Tacita Dean:

Tacita Dean George Baker, Annie Rana, 2025-05-20 A highly anticipated and richly illustrated anthology of essays on the work of artist Tacita Dean. This volume explores the deeply influential work of Tacita Dean, recognized increasingly as one of the key artists of our times. Emerging initially as part of the generation of the so-called Young British Artists in the 1990s, Dean has reinvented the manner in which artists use analogue mediums such as drawing, photography and film, prompting major questions in her work around the issues of time, memory and history. Dean's films embrace long takes that achieve a near photographic stillness, they have been dedicated to obsolescent objects or stranded buildings, failed quests and extraordinary figures, usually other artists and writers, nearing the end of their lives. But Dean's contemplative films have been rigorously reinvented as a form over the course of her career and linked to a widening series of projects involving writing, chalk drawings, found photographs, dance and theater. This anthology explores the artist's expansive practice, gathering essays and interviews by authors from an array of disciplines, including art criticism, philosophy, literature and film. Spanning twenty-five years of the artist's career, the volume includes writings by George Baker, Douglas Crimp, Brian Dillon, Briony Fer, Hal Foster, Mark Godfrey, Louise Hornby, Rosalind Krauss, Elisabeth Lebovici, Jean Luc Nancy, Tamara Trodd, Marina Warner, Peter Wollen and the artist herself.

Tacita Dean Rina Carvajal, 2007 This publication, published on the occasion of her exhibition at Miami Art Central, presents a survey of some of Tacita Dean's most compelling film works, dating from the 1990s to the present.

Tacita Dean: Footage Tacita Dean, 2011 Seven Books Grey is an updated, expanded version of Tacita Dean's Seven Books (2003) and is an exploration of Dean's oeuvre as it straddles film, drawing, photography, writing and book making. Each book has a different focus and together they are an accurate survey of Dean's work to date.

Tacita Dean Tacita Dean, Lynne Cooke, 2010 In The Friar's Doodle (2010) Dean has used a rostrum camera so that the film is comprised of pans as opposed to the static shots which were formerly a hallmark of her work. Cut on the movement, this material has been edited to follow closely the drawing's intricate, meandering profiles. At no point does the camera pull back to reveal the elaborate composition in its totality. Seen cumulatively as it were in fragments over time, the surrealistic composition can be known fully only in the mind's eye. Dean's refractory manner of revealing the original image serves metaphorically to underline the protracted processes of discovery required to decipher the bigger picture inscribed in Silos's fabric. For the carved and etched subjects in the photographic inventory which Dean shot during her second visit to Silos offer a sometimes indecipherable, often fractured record that undermines any presumption that history might be singular, solid and sealed. This archive becomes a visual analogue of day dreams, musings and flights of fantasy that, while fixed in the past, is nonetheless familiar and accessible, kin to our own everyday speculative forays that drift outside time with no discernible endings. While The Friar's Doodle similarly attests to the persistence of intuitive impulses that drive us to position ourselves within the lexical discourses of history, it also invites reflection on the interpretative mechanisms we deploy to understand the world around us. The film's title, The Friar's Doodle, refers to the artist's use of a rostrum camera, which allows for continuous movement, as opposed to the static shots which were formerly a hallmark of her work.
