The Paradox Of Self Consciousness:

The Paradox of Self-consciousness José Luis Bermúdez, 2000 In this book Jos Luis Berm dez addresses two fundamental problems in the philosophy and psychology of self consciousness 1 Can we provide a noncircular account of fully fledged self conscious thought and language in terms of more fundamental capacities 2 Can we explain how fully fledged self conscious thought and language can arise in the normal course of human development Berm dez argues that a paradox the paradox of self consciousness arises from the apparent strict interdependence between self conscious thought and linguistic self reference The paradox renders circular all theories that define self consciousness in terms of linguistic mastery of the first person pronoun It seems to follow from the paradox of self consciousness that no such account or explanation can be given Drawing on recent work in empirical psychology and philosophy the author argues that any explanation of fully fledged self consciousness that answers these two questions requires attention to primitive forms of self consciousness that are prelinguistic and preconceptual Such primitive forms of self consciousness are to be found in somatic proprioception the structure of exteroceptive perception and prelinguistic forms of social interaction The author uses these primitive forms of self consciousness to dissolve the paradox of self consciousness and to show how the two questions can be given an affirmative answer

Hegel's Phenomenology of Self-Consciousness Leo Rauch, David Sherman, 1999-05-27 Offering a new translation of the famous chapter IV Self Consciousness of Phenomenology of Spirit this book reflects the far reaching insights of contemporary Hegelian scholarship Included is extensive commentary as well as a review of its reception by such important twentieth century thinkers as Kojève Heidegger Sartre Gadamer Bataille Deleuze Lacan and Habermas Interest in Hegel has historically centered around the Phenomenology of Spirit In particular chapter IV including Hegel's celebrated master slave dialectic has influenced philosophers political theorists social psychologists cultural anthropologists and literary theorists alike Hegel began this chapter with an influential discussion of the nature of human desire and then described a hypothetical encounter between two pre social human beings who engage in a life and death struggle for recognition Out of this struggle that gave rise to self identity emerged such forms of consciousness as master and slave stoicism skepticism and what Hegel referred to as the unhappy consciousness which he took to be paradigmatic of early Christianity These forms of consciousness in turn are transcended by other more comprehensive forms of consciousness that ultimately come to reflect the highest elaborations of societal life The impetus for these dynamic changes comes from the dialectical contradictions that inhere within our most basic conceptions of personhood

The Bodily Self Jose Luis Bermudez, 2018-02-23 Essays on the role of the body in self consciousness showing that full fledged linguistic self consciousness is built on a rich foundation of primitive nonconceptual self consciousness These essays explore how the rich and sophisticated forms of self consciousness with which we are most familiar as philosophers psychologists and as ordinary reflective individuals depend on a complex underpinning that has been largely invisible to students of the self and self consciousness Jos Luis Berm dez extending the insights of his groundbreaking 1998 book The Paradox of Self Consciousness argues that full fledged linguistic self consciousness is built on a rich foundation of primitive nonconceptual self consciousness and that these more primitive forms of self consciousness persist in ways that frame self conscious thought They extend throughout the animal kingdom and some are present in newborn human infants Berm dez makes the case that these primitive forms of self awareness can indeed be described as forms of self consciousness arguing that they share certain structural and epistemological features with full fledged linguistic self consciousness He offers accounts of certain important classes of states of nonconceptual content including the self specifying dimension of visual perception and the content of bodily awareness considering how they represent the self And he explores the general role of nonconceptual self consciousness in our cognitive and affective lives examining in several essays the relation between nonconceptual awareness of our bodies and what has been called our sense of ownership for our own bodies

The Mottoes and Commentaries of Friedrich Froebel's Mother Play Friedrich Fröbel, 1899 The Spirit of Modern Philosophy Josiah Royce, 1892 Volume 2, Tome I: Kierkegaard and the Greek World - Socrates and Plato Katalin Nun, 2016-12-05 The articles in this volume employ source work research to trace Kierkegaard's understanding and use of authors from the Greek tradition A series of figures of varying importance in Kierkegaard's authorship are treated ranging from early Greek poets to late Classical philosophical schools In general it can be said that the Greeks collectively constitute one of the single most important body of sources for Kierkegaard's thought He studied Greek from an early age and was profoundly inspired by what might be called the Greek spirit Although he is generally considered a Christian thinker he was nonetheless consistently drawn back to the Greeks for ideas and impulses on any number of topics He frequently contrasts ancient Greek philosophy with its emphasis on the lived experience of the individual in daily life with the abstract German philosophy that was in vogue during his own time It has been argued that he modeled his work on that of the ancient Greek thinkers specifically in order to contrast his own activity with that of his contemporaries

The Phoenix of Philosophy Mikhail Epstein, 2019-06-27 This groundbreaking work by one of the world's foremost theoreticians of Russian literature culture and thought gives for the first time an extensive and detailed examination of the development of Russian thought during the late Soviet period Countering the traditional view of an intellectual wilderness under the Soviet regime Mikhail Epstein offers a systematic account of Russian thought in the second half of the 20th century In doing so he provides new insights into previously ignored areas such as Russian liberalism personalism structuralism neo rationalism and culturology Epstein shows how Russian philosophy and culture has long been trapped in an intellectual prison of its own making as it sought to create its own utopia However he demonstrates that it is time to reappraise Russian philosophical thought and cultural theory now freed from the bonds of totalitarianism We are left with not only a new and exciting interpretation of Russian thought but also an opportunity to rethink our own intellectual heritage

through material engagement theory redefining what it means to be human in a constantly changing world The making of human consciousness and the question of self becoming presents a remarkable complication along the continuum of sentient matter Self consciousness is an oddity that both unites humans with and differentiates them from other modes of conscious existence Lambros Malafouris s evocative proposal is that people are STRANGE which stands for the process of Situated TRANsactional Genesis by which self becoming is realized at the intersection of mind and matter This book breaks new ground by applying material engagement theory expertly to questions about self location the subject object division and the nature of self boundaries Malafouris argues that self bounding the process by which human ways of being are assembled owned or else bound to form what we call self or person is rarely confined to a singular body Our boundaries shift in response to the changing material environments and our modes of creative material engagement Moreover it is the bounding of consciousness that allows the unbounding of human thought and imagination Self bounding is the precondition for a borderless mind Self bound is thought unbound The theoretical upshot is that rather than conceiving of self consciousness as internal and ontological distinct from the material world we must approach it as a continuous process fundamentally codependent with it
