Hypnotism, Mesmerism and the New Witchcraft Ernest Hart, 1896 Hypnotism and Hypnotic Suggestion E. Virgil Neal, Charles S. Clark, Charles Samuel Clark, 1900 Multiple Personality, Allied Disorders, and Hypnosis Eugene L. Bliss, 1986 Since the time of Mesmer in the late eighteenth century spectacular feats of hypnosis have been documented by respected scientific researchers yet hypnosis has remained divorced from the main body of science In this groundbreaking work Dr Eugene Bliss shows that the hypnotic capability of the mind is important to the theory and practice of psychiatry and suggests that it deserves much more attention and research In Multiple Personality Allied Disorders and Hypnosis Bliss explores both the nature of multiple personality and hypnosis and discusses how an understanding of the latter can provide insight into the nature of certain psychiatric disorders For instance he views multiple personality as a form of self hypnosis an instance of learned schizophrenia rather than an organic disorder as is generally thought He outlines the trace elements involved in multiple personality and other psychiatric disorders provides a fascinating history of the origins and current ideas about hypnosis and gives a detailed account of the use of hypnosis in the treatment of multiple personality Based on thirty years of clinical experience and filled with insightful personal observations Multiple Personality Allied Disorders and Hypnosis is an informative fascinating book for psychiatrists psychologists and anyone intrigued by hypnosis and its possible beneficial use

Rewriting the Soul Ian Hacking, 1998-08-03 Twenty five years ago one could list by name the tiny number of multiple personalities recorded in the history of Western medicine but today hundreds of people receive treatment for dissociative disorders in every sizable town in North America Clinicians backed by a grassroots movement of patients and therapists find child sexual abuse to be the primary cause of the illness while critics accuse the MPD community of fostering false memories of childhood trauma. Here the distinguished philosopher Ian Hacking uses the MPD epidemic and its links with the contemporary concept of child abuse to scrutinize today's moral and political climate especially our power struggles about memory and our efforts to cope with psychological injuries. What is it like to suffer from multiple personality? Most diagnosed patients are women, why does gender matter? How does defining an illness affect the behavior of those who suffer from it? And more generally how do systems of knowledge about kinds of people interact with the people who are known about? Answering these and similar questions Hacking explores the development of the modern multiple personality movement. He then turns to a fascinating series of historical vignettes about an earlier wave of multiples people who were diagnosed as new ways of thinking about memory emerged particularly in France toward the end of the nineteenth century. Fervently occupied with the study of hypnotism, hysteria, sleepwalking and fugue scientists of this period aimed to take the soul away from the religious sphere. What better way to do this than to make memory a surrogate for the soul and then subject it to empirical investigation? Made possible by these nineteenth century developments the current outbreak of dissociative disorders is embedded in new political settings. Rewriting the Soul concludes with a powerful analysis linking historical and contemporary material in a fresh contribution to the archaeology of knowledge. As Foucault once identified a politics that centers on the body and another that classifies and organizes the human population Hacking has now provided a masterful description of the politics of memory the scientizing of the soul and the wounds it can receive.

The Philadelphia Medical Journal George Milbry Gould, James Hendrie Lloyd, 1899     Religion and Psychotherapy in Modern Japan Christopher Harding, Iwata Fumiaki, Yoshinaga Shin'ichi, 2014-09-15 Since the late nineteenth century religious ideas and practices in Japan have become increasingly intertwined with those associated with mental health and healing. This relationship developed against the backdrop of a far broader and deeply consequential meeting between Japan's long standing Chinese influenced intellectual and institutional forms and the politics science philosophy and religion of the post Enlightenment West. In striving to craft a modern society and culture that could exist on terms with rather than be subsumed by western power and influence Japan became home to a religion/psy dialogue informed by pressing political priorities and rapidly shifting cultural concerns. This book provides a historically contextualized introduction to the dialogue between religion and psychotherapy in modern Japan. In doing so it draws out connections between developments in medicine, government policy, Japanese religion and spirituality, social and cultural criticism, regional dynamics and gender relations. The chapters all focus on the meeting and intermingling of religious with psychotherapeutic ideas and draw on a wide range of case studies including how temple and shrine cures of early modern Japan fared in the light of German neuropsychiatry, how Japanese Buddhist theories of mind body and self cultivation negotiated with the findings of western medicine, how Buddhists, Christians and other organizations and groups drew and redrew the lines between religious praxis and psychological healing, how major European therapies such as Freud's fed into self consciously Japanese analyses of and treatments for the ills of the age and how distress suffering and individuality came to be reinterpreted across the twentieth and early twenty first centuries from the southern islands of Okinawa to the devastated northern neighbourhoods of the Tohoku region after the earthquake tsunami and nuclear disasters of March 2011 Religion and Psychotherapy in Modern Japan will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a broad range of subjects including Japanese culture and society religious studies psychology and psychotherapy mental health and international history Journal of Practical Medicine ,1899 The New International Year Book ,1900 The International Year Book ,1900 Alienist and Neurologist Charles Hamilton Hughes,1892 Light ,1883 Hypnotism Albert Moll,1901 The Perfect Course of Instruction in Hypnotism, Mesmerism, Clairvoyance, Suggestive Therapeutics, and the Sleep Cure ,1901
