Grimsley,1988      Martello Towers Sheila Sutcliffe,1973 Martello Towers those squat circular buildings on lonely stretches of coastline have been part of the seaside scene for over 150 years This book describes how and why they were built their history and what they are used for today      The Martello Tower William Haggard,1986

Martello Towers Worldwide Bill Clements,2011-07-04 Martello Towers Worldwide follows the history of the Martello tower from the construction of the early towers built to protect the Mediterranean shores of Spain and Italy right up to the final towers built in the United Kingdom during the First World War The book is illustrated with a large number of contemporary and historic photographs drawings and plans a very large number of which were not included in the earlier Towers of Strength These provide the most detailed information yet published about the development of the Martello towers in Britain and overseas So the book will be of particular interest to those interested in the history of fortifications architectural conservation and military history generally It will also be of interest to an international readership as the book now has a gazetteer of towers outside the United Kingdom that remain today together with a chapter describing a number of towers built in the United States The book supplements the earlier Towers of Strength and such will be an important addition to the existing bibliography of books on Martello towers and fortification      Towers of Strength W. H. Clements,1998-08-12 Martello towers were built in the early part of the nineteenth century to defend the coast of England against Napoleonic invasion Almost 200 years later forty one of these handsome brick towers still stand along the coast of Kent Sussex Essex and Suffolk The chest of their construction was comparable in relative terms to that of today s Trident missile system The line of towers was never tested in action but acted as an effective deterrent against invasion Today Martello towers are a familiar sight from Aldeburgh in Suffolk to Newhaven in Sussex but it is generally known that similar towers were built by the Royal Engineers to defend British interests in other parts of the world Martello towers were being built as late as the 1850s as far afield as Canada Mauritius Australia and the Mediterranean This book illustrated with numerous photographs and plans is the first comprehensive and detailed study of the known Martello towers built by the British Its description of their construction use current condition and fate will fascinate the enquiring reader as well as being a source of interest to visitors Many of the towers remain landmarks today Fort Denison in Sydney Harbour being a case in point      History of the Martello Tower ,1963

Glyn Forest,1948    Geotechnical Engineering for the Preservation of Monuments and Historic Sites Emilio Bilotta,Alessandro Flora,Stefania Lirer,Carlo Viggiani,2013-05-10 All the traces of historic heritage are a fundamental part of our environment and reward us in the form of cultural enrichment with the ability to have a positive effect both on our lifestyle and economy Therefore the preservation of ancient monuments historic towns and sites has increasingly drawn the attention of public opinion governmental agencies as well as consultants and contractors This interest must be however carefully controlled and directed since the conservation of monuments and historic sites is one of the most challenging problems of our age Careless attempts at preservation can be detrimental not only to their iconic value formal integrity but even to their structural characteristics and the materials they are built with material integrity Geotechnical Engineering for the Preservation of Monuments and Historic Sites collects one opening address four special lectures and 82 contributions from all over the world giving a unique sample of the geotechnical problems to be tackled the solutions currently being proposed and the strategies being carried out to preserve the overall integrity of monuments and historic sites It is clearly apparent that differences exist around the world not only in terms of the characteristics of the monuments or sites to be preserved but also in the approaches adopted to achieve this aim Hence no unique solution is available to the geotechnical engineer dealing with the delicate structures and sites that represent our cultural heritage and knowledge of previous experiences may be a unique guide in any technical decision making process

Martello Tower D. Glyn FOREST (pseud.),1949 A Sailing Directory for the Navigation of the North Sea, Describing the Eastern Coasts of Great Britain, from the Downs to Shetland Alexander George Findlay,1883 Judy,1867 Return to the Far Side of Planet Moore! Martin Mobberley,2015-03-20 The result of an exhaustive study of Sir Patrick Moore's observations of the Moon and planets for more than 60 years this book is a fantastic companion to the extremely popular It Came From Outer Space Wearing an RAF Blazer written by the same author. Moore recorded his telescopic observations in his logbooks which are reproduced and described here in detail along with his sketches and notes. In this light the author discusses the factors that caused Moore to switch from lunar observing to planetary and variable star observing. He has also included personal recollections and humorous anecdotes from Moore's friends and acquaintances as well as a look at his best loved books. Further chapters describe Moore's foreign travels and correspondence with those back home. Lastly the author has not neglected a few of Moore's most memorable television and radio appearances which are examined along with a close up of what it was like to visit Moore's beloved home of Farthings in Selsey. Essentially this is a book written by popular demand from the readers of the author's original biography who craved more of Moore.
