The Pagan Tribes of Borneo Charles Hose,William McDougall,Alfred Cort Haddon,1999-01-01 This Elibron Classics title is a reprint of the original edition published by Macmillan and Co Limited in London 1912 This book contains color illustrations   The Pagan Tribes of Borneo William McDougall,2017-05-14 The Pagan Tribes of Borneo By Charles Hose and William McDougall    The Pagan Tribes of Borneo Charles Hose,William McDougall,1993 The Kayans believe themselves to be surrounded by many intelligent powers capable of influencing their welfare for good or ill Some of these are embodied in animals or plants or are closely connected with other natural objects such as mountains rocks rivers caves or manifest themselves in such processes as thunder storm and disease the growth of the crops and disasters of various kinds

The Pagan Tribes of Borneo Charles Hose,William McDougall,1966    The Pagan Tribes of Borneo William McDougall,2015-05-10 The Pagan Tribes of Borneo from William McDougall English psychologist 1871 1938    The Pagan Tribes of Borneo Charles Hose,William McDougall,1993    The Pagan Tribes of Borneo Charles Hose and William,2016-02-28 Notice This Book is published by Historical Books Limited www publicdomain org uk as a Public Domain Book if you have any inquiries requests or need any help you can just send an email to publications publicdomain org uk This book is found as a public domain and free book based on various online catalogs if you think there are any problems regard copyright issues please contact us immediately via DMCA publicdomain org uk    The Pagan Tribes of Borneo Charles Hose,William McDougall,2013-11 In writing this book we have aimed at presenting a clear picture of the pagan tribes of Borneo as they existed at the close of the nineteenth century We have not attempted to embody in it the observations recorded by other writers although we have profited by them and have been guided and aided by them in making our own observations We have rather been content to put on record as much information as we have been able to obtain at first hand both by direct observation of the people and of their possessions customs and manners and by means of innumerable conversations with men and women of many tribes    The Pagan Tribes of Borneo William McDougall,Charles Hose,2020-06-30 Borneo is one of the largest islands of the world Its area is roughly 290 000 square miles or about five times that of England and Wales Its greatest length from north east to south west is 830 miles and its greatest breadth is about 600 miles It is crossed by the equator a little below its centre so that about two thirds of its area lie in the northern and one third lies in the southern hemisphere Although surrounded on all sides by islands of volcanic origin Borneo differs from them in presenting but small traces of volcanic activity and in consisting of ancient masses of igneous rock and of sedimentary strata The highest mountain is Kinabalu an isolated mass of granite in the extreme north nearly 14 000 feet in height With this exception the principal mountains are grouped in several massive chains which rise here and there to peaks about 10 000 feet above the sea The principal of these chains the Tibang Iran range runs south westward through the midst of the northern half of the island and is prolonged south of the equator by the Schwaner chain This median south westerly trending

range forms the backbone of the island A second much broken chain runs across the island from east to west about 1 degree north of the equator Besides these two principal mountain chains which determine the main features of the river system there are several isolated peaks of considerable height and a minor ridge of hills runs from the centre towards the south cast corner With the exception of the northern extremity which geographically as well as politically stands apart from the rest of the island the whole of Borneo may be described as divided by the two principal mountain chains into four large watersheds Of these the north western basin the territory of Sarawak is drained by the Rejang and Baram as well as by numerous smaller rivers Of the other three which constitute Dutch Borneo the north eastern is drained by the Batang Kayan or Balungan river the south eastern by the Kotei and Banjermasin rivers and the south western by the Kapuas the largest of all the rivers whose course from the centre of the island to its south west corner is estimated at 700 miles Although the point of intersection of the two principal mountain chains lies almost exactly midway between the northern and southern and the eastern and western extremities of the island the greater width of the southern half of the island gives a longer course to the rivers of that part in spite of the fact that all the six principal rivers mentioned above have their sources not far from this central point The principal rivers thus radiate from a common centre the Batang Kayan flowing east north east the Kotei south east by east the Banjermasin south the Kapuas a little south of west the Rejang west and the Baram north west This radiation of the rivers from a common centre is a fact of great importance for the understanding of the ethnography of the island since the rivers are the great highways which movements of the population chiefly follow In almost all parts of the island the land adjoining the coast is a low lying swampy belt consisting of the alluvium brought down by the many rivers from the central highlands This belt of alluvium extends inland in many parts for fifty miles or more and is especially extensive in the south and south east of the island
