The Great Ape:

The Great Apes Chris Herzfeld, 2017-11-14 A unique beautifully illustrated exploration of our fascination with our closest primate relatives and the development of primatology as a discipline. This insightful work is a compact but wide ranging survey of humankind's relationship to the great apes chimpanzees bonobos gorillas orangutans from antiquity to the present. Replete with fascinating historical details and anecdotes it traces twists and turns in our construction of primate knowledge over five hundred years. Chris Herzfeld outlines the development of primatology and its key players and events including well known long term field studies notably the pioneering work by women such as Jane Goodall Dian Fossey and Birut Galdikas. Herzfeld seeks to heighten our understanding of great apes and the many ways they are like us. The reader will encounter apes living in human families painting apes apes who use American Sign Language and chimpanzees who travelled in space. A philosopher and historian specializing in primatology Herzfeld offers thought provoking insights about our perceptions of apes as well as the boundary between human and ape and what it means to be either

The Great Apes Cyril

Ruoso, Emmanuelle Grundmann, 2007-10-04 Highly descriptive text and stylish photography help explain the life of man's closest cousins. With brilliant photography and concise text the authors give us a close up look at our nearest relatives. From the grizzled old male gorilla to the playful young orangutans so many of these creatures actions and habits are a reflection of those of human beings. This book tells us of the varying lifestyles of gorillas chimpanzees bonobos gibbons and orangutans their social habits their environs and their relationship with humans and the importance of that to their long term survival. AUTHOR Following a PhD on rehabilitation and reintroduction of orangutans in Borneo Emmanuelle works as consultant primatologist for various NGOs in Africa and South America on primate conservation and reintroduction projects. A writer and scientific journalist she collaborates with various French magazines including Terre Sauvage a m Int resse Sciences Avenir and Geo. She has also been a consultant for TV documentaries and has written several books such as tre singe with the photographer Cyril Ruoso and Ces for ts qu on assassine an essay on deforestation in the tropics as well as several books for children. Emmanuelle is president of the Jane Goodall Institut France and of the NGO Awely working on human animal conflict resolution throughout the world. Colour throughout

The Great Ape Project Paola Cavalieri, Peter Singer, 1993 A compelling and revolutionary work that calls for the immediate extension of our human rights to the great apes. The Great Ape Project looks forward to a new stage in the development of the community of equals whereby the great apes chimpanzees gorillas and orangutans will actually receive many of the same protections and rights that are already accorded to humans. This profound collection of thirty one essays by the world's most distinguished observers of free living apes make up a uniquely satisfying whole blending observation and interpretation in a highly persuasive case for a complete reassessment of the moral status of our closest kin

World Atlas of Great Apes and Their Conservation Julian Oliver

Caldecott, Lera Miles, 2005 This comprehensive and authoritative review of the distribution and conservation status of Great

Apes includes individual country profiles for each species and overview chapters on ape biology ecology and conservation challenges    The Embassy of Sir Thomas Roe to the Court of the Great Mogul, 1615-1619 Sir Thomas Roe,1899

Sacred Books of the Buddhists Friedrich Max Müller,1895    The Great Ape Project Census ,2003    Best Practice Guidelines for Great Ape Tourism Elizabeth J. Macfie,Elizabeth A. Williamson,2010 Executive summary Tourism is often proposed 1 as a strategy to fund conservation efforts to protect great apes and their habitats 2 as a way for local communities to participate in and benefit from conservation activities on behalf of great apes or 3 as a business A few very successful sites point to the considerable potential of conservation based great ape tourism but it will not be possible to replicate this success everywhere The number of significant risks to great apes that can arise from tourism require a cautious approach If great ape tourism is not based on sound conservation principles right from the start the odds are that economic objectives will take precedence the consequences of which in all likelihood would be damaging to the well being and eventual survival of the apes and detrimental to the continued preservation of their habitat All great ape species and subspecies are classified as Endangered or Critically Endangered on the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species IUCN 2010 therefore it is imperative that great ape tourism adhere to the best practice guidelines in this document The guiding principles of best practice in great ape tourism are Tourism is not a panacea for great ape conservation or revenue generation Tourism can enhance long term support for the conservation of great apes and their habitat Conservation comes first it must be the primary goal at any great ape site and tourism can be a tool to help fund it Great ape tourism should only be developed if the anticipated conservation benefits as identified in impact studies significantly outweigh the risks Enhanced conservation investment and action at great ape tourism sites must be sustained in perpetuity Great ape tourism management must be based on sound and objective science Benefits and profit for communities adjacent to great ape habitat should be maximised Profit to private sector partners and others who earn income associated with tourism is also important but should not be the driving force for great ape tourism development or expansion Comprehensive understanding of potential impacts must guide tourism development positive impacts from tourism must be maximised and negative impacts must be avoided or if inevitable better understood and mitigated The ultimate success or failure of great ape tourism can lie in variables that may not be obvious to policymakers who base their decisions primarily on earning revenue for struggling conservation programmes However a number of biological geographical economic and global factors can affect a site so as to render ape tourism ill advised or unsustainable This can be due for example to the failure of the tourism market for a particular site to provide revenue sufficient to cover the development and operating costs or it can result from failure to protect the target great apes from the large number of significant negative aspects inherent in tourism Either of these failures will have serious consequences for the great ape population Once apes are habituated to human observers they are at increased risk from poaching and other forms of conflict with humans They must be protected in perpetuity even if tourism fails or ceases for any reason Great ape tourism should not be developed without conducting critical feasibility analyses to ensure there is sufficient potential for success Strict attention must be paid to the design of the enterprise its implementation and continual management capacity in a manner that avoids or at least minimises the negative impacts of tourism on local communities and on the apes themselves Monitoring programmes to track costs and impacts as well as benefits is essential to inform management on how to optimise tourism for conservation benefits These guidelines have been developed for both existing and potential great ape tourism sites that wish to improve the degree to which their programme contributes to the conservation rather than the exploitation of great apes    The Gentleman's Magazine ,1877    The Great Apes Robert Gray,George B. Caesar and Nova as Mediators between Humans and Apes Bauke Janssen,2021-09-27 Seminar paper from the year 2021 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 2 0 University of G ttingen Seminar f r Englische Philologie language English abstract This term paper deals with The Planets of the Apes trilogy and especially the characters of Caesar and Nova Focus is set on the interspecies connections between humans and apes Its approach is to firstly embed the franchise in the scientific background I will focus on my methodology and briefly introduce the framework of recent findings in primatology For that Darwin s The Descent of Man and Selection in Relation to Sex as well as papers by Borkfelt and Call and Tomasello regarding the concepts of othering speciesism and the influence of humans on apes will be included To prove my hypothesis regarding the characters of Caesar and Nova seven scenes which demonstrate their special roles as mediators across the species will be analyzed Contrary to novels or texts films use a variety of techniques in order to illustrate the storyline instead of relying on the imagination of the reader My major aim in the analysis is to examine how certain techniques like facial expressions or sounds create a meaning namely that Caesar and Nova can be considered mediators between humans and apes A final conclusion will sum up and evaluate the main results    Smithsonian Scientific Series ,1934    The Popular Science Monthly ,1888    The Great Apes Michael Leach,1996 A look at the great apes including the chimpanzee orangutan and gorilla    The Athenaeum ,1897    Collected Essays: Man's place in nature Thomas Henry Huxley,1894    Great Ape Societies William C. McGrew,Linda F. Marchant,Toshisada Nishida,1996-07-28 The Great Apes chimpanzees bonobos gorillas and orangutans are our closest living relatives sharing a common ancestor only five million years ago We also share key features such as high intelligence omnivorous diets prolonged child rearing and rich social lives The Great Apes show a surprising diversity of adaptations particularly in social life ranging from the solitary life of orangutans through patriarchy in gorillas to complex but different social organizations in bonobos and chimpanzees As Great Apes are so close to humans comparisons yield essential knowledge for modeling human evolutionary origins Great

Ape Societies provides comprehensive up to date syntheses of work on all four species drawing on decades of international field work zoo and laboratory studies It will be essential reading for students and researchers in primatology anthropology psychology and human evolution Comparative Neuropsychology A. David Milner, 1998 Comparative Neuropsychology is a collection of state of the art essays by some of the world's leading neuropsychologists Taking as their starting point the assumption that the human brain shares many of its most important functional systems with its primate relatives the authors take a comparative evolutionary approach to understanding human cognition and brain function A wide range of subject areas are covered including memory visual and somatosensory perception motor control attention cross modality integration interhemispheric transmission and behavioural intelligence
