Spatial Optimization For Management Ecosystems:

Spatial Optimization for Managed Ecosystems John G. Hof, Michael Bevers, 1998 This book presents ideas and methods for directly optimizing the spatial layout of the landscape features in which an ecosystem functions There is rich discussion of wildlife habitat issues as well as chapters on recreation timber management water runoff and pest management

Ecological Modeling for Resource Management Virginia H. Dale, 2006-04-18 This book will serve as a readable introduction to ecological modeling for people involved in resource management and will also review models for specific applications of interest to more experienced modelers Successful uses of ecological models as well as discussions of important issues in modeling are addressed The authors of this volume hope to close the gap between the state of the art in ecological modeling and the state of the practice in the use of models in management decision making Environmental Modelling John Wainwright, Mark Mulligan, 2005-04-08 Simulation models are increasingly used to investigate processes and solve practical problems in a wide variety of disciplines eg climatology ecology hydrology geomorphology engineering Environmental Modelling A Practical Approach addresses the development testing and application of such models which apply across traditional boundaries and demonstrate how interactions across these boundaries can be beneficial Provides a general overview of methods and approaches as well as focusing on key subject areas written by leading practitioners in the field Assesses the advantages and disadvantages of different models used and provides case studies supported with data output tutorial exercises and links to the model and or model applications via the book s website Covers major developments in the field eg the use of GIS and remote sensing techniques and scaling issues As associated website contains colour images as well as links to www resources Key Topics in Landscape Ecology Jianguo Wu, Richard J. Hobbs, 2007-03-29 Landscape ecology is a relatively new area of study which aims to understand the pattern of interaction of biological and cultural communities within a landscape This book brings together leading figures from the field to provide an up to date survey of recent advances identify key research problems and suggest a future direction for development and expansion of knowledge Providing in depth reviews of the principles and methods for understanding landscape patterns and changes the book illustrates concepts with examples of innovative applications from different parts of the world Forming a current state of the science for the science of landscape ecology this book forms an essential reference for graduate students academics professionals and practitioners in ecology environmental science natural resource management and landscape planning and design Spatial Optimization in Ecological Applications John Hof, Michael Bevers, 2002-05-23 Whether discussing habitat placement for the northern spotted owl or black tailed prairie dog or strategies for controlling exotic pests this book explains how capturing ecological relationships across a landscape with pragmatic optimization models can be applied to real world problems Using linear programming Hof and Bevers show how it is possible for the researcher to include many thousands of choice variables and many thousands of constraints and still be quite confident of being able to solve the problem in hand with widely available software The authors emphasis is to preserve optimality and explore how much ecosystem function can be captured stressing the solvability of large problems such as those in real world case studies and constrained by required return on investment Sections of the book consider 1 Basic concepts related to forest ecosystems and silviculture based on natural models 2 Social and political foundations of forestry including law economics and social acceptability 3 Important current topics including wildfire biological diversity and climate change and 4 Forest planning in an uncertain world from small privately owned lands to large public ownerships The book concludes with an overview of how EFM can contribute to resolving major 21st century issues in forestry including sustaining forest dependent societies

Coactive Forest Management John G. Hof, 1993 This book provides a theoretical basis and a collection of management science tools that account for the interactions between different components of a managed forest ecosystem Accounting for these interactions is the rapid evolution of forest management away from a traditional agricultural commodities production problem to a multi output problem that gives equivalent emphasis to nonmarket goods and the health of forest ecosystem itself The book is a comprehensive theoretical demonstration of the breakdown of traditional benefit cost analysis in the presence of forest ecosystem or demand interactions and is followed by a set of management science optimization procedures that address these interactions and better capture the ecosystem function Discusses
