Some Battlefields

Douglas Wilson Johnson

Some Battlefields:

Battlefield Events Keir Reeves, Geoffrey Bird, Laura James, Birger Stichelbaut, Jean Bourgeois, 2015-10-16 Battlefield Events Landscape Commemoration and Heritage is an investigative and analytical study into the way in which significant landscapes of war have been constructed and imagined through events over time to articulate specific narratives and denote consequence and identity. The book charts the ways in which a number of landscapes of war have been created and managed from an events perspective and how the processes of remembering along with silencing and forgetting at these places has influenced the management of these warscapes in the present day. With chapters from authors based in seven different countries on three continents and comparative case studies this book has a truly international perspective. This timely longitudinal analysis of war commemoration events the associated landscapes travel to these destinations and management strategies will be valuable reading for all those interested in war landscapes and events

Britons and their Battlefields

Ian Atherton, 2024-08-19 While much attention has been paid to the commemoration of conflict in the twentieth century this book is the first to consider conflict memory in the long term arguing that modern practices were not created out of the mud of the trenches but evolved from much longer practices. From the fourteenth century to the present day this work analyses the changing commemoration and memories of British battlefields at home and overseas from Bannockburn 1314 to Bosworth 1485 to Basra 2003. 9 Across these seven centuries there has been a series of recurring post battle rituals that have shaped and continue to shape memories of conflict. Three distinct but overlapping periods of memory can be delineated. In the later Middle Ages battlefields were consecrated by the burial of the fallen and often by the erection of a battlefield cross or chapel or chantry to pray for the dead. The second phase began with the Protestant Reformation in the 1530s when pilgrimage and prayers for the dead were abolished and battlefield chantries were dissolved and many battlefield crosses were demolished. Memories shifted from the dead to the living especially the bodies of surviving veterans who commemorated the conflict by their wounds and from soil and stone to print and ink. The third phase began in the eighteenth century when antiquaries and others established new monuments on past battlefields. Monuments to survivors and the dead were established on contemporary battlefields such as Waterloo once again hailed as sacred ground hallowed by bloodshed fit destinations for a pilgrimage. Not just officers but ordinary soldiers began to be memorialized by name on the battlefield culminating in the cult of the names of the dead enshrined by the creation of the War Graves Commission in 1917 and the idea that battlefields should be preserved unchanged as seen in modern heritage management. Drawing on a wide variety of literary and historical sources and taking a uniquely longue durée approach the book explores and links memory making practices from across the period to reconsider the ways in which battlefields are commemorated and re-commemorated. In so doing it makes a unique contribution to a wide range of historiographical fields British history since the fourteenth century memory studies heritage studies landscape history conflict archaeology and military history

Ryan,2007-08-15 Through a series of case studies that involve past conflict in China the United States The South Pacific and Europe the nature of battlefield sites as tourist locations are explored As places of past conflict and individual acts of heroism these sites are places of story telling How are these stories told And for what purposes are the stories told The acts and modes of interpretation are many ranging from a discourse conducted through silences to the more complex nuanced story telling told through re enactments of past battles The book also asks where is the battle field as case studies relate to conflicts that ranged over several hundreds of miles to on the other hand acts of local civil disturbance that subsequently achieved mythic values in a history of national identity The book is divided into acts these being Acts of Resource Management Acts of Silence Acts of Discovery and Rediscovery Acts of Imagination and Acts of Remembrance and embrace examples as diverse as an re enactment of past battles on a New Zealand rural town cricket pitch to the towering strength of the aircraft carrier USS Yorktown and from the Straits of Taiwan to the centre of Canada Battlefield Tourism Onur Akbulut,Yakin Ekin,Mehmet Emre Güler,Özgür Saribaş,2024-06-24 Introducing real world case studies from across the globe Battlefield Tourism contributes to the growing fields of dark tourism destination and risk management and tourism security
