The Passion Of Perpetua:

The Passion of Perpetua Mia Donato, Carolyn Engargiola, Eli Gendreau-Distler, Elizabeth Hasapis, Thomas Hendrickson, Jacob Nguyen, Siddharth Pant, Shamika Podila, Anna Riordan, Oliver Thompson, 2021-05-19 Perpetua was a young African woman who fell in with an obscure religious sect that must have seemed to outsiders like a kind of death cult. She was arrested around 203 CE along with several other practitioners on unspecified charges. Given the opportunity to renounce the group and walk free, Perpetua chose execution in the arena. Perpetua was a Christian. The Passi an account of her death includes Perpetua's prison diary in which the already radicalized woman describes her progressive alienation from her family. Perpetua was a prophet and a leader in her sect and her narrative describes a series of visions: a ladder rigged with lacerating blades and tearing hooks, the torment of a family member and a final climactic vision in which she becomes a man and fights hand to hand against the devil. Transgressive, radical and determined to face down a violent death, Perpetua is a formidable figure. This edition aims to enable intermediate level students of Latin to read the text in its original language. A substantial introduction provides background on the woman, her text and her times. The Latin text includes a running glossary and grammatical commentary on every page.

Passio SS. Perpetuae Et Felicitatis Engl Thomas J. Heffernan, 2012-06-18 One of the most widely read and studied texts composed in Late Antiquity is the prison diary of Vibia Perpetua, a young woman of the elite classes who was martyred in March of the year 202 or 203 CE in Carthage as part of a civic celebration honoring Caesar Geta. She was well married and had recently become the mother of a baby son but despite her advantages she refused to recant her faith when she was arrested with other recent converts to Christianity. Imprisoned with her was her pregnant slave Felicity. Perpetua's steadfastness in her belief led to her martyrdom in the amphitheater. A description of the heroic deaths of both women and the autobiography of one of the leaders of the Christian community, Saturus, is woven into Perpetua's diary by an anonymous editor who tells us that as they died, Perpetua, Felicity and the other condemned Christians bid farewell with a kiss of peace. This unique and precious text survives in one Greek and in nine Latin manuscript versions. Thomas Heffernan's new study contains much that has never been done before, including a prosopography of all the individuals mentioned in the Passion, a new English translation and the first detailed historical commentary in English on the entire narrative of the Passion. It also includes a newly edited version of the Latin text based on all the extant manuscripts and, rarer still, the Greek text. He concludes the book with a complete codicological description of all of the known manuscripts and thorough scholarly indices of the text itself. Perpetua's prison diary is a revered text of early Christianity and Heffernan's new translation and commentary brings unprecedented scholarly resources to the much loved Passion.

The Passion of Perpetua and Felicitas in Late Antiquity, 2021-03-10 This volume gathers all available evidence for the martyrdoms of Perpetua and Felicitas, two Christian women who became revered throughout the Roman world. Whereas they are now known primarily through a popular third century account, numerous lesser known texts attest to the profound place they held in the lives of Christians in late antiquity. This book brings together narratives in their original languages with accompanying English translations including many related entries from calendars, martyrologies, sacramentaries and chronicles as well as artistic representations and inscriptions. As a whole the collection offers readers a robust view of the veneration of Perpetua and Felicitas over the course of six centuries examining the diverse ways that a third century Latin tradition was appreciated, appropriated and transformed as it circulated throughout the late antique world.

Perpetua of Carthage William Farina, 2014-11-21 This is a study of the life and times of Saint Perpetua, Saint Felicity and their companions all martyred at Carthage in A.D. 203. Unlike most early Christian saints whose lives are often shrouded in legend and myth, Perpetua left an authentic prison diary later completed by an anonymous eyewitness to her execution that is now considered a classic of Christian Latin and feminist literature. Perpetua was also unusual in that she was wealthy, educated, married and a young mother. The book includes the first English translations of French archaeological scholarship covering the discovery of the martyrs' tombs.

The Passion of Perpetua Saint Perpetua, 1890 The Passion Narratives of Saints Perpetua, Felicity, and Their Fellow Martyrs Nancy Enright, Francis J. Hunter, 2024-07-17 The Passion Narratives of Saints Perpetua, Felicity, and Their Fellow Martyrs presents a critical translation of three hagiographical masterpieces of late antiquity and a series of accompanying essays. The translation by Francis J. Hunter includes the two Acta Brevia narratives as companion texts and supplements to the Passio Sanctorum proper. The interdisciplinary essays feature input from scholars in the fields of literature, theology, psychology, and classics who each illustrate the dynamic and rich nature of the text. Each chapter of the book is written to teach rather than critique the text for students or readers who wish to learn about Perpetua and Felicity, early Christianity, or the Roman empire and its relationship with the emergent Christian religion.

Perpetua's Passions Jan N. Bremmer, Marco Formisano, 2012-02-09 Perpetua's Passions is a collection of studies about Perpetua, a young female Christian martyr who was executed in 203 AD. Like her spiritual guide, Saturus, Perpetua left a diary and a few years after their deaths a fellow Christian collected these writings and supplied them with an introduction and epilogue, the so-called Passion of Perpetua. The result is one of the most fascinating and enigmatic works of antiquity which the present volume examines from a wide range of perspectives: literary, narratological, historical, religious, psychological, and philosophical viewpoints follow upon a newly edited text and English translation by Joseph Farrell and Craig Williams. This innovative treatment by a number of distinguished scholars not only complements its unique subject but constitutes a kind of laboratory of new approaches to ancient texts.
