In traditional bond markets sovereign bonds provide benchmarks and serve as catalysts for the corporate bond market development Contrary to the usual sequence of bond market development sovereign issuers are latecomers to sustainable bond markets Yet our empirical study finds that sovereign green bond issuance can have quantitative and qualitative benefits for the development of private sustainable bond markets Our results suggest that both the number and the size of corporate green bond issuance increase more in a jurisdiction after the sovereign debut The results are more pronounced in countries with stronger climate policies Sovereign green bond issuance also improves the quality of green verification standards in the corporate bond market more generally consistent with the aim of fostering third party reviews and promoting best practice in green reporting and verification Finally our work provides evidence that the sovereign debut increases liquidity and diminishes yield spreads of corporate green bonds in the same jurisdiction
