The Oil Century:

The Oil Century J. S. Clark, 1958    The People Want Gilbert Achcar, 2013-06-17 The people want This first half of slogans chanted by millions of Arab protesters since 2011 revealed a long repressed craving for democracy But huge social and economic problems were also laid bare by the protestors demands Simplistic interpretations of the uprising that has been shaking the Arab world since a young street vendor set himself on fire in Central Tunisia on 17 December 2010 seek to portray it as purely political or explain it by culture age religion if not conspiracy theories Instead Gilbert Achcar locates the deep roots of the upheaval in the specific economic features that hamper the region's development and lead to dramatic social consequences including massive youth unemployment Intertwined with despotism nepotism and corruption these features produced an explosive situation that was aggravated by post 9 11 U S policies The sponsoring of the Muslim Brotherhood by the Emirate of Qatar and its influential satellite channel Al Jazeera contributed to shaping the prelude to the uprising But the explosion's deep roots asserts Achcar mean that what happened until now is but the beginning of a revolutionary process likely to extend for many more years to come The author identifies the actors and dynamics of the revolutionary process the role of various social and political movements the emergence of young actors making intensive use of new information and communication technologies and the nature of power elites and existing state apparatuses that determine different conditions for regime overthrow in each case Drawing a balance sheet of the uprising in the countries that have been most affected by it until now i e Tunisia Egypt Yemen Bahrain Libya and Syria Achcar sheds special light on the nature and role of the movements that use Islam as a political banner He scrutinizes attempts at co opting the uprising by these movements and by the oil monarchies that sponsor them as well as by the protector of these same monarchies the U S government Underlining the limitations of the Islamic Tsunami that some have used as a pretext to denigrate the whole uprising Gilbert Achcar points to the requirements for a lasting solution to the social crisis and the contours of a progressive political alternative

Black Gold and Blackmail Rosemary A. Kelanic, 2020-05-15 Black Gold and Blackmail seeks to explain why great powers adopt such different strategies to protect their oil access from politically motivated disruptions In extreme cases such as Imperial Japan in 1941 great powers fought wars to grab oil territory in anticipation of a potential embargo by the Allies in other instances such as Germany in the early Nazi period states chose relatively subdued measures like oil alliances or domestic policies to conserve oil What accounts for this variation Fundamentally it is puzzling that great powers fear oil coercion at all because the global market makes oil sanctions very difficult to enforce Rosemary A Kelanic argues that two variables determine what strategy a great power will adopt the petroleum deficit which measures how much oil the state produces domestically compared to what it needs for its strategic objectives and disruptibility which estimates the susceptibility of a state's oil imports to military interdiction that is blockade Because global markets undercut the effectiveness of oil sanctions blockade is in practice the only true threat to great power oil access That combined with the devastating consequences of oil deprivation to a state's military power explains why states fear oil coercion deeply despite the adaptive functions of the market. Together these two variables predict a state's coercive vulnerability which determines how willing the state will be to accept the costs and risks attendant on various potential strategies. Only those great powers with large deficits and highly disruptible imports will adopt the most extreme strategy direct control of oil through territorial conquest.
