

The Other Cathy

Mrs. Henry Wood

The Other Cathy:

The Resurrectionists Kim Wilkins, 2010-10-07 Young Australian cellist Maisie Fielding is bored with her career and her overpowering manipulative musical family Faking a wrist injury she takes time off to return to England her mother's home country to search for her own roots and to find out more about her grandmother a white witch who settled in a bleak village on the North Yorkshire coast Maisie's mother is set against her going and refuses to tell her daughter anything about the woman other than that even dead she is dangerous On her arrival in Solgreve she receives a hostile welcome from her new neighbours and begins to find clues to her grandmother's mysterious death Amongst the clutter in her grandmother's house is a diary written by a young French woman who eloped with a penniless English poet and settled in the village Through this diary Maisie discovers the existence of an unnatural presence which still preys on the lives of the people of the village past and present This book will appeal to the huge Anne Rice market a gothic romantic horror story with a credible strong and extremely likeable heroine at the heart of it backed by atmospheric descriptions of Yorkshire and a convincing setting in the music world

Animal Visions Susan Mary Pyke, 2019-03-15 Animal Visions considers how literature responds to the harms of anthropocentrism working with Emily Brontë's Wuthering Heights 1847 and various adaptations of this canonistic novel to show how posthumanist dream writing unsettles the privileging of the human species over other species Two feminist and post Freudian responses Kathy Acker's poem Obsession 1992 and Anne Carson's The Glass Essay 1997 most strongly extend Brontë's dream writing in this direction Building on the trope of a ludic Cathy ghost who refuses the containment of logic and reason these and other adaptations offer the gift of a radical peri hysteria This emotional excess is most clearly seen in Kate Bush's music video Wuthering Heights 1978 and Peter Kosminsky's film Wuthering Heights 1992 Such disturbances make space for a moor love that is particularly evident in Jane Urquhart's novel Changing Heaven 1989 and to a lesser extent Sylvia Plath's poem Wuthering Heights 1961 Brontë's Wuthering Heights and its most productive afterings make space for co affective relations between humans and other animal beings Andrea Arnold's film Wuthering Heights 2011 and Luis Buñuel's Abismos de Pasi n 1954 also highlight the rupturing split gaze of non acting animals in their films In all of these works depictions of intra active and entangled responses between animals show the potential for dynamic and generative multispecies relations where the human is one animal amongst the kin of the world
