Suicide Bombers:

Female Suicide Bombers Debra D. Zedalis, 2004-08 Suicide bombers are today's weapon of choice. Terrorists are using suicide bombers because they are a low cost, low technology, and low risk weapon. Suicide bombers are readily available, require little training, leave no trace behind, and strike fear into the general population. The success of suicide bombers depends upon an element of surprise as well as accessibility to targeted areas or populations. Both of these required elements have been enjoyed by women suicide bombers. Female suicide bombers were used in the past; however, the recent spate of them in different venues in different countries and for different terrorist organizations forces us to study this terrorist method. This research paper reviews historical female suicide bombers, focuses on female suicide bomber characteristics, analyzes recent changes in application by various terrorist organizations, and provides implications of change within a strategic assessment of future female suicide bombings.

Debra D. Zedalis is a Department of the Army civilian who was a member of the U.S. Army War College Class of 2004. Prior to attending the Army War College, Ms. Zedalis was the Chief of Staff for the Installation Management Agency Europe Region Heidelberg, Germany. She has worked for the U.S. Army in Europe since 1988, serving as the Chief of the Management Division Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Resource Management as well as the Chief of the Installation Management Support Division Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel and Installation Management. Prior to her European assignment, Ms. Zedalis worked at the U.S. Army Armor Center and Fort Knox as a program analyst and manpower analyst. She holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration from Syracuse University and a Bachelor of Arts in Managerial Psychology from the University of Kentucky.

Suicide Bombers

Mary Sharpe, 2008 Suicide Bombers: The Psychological, Religious, and Other Imperatives provides wisdom and insight in an inter-group situation characterized by huge gulfs and misperceptions. The Western media has focused on fundamentalists as the voice of Islam and helped to shape a warped stereotype of the vast majority of Muslims who are actually moderate in attitudes. This volume provides a corrective by explaining how de-radicalization programs are being spearheaded by Muslims themselves and also by exploring the best strategies for understanding and dealing with Islamic fundamentalism and suicide terrorism. The chapters reflect the international interdisciplinary nature of the workshops that served as the launching pad from the project. This volume reflects a positive trend; it is an indication that researchers can lead societies to accurately pinpoint the nature and role of fundamentalists and that they can differentiate between destructive elements on the one hand and the majority of moderates seeking to achieve constructive, peaceful inter-group relations on the other hand. Although there is considerable diversity among the chapters, a shared theme is the contextual approach to understanding extremism and suicide terrorism. Rather than become seduced by reductionist explanations to do with assumed intra-personal characteristics of suicide terrorists, the authors focus on the characteristics of groups and contexts.

Women Suicide Bombers

V. G. Julie Rajan, 2011-08-26 This book offers an evaluation of female suicide bombers through postcolonial Third

World feminist and human rights framework drawing on case studies from conflicts in Palestine Sri Lanka and Chechnya among others Women Suicide Bombers explores why cultural media and political reports from various geographies present different information about and portraits of the same women suicide bombers The majority of Western media and sovereign states engaged in wars against groups deploying bombings tend to focus on women bombers abnormal mental conditions their physicality for example their painted fingernails or their beautiful eyes their sexualities and the various ways in which they have been victimized by their backward Third World cultures especially by Islam In contrast propaganda produced by rebel groups deploying women bombers cultures supporting those campaigns and governments of those nations at war with sovereign states and Western nations tend to project women bombers as mythical heroes in ways that supersedes the martyrdom operations of male bombers Many of the books published on this phenomenon have revealed interesting ways to read women bombers subjectivities but do not explore the phenomenon of women bombers both inside and outside of their militant activities or against the patriarchal Orientalist and Western feminist cultural and theoretical frameworks that label female bombers primarily as victims of backward cultures In contrast this book offers a corrective lens to the existing discourse and encourages a more balanced evaluation of women bombers in contemporary conflict This book will be of interest to students of terrorism gender studies and security studies in general

Suicide Bombers Farhad Khosrokhavar,2005-02-20 In the West the suicide bomber has become a familiar image in newspapers and on television In Palestine Iraq Saudi Arabia Indonesia and elsewhere the results of suicide bombing have been devastating What drives young men and women to become suicide bombers This is not a question that is often addressed This remarkable book provides some of the answers and explores how the suicide bomber relates to the concept of the martyr in fundamentalist Islam Farhad Khosrokhavar contrasts it with the idea of the martyr in Christianity Most importantly he offers a clear insight into the different ways in which the concept is viewed within Islam including divisions within Islamic fundamentalist groups which change according to the political situation of the country in which they are based Drawing on extensive interviews with jailed Islamist militants Farhad Khosrokhavar examines differing attitudes towards the sacred death in various Islamic countries including Iran Palestine Lebanon and Egypt He also investigates transnational networks such as Al Qaeda offering portraits of various prisoners who belong to the group Farhad Khosrokhavar distinguishes between two types of martyr those from the developing world who are excluded from what modernity has to offer and the minority

who live at the heart of the Western world a mainly middle class diaspora from the Middle East and the Maghreb who are at ease with several cultural codes but whose experience of the West is still marked by racism and discrimination The Path to Paradise Anat Berko, 2007-04-30 Suicide bombers are often compared to smart bombs From the point of view of their dispatchers they are highly effective inexpensive forms of weaponry and there is no need to invest in their technological development Suicide bombers are in fact smarter than smart bombs because they can choose their own target and they can react to circumstances on the ground changing their target or their timing in an instant to ensure the maximum damage destruction and death Of course unlike smart bombs suicide bombers think and feel they have histories stories beliefs desires in short they have an inner world Exploring the inner world of suicide bombers has been the focus of Anat Berko's research for years She has worked to understand the thought processes of a people who can choose to place explosives on their bodies and kill themselves taking as many other people with them as they can Do male bombers really believe that death will transport them to a paradise where they will be greeted by virgins Are they victims of unbearable pressure to commit this act of terror What are female bombers promised in the hereafter Is there something that links all suicide bombers Berko also explores the world of those who drop the smart bomb the dispatchers who are these people who persuade others to go calmly to their horrific deaths The Smarter Bomb Anat Berko, 2016-09-01 This compelling book offers a unique glimpse into the motivations of suicide bombers especially women and children and those who recruit and dispatch them As a woman and a mother Anat Berko was able to win the trust of imprisoned bombers and speak with them intimately Entering Israel's most heavily secured cells she met with female and adolescent would be suicide bombers and their dispatchers lawyers and interrogators The personal stories are greatly enriched by the inclusion of the sketches and letters many prisoners gave to the author She explores vital questions What leads individuals to place explosives on their bodies kill and injure scores of civilians and take their own lives Do men really believe that death will transport them to paradise where Allah virgins and wine await them Are women victims of unbearable pressure to commit this act of terror Can a woman be good according to the criteria of Arab Palestinian society and a terrorist at the same time Is involvement in terrorism a sign of the liberation of Palestinian women or another way of preserving their social inferiority thus explaining their low status and the inferior rewards the families of female suicide bombers receive Who are the dispatchers and how do they manipulate and convince women and youngsters to go calmly to their death The answers to these questions offer a rare and candid portrayal that will be essential reading for all those wanting to understand the interior world of suicide bombers and how to communicate with terrorists Suicide Bombers: The Psychological, Religious and Other Imperatives Mary Sharpe, 2008-07-15 Suicide Bombers The Psychological Religious and Other Imperatives provides wisdom and insight in an inter group situation characterized by huge gulfs and misperceptions The Western media has focused on fundamentalists as the voice of Islam and helped to shape a warped stereotype of the vast majority of Muslims who are actually moderate in attitudes This volume

Terrorist Suicide Bombings Mordecai Dzikansky, Gil Kleiman, Robert Slater, 2011-10-10. Urban environments are prime targets for suicide bombings over the next decade. While the threat may be ever present measures are available that can empower law enforcement personnel to thwart attacks or at least mitigate the effects by reducing casualties. Written by professionals with first hand experience.

Terrorist Suicide Bombings Attack In The Royal Navy and Allies from October 1944 to September 1945 Kenneth Edwards (Commander.), 1945

Psycho-political Aspects of Suicide Warriors, Terrorism, and Martyrdom Jamshid A. Marvasti, 2008. In this book there is no intention to bury or to praise suicide bombers. Instead the text explores the controversy regarding the double standards prejudice and distortion with the concepts of suicide bombers warriors terrorism and martyrdom.

Frequently the eyes of the beholders and the political religious orientation and loyalties to one's tribe color what someone perceives. For example if you carry a bomb in your hand you are called a terrorist but if an F 16 carries bombs and kills civilians the pilot could be labeled a war hero or freedom fighter. The contributors of this volume explore the controversial definitions of war crimes and terrorism from both sides eventually declaring that although news and history are written by both the victor and the loser the victor's media has more influence and dominance. Major motivational elements for suicide bombers are identified as occupation invasion of the homeland psychic trauma and dissociation religion poverty perceived injustice shame and despair rage and revenge and cultural support. The contributors further explore state sponsored terrorism the limiting of civil liberties and the psychological impact of war and terrorism on civilians Israeli and Palestinian children and western leaders. A psychological autopsy of suicide bombers and the uniqueness of female participants as well as the failure of counterterrorism are discussed. Research on the characteristics of homegrown worriers and warriors in the western Muslim population is presented. Finally the inclusion of treatment methods of psychopharmacology and psychotherapy for traumatized victims of violence help give the reader a broad perspective of the future impact of this very complex topic.

Female Suicide Bombers Rosemarie Skaine, 2006-03-09. This work discusses the history of suicide bombing and profiles the female suicide bomber. It raises the question of why women are increasingly used as bombers and explores the Western societal biases that tend to cast women in nonviolent roles This book also examines the organizations their scope and training methods Provided by publisher Suicide Bombers in Iraq Mohammed M. Hafez,2007 The war in Iraq was supposed to be easy Instead it has delivered the message that Islamic resistance and martyrdom can defeat the only remaining superpower just as jihadists drove the Soviet Union from Afghanistan during the 1980s Now a haven for jihadists Iraq has entered a civil war whose duration scope and magnitude have yet to be determined The overwhelming majority of suicide attacks in Iraq have targeted Iraqi security forces and Shia civilians not coalition forces The perpetrators appear to be largely non Iraqi volunteers Many are from Saudi Arabia but substantial numbers have come from Europe Syria Kuwait Jordan and North Africa They are foiling U S plans to stabilize the country and turn it into a democratic regime and an ally in a region of religious radicalism entrenched authoritarianism and hostile states with nuclear ambitions Understanding the phenomenon of suicide bombing in Iraq is therefore vitally important for U S national security foreign policy in the Muslim world and the war on terrorism This study the first of its kind on the Iraqi insurgency draws extensively on open source intelligence and papers of record primary sources from insurgent groups including online documents and videos and interviews with U S servicemen who have served in Iraq It examines the history of suicide bombing in Iraq and many other countries theoretical perspectives on suicide bombing the varied factions that comprise the insurgency the ideology and theology of martyrdom supporting suicide bombers their national origins and characteristics and the prospects for a third generation of transnational jihadists forged in the crucible of Iraq

The Enemy of My Enemy George Michael,2006 In the violent world of radical extremists the enemy of my enemy is my friend This study reveals how that precept plays out in the unexpected bonding between militant Islam and the extreme right in America and Europe It provides an insightful and sane look at the possibilities for collaboration between these groups

My Life is a Weapon

Christoph Reuter,2004 What kind of people are suicide bombers How do they justify their actions In this meticulously researched and sensitively written book journalist Christoph Reuter argues that popular views of these young men and women as crazed fanatics or brainwashed automatons fall short of the mark In many cases these modern day martyrs are well educated young adults who turn themselves into human bombs willingly and eagerly to exact revenge on a more powerful enemy perceived as both unjust and oppressive Suicide assassins are determined to make a difference for once in their lives no matter what the cost As Reuter's many interviews with would be martyrs their trainers friends and relatives reveal the bombers are motivated more by how they expect to be remembered as heroic figures than by religion infused visions of a blissful life to come Reuter who spent eight years researching the book moves from the broken survivors of the childrens suicide brigades in the Iran Iraq war of the 1980s to the war torn Lebanon of Hezbollah to Israeli occupied Palestinian land and to regions as disparate as Sri Lanka Chechnya and Kurdistan He tells a disturbing story of the modern globalization of suicide bombing orchestrated as his own investigations have helped to establish by the shadowy Al Qaeda network and unintentionally enabled by wrong headed policies of Western governments In a final hopeful chapter Reuter points to today's postrevolutionary post Khomeini Iran where a new social environment renounces the horrific practice in the very place where it was enthusiastically embraced just decades ago

Dead for Good Hugh D. Barlow,2015-12-03

An easily accessible account of the development of martyrdom Barlow presents a masterful account of how religion death and sacrifice developed into the cult of martyrdom of today Mia Bloom University of Georgia and author of Dying to Kill The Allure of Suicide Terror Thoroughly researched yet full of novel like gripping narratives this book succeeds in giving the reader a glimpse of what might happen in the mind of candidates to martyrdom while never loosing sight of the overall context that brings this phenomenon into being and fuels it Gilbert Achcar author of The Clash of Barbarisms Hugh Barlow is a gifted writer In this book he uses his skills as a renowned sociologist to bring the reader a refreshing and engaging analysis This is a must read for anyone who is interested in understanding martyrdom operations from a broad historical and cultural perspective Ami Pedahzur University of Texas at Austin Dead for Good vividly describes how history gave rise to the suicide bombers of today The passionate submission of ancient Jewish and Christian martyrs was largely supplanted by militant self sacrifice as Islam spread and holy war erupted in the Crusades In the Indian Punjab the Khalsa Sikhs made warrior martyrdom an instinct and policy in their defense of community and of justice In a last ditch effort to defeat the Allies in World War II the Japanese transformed warrior martyrs into martyr warriors trained to sacrifice themselves in attacks on enemy carriers The current suicide bomber is the latest phase Whether motivated by nationalism religious ideology or a combination of both the new predatory martyr dies for the cause while killing indiscriminately Exploring martyrdom across cultures and throughout history this book gives us new insights into today's suicide bombers and answers the common question Why do they do it
