

The Land Grant System

- Federal government gave land to railroad companies alongside their rail lines to encourage development
- Railroads sold this land to settlers to raise the capital needed to build the railroad
- Over 120 million acres of public lands were given to rail companies in mid-1800s

The Grant System:

The Grant System John W. Kalas, 1987-10-01 In the past thirty years the giving and receiving of grants has grown from a small loosely organized club involving a few elite institutions and a few million dollars to a massive system accounting for more than 75 billion in annual expenditures and involving literally thousands of public and private organizations This growth has resulted in the formation of a major social and economic system with its own rules and network of institutional relationships This book analyzes the grant system in its entirety its history scope social and economic impact importance and future This broad approach serves as a good introduction to the grant system for those who are not familiar with it and provides a new fresh perspective for those who know some aspects of it well The Grant System John W.
