Reginald, Mary Wickizer Burgess, Daryl Furumi Mallett, 1992. Science fiction constitutes one of the largest and most widely read genres in literature and this reference provides bibliographical data on some 20,000 science fiction, fantasy and horror fiction books as well as nonfiction monographs about the literature. A companion to Reginald's Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature 1700-1974 (Gale, 1979), the present volume is alphabetically arranged by approximately 10,000 author names. The entry for each individual work includes title, publisher, date and place published, number of pages, hardbound or paperback format and type of book (novel, anthology, etc.). Where appropriate, entries also provide translation notes, series information, pseudonyms and remarks on special features such as celebrity introductions. Themes from science fiction, fantasy and horror have been an intimate part of contemporary poetry in the United States and abroad. The publishing of poetry by those American writers who view themselves as primarily science fiction, fantasy, horror writers has been less common and generally relegated to infrequent appearances in genre publications; this has changed dramatically since the early 1970s. In Contemporary Science Fiction, Fantasy and Horror Poetry, Green provides evidence that there are in fact many opportunities for publishing such genre poetry in both commercial and small press publications. Contemporary Science Fiction, Fantasy and Horror Poetry includes guides to major magazines that publish this type of poetry, each with an index of poets published, a bibliography of major anthologies and a biographical directory of poets active in the three genres. The book also includes an appendix of awards. Warrior's World Richard McEnroe, 1981. In trying to save the Earth, Anthony Rogers may have doomed it. His desperate assault upon the alien P'rlu lunar base has awakened the hidden P'rlu legions left in suspended animation beneath the soil of that ravaged planet and the nightmare begins again as they resume a plan of conquest shaped before the dawn of human history.
