Become a Genius by the same author The series begins with The Caterpillar because a caterpillar is so unassuming unseen in the background yet it plays such a dramatic role in the delicate balance of nature The author thinks that in the same way children are our little people but if we provide them with the necessary knowledge in their youth they may grow up to create a beautiful civilization way beyond our imagination
