The combat engineers of the First Marine Division 9th Engineer Battalion risked their lives daily in Vietnam as they cleared the roads of mines repaired and paved the famous Highway 1 disarmed booby traps built bridges and culverts and destroyed enemy bunkers and tunnels Despite their sacrifices and pain the combat engineers in Vietnam have heretofore largely been ignored This is the first oral or other history of the 9th Engineers the only Marine battalion formed specifically to go to Vietnam More than 35 men of the 9th talk about why they joined the Marines and their experiences in basic training They speak candidly and compellingly about their five years 1966 to 1970 in country The soldiers also discuss what it was like to come home and get on with their lives Sources for the History of Bhutan Michael Aris, 2009-01-01 The four works included in this collection have enjoyed a rather chequered career They originally formed the second volume of the doctoral thesis Michael Aris submitted in 1978 to the University of London They have been included because of their value as crucial source material on the formative era of Bhutanese history as they cover the entire period leading to the full emergence of the Bhutanese theocracy Their relative brevity as compared with the other major works relevant to this period further suggested the convenience of including them as a group of inter related minor texts While the first two works in this collection have never before been available to modern scholars and are indeed hardly known even in Bhutan the next two which include a text translated from Portuguese have been partially known from the works of John Claude White Sikkim and Bhutan Twenty one years on the North East Frontier 1887 1908 London and
