This collection of essays employs a lyrical and accessible literary style imbued with Boreham's characteristic warmth and philosophical insight. Set against the backdrop of early 20th century thought, the book engages with profound themes of beauty, suffering, and redemption, challenging readers to find meaning in both the mundane and extraordinary aspects of existence. Frank Boreham, a prolific writer and preacher, drew on his diverse experiences from his childhood in Tasmania to his extensive travels and pastoral work in England and Australia. His deep engagement with the human condition, as well as his appreciation for the natural world, informs the poignant narratives in this volume. Boreham's unique perspective as a preacher adds a moral and spiritual dimension to his essays, inviting readers to explore the complexities of faith and life. This book is highly recommended for readers seeking contemplative yet engaging literature that stimulates the intellect and touches the heart. Boreham's reflections resonate with timeless relevance, making Rubble and Roseleaves and Things of That Kind essential for anyone interested in the intricate dance between despair and hope. The Green Chair Nicole M. Slaughter-Graham,2014 The Whispering Molecules Raad Chalabi,2013-07-18 Ramiz Alkhishin, the author's alter ego, is a grocer. He has a passion for a life that is as independent as possible from its surroundings. To him, the trendy place to be in is the one to avoid, while the traditional road to follow is the one to bypass. He has already documented some of his thought adventures in eight earlier books. The author, in his new book The Whispering Molecules, listened to and recorded the whispers of a variety of inert composites. The result of this imaginary project was a series of forty-six stand-alone story dialogues where these seemingly lifeless objects express their human-like observations as they go about undertaking their designated tasks. The author hopes that through these dialectic scenes, the reader can enjoy a trip where absolutes are banned and doubt is a constant companion. When questioned why he dislikes absolutes so much, Ramiz responded by reciting the following dialogue he had overheard: Glass: You seem confused. What happened to you? Water: What do you mean? Glass: You were clear and transparent, but no more so. Water: I paid the price for being nave. Glass: How? Water: By thinking that a drop of ink is too small to affect me. The Mafia Encyclopedia Carl Sifakis,2006 More than 500 alphabetical entries provide information on the people, places, and events associated with the Mafia. Green Collar Jobs Scott M.
