The Suitcase Farming Frontier Leslie Hewes, 1973 Rooted in Dust Pamela Riney-Kehrberg, 1994 Examines the social impact of drought and depression in Kansas illustrating how both farm and town families dealt with the deprivation by finding odd jobs working in government programmes or depending on federal and private assistance Willard Garvey Maura McEnaney, 2013-10-01 Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Maura McEnaney s fascinating and wide ranging biography of businessman and entrepreneur Willard Garvey is in many ways a history of 20th century America itself Born in Dust Bowl country as a teenager he rode the rails at the height of the Great Depression to work in California s Grapes of Wrath orchards He sailed on the Queen Mary to the European theater of World War II where he was one of the first three American officers into Berlin following its fall and attended the Potsdam Conference A visionary businessman who dreamed of Every man a homeowner Garvey pioneered affordable home ownership in developing countries at a time when few if any knew or cared about the millions living in slums worldwide Despite revolutions coups and Anti American persecution his World Homes provided thousands of families in countries from South America to Asia the opportunity of moving onto and up the economic ladder He hobnobbed with heads of state and captains of industry counting 20th century titans J B Fuqua Robert Galvin and John Templeton as closest friends and confidantes He started a short lived fourth television network and pushed for independent journalism in an era of tightly controlled media He even tried to start a new country Yet despite his far flung operations Garvey was never far from his hometown affairs Organizing and hosting Saturday morning coffee shop gatherings of ordinary concerned citizens inveterate writer of Letters to the Editor crusader against the overreach of government bureaucracy Garvey ceaselessly fought for his fellow man to have the opportunities for success he had enjoyed and that he saw government s growing powers threatening It is perhaps his final biggest achievement that stands as Willard Garvey s legacy Beyond owner operator of the world s largest grain elevator and largest private landowner in Nevada builder of Kansas s tallest building the Epic Center Its slanted copper roof pointed to the sky it echoes the Kansas state motto that could well serve as his too Ad Astra per Aspera To the stars through difficulties ERS Staff Report , 1988 Harvesting the High Plains H. Craig Miner, 1998 Historian Craig Miner recounts the story of a former field hand whose joint enterprise with Wichita entrepreneur Ray Garvey created an agricultural wheat empire which still operates today Miner details the daily decisions the men made which led to their success as well as treating philosophical and historical questions about the relationship between agriculture and nature in a semi arid region Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Ghost Settlement on the Prairie Joseph V. Hickey, 1995 Four miles southeast of the village of Matfield Green in Chase County Kansas the heart of the Flint Hills lies the abandoned settlement of Thurman At the turn of the century Thurman was a prosperous farming and ranching settlement with fifty one households a post office two general stores a blacksmith shop five schools and a church Today only the ruins of Thurman remain Joseph

Hickey uses Thurman to explore the settlement form of social organization which along with the village hamlet and small town was a dominant feature of nineteenth and early twentieth century American life. He traces Thurman's birth in 1874, its shallow rises and falls, and its demise in 1944. Akin to what William Least Heat Moon did for Chase County in Prairie Earth, Hickey provides a deep map for one post office community and consequently tells us a great deal about America's rural past. Describing the shifting relationships between Thurmanites and their Matfield Green neighbors, Hickey details how social forces set in motion by the American ideal of individualism and the machinations of capitalist entrepreneurs produced a Darwinian struggle between Thurman stock raisers and Flint Hills cattle barons that ultimately doomed Thurman Central. To the story are the concept of ordinary entrepreneurship and the profoundly capitalist attitudes of the farmers who settled Thurman and thousands of other communities dotting the American landscape. Hickey's account of Thurman's social organization and disintegration provides a new perspective on what happened when the cattle drives from Texas and the Southwest shifted in the 1880s from the Kansas cowtowns to the Flint Hills. Moreover, he punctures numerous myths about the Flint Hills, including those that cattle dominated because the land is too rocky to farm or that Indians refused to farm because of traditional beliefs. Like many other small rural communities, Hickey argues, Thurman during its seventy-year history was actually several different settlements. A product of changing social conditions, each one resulted from shifting memberships and boundaries that reflected the efforts of local entrepreneurs to use country schools, churches, and other forms of social capital to gain advantages over their competitors. In the end, Thurman succumbed to the impact of agribusiness, which had the effect of transforming social capital from an asset into a liability. Ultimately, Hickey shows the settlement's fate echoed the decline of rural community throughout America. Kansas and the West Rita Napier, 2003. By incorporating voices from history that have too long been lost in the din of tradition, especially the voices of Native Americans and black women and laborers, Kansas and the West provides a provocative and much needed new view of the state's past.

Journal of the West Lorrin L. Morrison, Carroll Spear Morrison, 1994      Drought in the United States Jane M. Porter, 1988      Encyclopedia of the Great Plains David J. Wishart, 2004-01-01. Wishart and the staff of the Center for Great Plains Studies have compiled a wide-ranging, pun-intended encyclopedia of this important region. Their objective was to give definition to a region that has traditionally been poorly defined, and they have. Historical Geography Newsletter, 1991      Nebraska Bradley H. Baltensperger, 2019-03-01. Nebraska is the first comprehensive examination of the patterns of Nebraska's resources, population, economy, climate, and landscape to be published in many years. Focusing especially on the people of Nebraska and the interaction between the environment and human use of the earth, Professor Baltensperger begins with a discussion of the physical environment and resources of the state and ties early patterns of development to the need to adjust settlement systems and agricultural practices to a subhumid climate. The role of energy-intensive agriculture in the state's economy is a central aspect of the book's examination of human interaction with the environment. The impact of modern technology on Nebraska's agricultural system and on its population receives considerable attention as do the problems associated with recent agricultural developments. Also scrutinized are the land use conflicts generated by urban growth and by the demands of an urban society on rural Nebraska. South Australian Geographical Journal, 2004 The Geography of Economic Activity Richard S. Thoman, Peter B. Corbin, 1974. En la introducción se define la geografía económica incluyendo sus relaciones con el medio humano y el medio físico. A lo largo del libro se ofrecen las estructuras y modelos de producción, mercado, consumo, transportes y comunicaciones, los aspectos sectoriales y espaciales de las actividades primarias, secundarias y terciarias. Haciendo referencia por último a la geografía económica y la planificación regional. Americans View Their Dust Bowl Experience John R. Wunder, Frances W. Kaye, Vernon Carstensen, 1999. A collection of first person accounts of the trauma of the 1930s in the Heartland assessed by historians from the distance of several decades. Section I offers accounts from memoirs and from newspapers and magazines of the 1930s describing the Farmer's March on Washington, formation of the Farmer's Union, the failure of rainmaking machines and the nation's reactions to increasing hardship. Section II presents retrospective analysis from the 1960s through the 1990s offering an understanding of the natural, economic and political facets of the disaster.
