The Matriarch Charles Roy MacKinnon, 1975      Teaching Postwar Japanese Fiction Alex Bates, 2023-01-17 As Japan moved from the devastation of 1945 to the economic security that survived even the boom and bust of the 1980s and 1990s its literature came to embrace new subjects and styles and to reflect on the nation's changing relationship to other Asian countries and to the West This volume will help instructors introduce students to novels short stories and manga that confront postwar Japanese experiences including the suffering caused by the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki the echoes of Japan's colonialism and imperialism new ways of thinking about Japanese identity and about minorities such as the zainichi Koreans changes in family structures and environmental disasters Essays provide context for understanding the particularity of postwar Japanese literature its place in world literature and its connections to the Japanese past

Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature      The Matriarch Gladys Bronwyn Stern, 1948      The Matriarch Gladys Bronwyn Stern, 1925      The

Contemporary Novel Irving Adelman, Rita Dworkin, 1997-10-09 In this new edition what was already an expansive work has been updated and further enlarged to include information not only on American and British novelists but also on writers in English from around the world      The Origins of Transmedia Storytelling in Early Twentieth Century Adaptation

Alexis Weedon, 2021-06-18 This book explores the significance of professional writers and their role in developing British storytelling in the 1920s and 1930s and their influence on the poetics of today's transmedia storytelling Modern techniques can be traced back to the early twentieth century when film radio and television provided professional writers with new formats and revenue streams for their fiction The book explores the contribution of four British authors household names in their day who adapted work for film television and radio Although celebrities between the wars Clemence Dane G B Stern

Hugh Walpole and A E W Mason have fallen from view The popular playwright Dane witty novelist Stern and raconteur Walpole have been marginalised for being German Jewish female or gay and Mason s contribution to film has been overlooked also It argues that these and other vocational authors should be reassessed for their contribution to new media forms of storytelling The book makes a significant contribution in the fields of media studies adaptation studies and the literary middlebrow
