Supremacy And Oil Iraq Turkey And The Anglo American World Order 1918 193:

The Emergence of Kurdish Nationalism and the Sheikh Said Rebellion, 1880-1925 Robert Olson, 2013-12-18 The last quarter of the nineteenth century was crucial for the development of Kurdish nationalism. It coincided with the reign of Abdulhamid II 1876-1909 who emphasized Pan Islamic policies in order to strengthen the Ottoman Empire against European and Russian imperialism. The Pan Islamic doctrines of the Ottoman Empire enabled sheikhs religious leaders from Sheikh Ubaydallah of Nehri in the 1870s and 1880s to Sheikh Said in the 1920s to become the principal nationalist leaders of the Kurds. This represented a new development in Middle Eastern and Islamic history and began an important historical pattern in the Middle East long before the emergence of the religious nationalist leadership of Ayatollah Khomeini in Iran. This is the first work in any Western language dealing with the development of Kurdish nationalism during this period and is supported with documentation not previously utilized principally from the Public Record Office in Great Britain. In addition the author provides much new material on Turkish Armenian Iranian and Arab history and new insights into Turkish Armenian relations during the most crucial era of the history of these two peoples.

Fuelling Empire Karl Ittmann, 2025-05-26 Beginning in the late nineteenth century British companies used the resources of empire to create an imperial oil industry that controlled 20% of global oil reserves by 1939 and allowed for the movement of capital and labor between regions and companies. The imperial oil complex encompassed colonies Burma and Trinidad and dependent states Iraq and Iraq. In both the imperial state used its political and military power to support British oil interests. The oil complex drew on the resources of empire but also bolstered it with profits and tax revenues while a global set of oil sites supplied the British military and civilian consumers. British companies built an infrastructure of oil production that gave them quasi state power in oil regions while connecting these areas to global and imperial networks of communication and transportation. Fueling Empire highlights the significance of Britain to the development of the global oil industry. It demonstrates the ways in which the global histories of oil and empire are inextricably interlinked. The imperial oil complex relied on a racially stratified hierarchy of labour where white supervisors managed indigenous and migrant workers. The harsh conditions of work and low pay fuelled labour conflicts that resonated with emerging colonial nationalist movements that sought to limit the power of oil companies. Despite robust private and state security operations the imperial oil complex faced greater insecurity before World War II. While the imperial oil complex survived the war in the postwar era decolonization and Britain's financial weakness led to its decline.

Supremacy and Oil William Stivers, 1982 Political Violence in Twentieth-Century Europe Donald Bloxham, Robert Gerwarth, 2011-03-10 This is a comprehensive history of political violence during Europe's incredibly violent twentieth century. Leading scholars examine the causes and dynamics of war, revolution, counterrevolution, genocide, ethnic cleansing, terrorism, and state repression. They locate these manifestations of political violence within their full transnational and comparative contexts and within broader trends in European history from the beginning of the dissolution of the

Ottoman Empire in the late nineteenth century through the two world wars to the Yugoslav Wars and the rise of fundamentalist terrorism The book spans a greater Europe stretching from Ireland and Iberia to the Baltic the Caucasus Turkey and the southern shores of the Mediterranean It sheds new light on the extent to which political violence in twentieth century Europe was inseparable from the generation of new forms of state power and their projection into other societies be they distant territories of imperial conquest or ones much closer to home
