Foretastes of Heaven in Lutheran Church Music Tradition Joyce L. Irwin, 2015-01-16 In the two centuries after Martin Luther's affirmation that music stood second only to theology Lutheran theologians and musicians formulated a theological defense of music that validated this exalted status Against Calvinist rivals and Pietist critics the orthodox Lutheran position further claimed that both instrumental and vocal music were commanded by God Joyce Irwin's earlier work Neither Voice nor Heart Alone German Lutheran Theology of Music in the Age of the Baroque traced this development in Lutheran theological thought In this current work Foretastes of Heavenly Music Johann Mattheson and Christoph Raupach on Music in Time and Eternity Irwin provides translations and commentary for two eighteenth century texts that illuminate the musico theological foundation underlying the work of Lutheran composers such as Bach and Telemann A Truth Lover's Clear Reasonings on Which the Correct Use of Music Rests 1717 by Christoph Raupach with an introduction by Johann Mattheson serves as a cumulative statement of Lutheran advocacy of music Mattheson's Affirmation of Heavenly Music 1747 goes a step further in defending the reality of music in heaven and even the ultimate superiority of music over theology and sermons Irwin's introduction traces the centrality of Mattheson's belief in heavenly music throughout the course of his life even while he was writing works of music theory that earned him a reputation as an Enlightenment thinker Though influenced by Enlightenment philosophy specifically British empiricism he rejected the rationalist philosophies of his German contemporaries and expressed no sympathy for the

Music, Branding and Consumer Culture in Church Tom Wagner, 2019-10-16 Starting as a single congregation in Australia Hillsong Church now has campuses worldwide releases worship music that sells millions of albums and its ministers regularly appear in mainstream media So how has a single church gained such international prominence This book offers an ethnographic exploration of the ways in which music and marketing have been utilised in the pursuit and production of spiritual experience for members of Hillsong Church An experience that has proven to be incredibly popular The main theme of this book is that marketing specifically branding is not just a way to sell religion but rather an integral part of spiritual experience in consumer society Focussing on the London Hillsong church as a case study the use of its own music in tandem with strong branding is shown to be a co and re productive method of organizing patterning and communicating information The church provides the branded material and cultural context in which participants sacred experience of self unfolds However this requires participants to do the work to properly understand and ultimately embody the values associated with the brand This book raises important questions about the role of branding and music in forming modern sacred identities As such it will be of great interest to scholars of Religious Studies Ethnomusicology and Media Studies
