Rhetoric and the Early Royal Society Tina Skouen, Ryan Stark, 2014-11-27 The Royal Society's establishment in 1660 signaled a new beginning for the rhetoric of science mainly because the organization's founders advocated a modern plain style for scientific communication Rhetoric and the Early Royal Society aims to initiate fresh debates about this watershed event in the history of rhetoric and science In the last twenty years scholars in numerous disciplines have produced significant work ranging from theoretical essays to case studies of founding members such as Wilkins Hooke and Boyle This is the first book to collect in one volume the key contributions The newly written introduction by editors Skouen and Stark places the reprinted essays into perspective by evaluating the Society's pioneering role in shaping modern scholarly communication

Out of Style Paul Butler, 2008-01-31 Paul Butler applauds the emerging interest in the study of style among scholars of rhetoric and composition arguing that the loss of stylistics from composition in recent decades left it alive only in the popular imagination as a set of grammar conventions Butler's goal in Out of Style is to articulate style as a vital and productive source of invention and to redefine its importance for current research theory and pedagogy Scholars in composition know that the ideas about writing most common in the discourse of public intellectuals are egregiously backward Without a vital approach to stylistics Butler argues writing studies will never dislodge the controlling fantasies of self-authorized pundits in the nation's intellectual press Rhetoric and composition must answer with a public discourse that is responsive to readers' ongoing interest in style but is also grounded in composition theory

Rhetorical Traditions and the Teaching of Writing C. H. Knoblauch, Lil Brannon, 1984 The argument of this book is that the earliest tradition of Western rhetoric the classical perspective of Aristotle and Cicero continues to have the greatest impact on writing instruction albeit an unconscious impact This occurs despite the fact that modern rhetoric no longer accepts either the views of mind language and world underlying ancient theory or the concepts about discourse knowledge and communication presented in that theory As a result teachers are depending on ideas as outmoded as they are unreflectively accepted Knoblauch and Brannon maintain that the two traditions are fundamentally incompatible in their assumptions and concepts so that writing teachers must make choices between them if their teaching is to be purposeful and consistent They suggest that the modern tradition offers a richer basis for instruction and they show what teaching from that perspective looks like and how it differs from traditional teaching     The Rhetoric of Nineteenth-century Reform Martha S. Moran, Michelle Ballif, 2000-08-30 Rhetoric and rhetorical theory have been gaining in prominence throughout the 20th century As leaders in all fields give careful attention to issues in communication rhetoric becomes increasingly central to a range of disciplines Many of these leaders have shaped rhetorical theory through their work in other fields and rhetoric becomes more and more difficult to define and delimit This reference is a guide to major trends and developments in rhetoric and rhetorical theory during the last 100 years Included are alphabetically arranged entries for major and minor rhetoricians such as Mikhail Bakhtin Roland Barthes Wayne Booth Paul de Man Jacques Derrida Peter Elbow and Linda Flower Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes a brief biography an analysis of the figure's rhetorical theory and a current bibliography of primary and secondary sources The figures included represent a range of rhetorical schools An extensive introduction discusses these schools and the volume concludes with extensive bibliographical material     The Rhetoric of Radical Feminism Tracey Bernstein Weiss, 1978     Electronic Writing Centers David Coogan, 1999 This book describes the emerging practice of e mail tutoring one to one correspondence between college students and writing tutors conducted over electronic mail It reviews the history of Composition Studies paying special attention to those ways in which writing centers and computers and composition have been previously hailed within a narrative of functional literacy and quick fix solutions The author suggests a new methodology for tutoring and a new mandate for the writing center a strong connection between the rhythms of extended asynchronous writing and dialogic literacy The electronic writing center can become a site for informed resistance to functional literacy     Literary Research, 1986     Talking about Writing Beverly Lyon Clark, 1985     ADE Bulletin Association of Departments of English, 2003     Process and Practice Philip Eggers, 1990
