Suicide Bruce Michael Bongar,1992 Each year almost 30 000 individuals take their own lives making suicide the eighth leading cause of death in the United States The data on completed suicide become all the more disturbing when one considers that completed suicides represent only a small percentage of the number of attempts that suicide may be statistically underreported and that the rates of suicide in many industrialized countries are increasing Suicide has likewise been found to be the most frequently encountered emergency situation for mental health professionals with clinicians consistently ranking work with suicidal patients as the most stressful of all clinical endeavors Combining the clinical experience and practical recommendations of some of the world s foremost authorities on suicidal and life threatening behaviors Suicide Guidelines for Assessment Management and Treatment is designed to fill current gaps in the training efforts of the mental health and health care professions in teaching clinicians how best to work with suicidal patients The chapters are constructed as modules that cover a specific topic in a basic curriculum on suicidology and include workable practice guidelines that are both essential and up to date Topics include theories of suicide epidemiology of suicide biological research understanding child and youth suicide and suicide among the elderly procedures for detection of high risk factors emergency room care hospitalization and its alternatives psychopharmacological treatments psychological assessment cognitive and psychodynamic approaches to working with suicidal patients training and supervision of mental health professionals in the study of suicide postvention malpractice and risk management and forensic issues in suicidology By bringing together in one landmark volume the cumulative clinical wisdom of many of the pre eminent experts in suicidology this book for the first time provides the practitioner and practitioner in training with a set of clear and useful guidelines for working with the suicidal patient in clinical practice As such it will have broad appeal to psychologists psychiatrists social workers marriage and family therapists and other mental health professionals as well as to primary care physicians nurses and other health care professionals

American Journal of Psychotherapy ,1947 Crisis ,1999 Cognitive Therapy of Suicidal Behavior Arthur M. Freeman,Mark A. Reinecke,1993 Planning and Managing Death Issues in the Schools Bob Deaton,William A. Berkan,1995-02-14 By managing death issues in a planned purposeful manner schools can reduce suicide and other harmful behavioral reactions substantially Helping students to understand death and loss is part of assisting them to become resilient proactive individuals Age appropriate curriculum materials are provided for educating children and teenagers on issues of health emotional depression grief and death Ways of counseling in schools following the death of a student teacher or staff member are explored in detail Signs of depression and at risk behavior among teenagers are described as part of a comprehensive approach to prevention intervention and postvention concerning death violence and self destructive behavior The authors share strategies that have proved effective in helping students to focus away from self destructive violent single path solutions to developing positive social skills and alternative plans Developing a comprehensive school plan in anticipation of a death occurrence and training staff in its implementation greatly reduces emotional stress The Impact of Suicide Brian L. Mishara,1995 A prestigious group of internationally known contributors including Robert Kastenbaum Alan Berman and David Lester among others take an incisive look at suicide s effects on family friends and professionals Research data are supplemented by rich clinical experience on issues such as bereavement counseling repeated suicidal behavior and the impact of suicide on therapists and caregivers a topic that has almost never been discussed in the literature This volume is a useful resource for researchers clinicians and other mental health professionals including family therapists grief counselors and clinical social workers Beyond the Innocence of Childhood: Helping children and adolescents cope with life-threatening illness and dying ,1995 Beyond the Innocence of Childhood: Helping children and adolescents cope with life-threatening illness and dying David Walter Adams,Eleanor J. Deveau,1995 Death is not a mere possibility but a certainty for all of us Yet today s society unrealistically portrays childhood as a time of unremittant joy and freedom Unfortunately the reality of life may suddenly bring children face to face with tragic circumstances such as the death of their pet the terminal illness of their parent their own struggle with life threatening disease the accidental death of their sibling or the suicide of a friend The gravity of any of these situations takes children beyond the innocence of childhood and plunges them into a world that is frightening and full of uncertainty Unfortunately our perceptions and attitudes toward death do not equip children with the tools to help them cope adequately with such overwhelming experiences Beyond the Innocence of Childhood is a collection of forty chapters which are divided into three separate volumes The overall purpose of this series is to answer the question How do we as educators clinicians other professionals and parents help children and adolescents deal with threat to their lives dying death and bereavement In this three volume set the editors have brought together a number of well known educators researchers and practitioners who share their knowledge and expertise concerning the care and well being of children and adolescents

Suicidology A. Leenaars,1993 Currently in the Western world suicide is a conscious act of self induced annihilation best understood as a multidimensional malaise in a needful individual who defines an issue for which suicide is perceived as the best solution To understand this self induced annihilation one should also understand violence Part II presents four chapters an explication of violence and its legacy the role of trauma and violence in subsequent suicidal behavior homicide with specific reference to elderly Anglo females and terrorism and hostage taking The very person who takes his her life may be least aware of the psychological reasons for doing so Part III consists of a study of unconscious processes in suicide and an explication of the confusions of the body self and others in suicidal states

End of Life Issues Brian De Vries,1999 The complexity of life is mirrored in and elaborated by the complexity of dying death and bereavement perhaps not surprising if one views life and death as complementary processes omnipresent and opposing sides of the same construct Evidence of this complexity is readily apparent in the burgeoning discourse surrounding end of life issues

Suicide Robert Emmet Long,1995 A collection of reprinted articles from various sources discussing teenage suicide the right to die issue and assisted suicide
