Tackling Unemployment:

Tackling Unemployment Richard Layard, 1999-04-12 Richard Layard is one of Britain's foremost applied economists whose work has had a profound impact on the policy debate in Britain and abroad. This book contains his most influential articles on the subject of unemployment. It is published along with a companion volume Inequality which deals with these topics and with economic transition. Unemployment explains what causes unemployment and proposes remedies to reduce it. There is a strong focus on how unemployed people are treated and how this affects unemployment including Layard's well known recommendation of a job guarantee for long term unemployed people. Other key topics covered are the effect of unions and wage bargaining, the effect of low skill and the possible role of rigid employment laws. The book opens with Richard Layard's personal credo Why I became an Economist. Combating Long-Term Unemployment Kenneth Dyson, 2023-10-20 First published in 1989 Combating Long Term Unemployment follows on from and is a companion to Local Authorities and New Technologies. The book seeks to inform debate by analysing policy responses to the problem of long term unemployment and by focusing on the role of local initiatives in a European context. Long term unemployment in Europe is a complicated and multifaceted problem, the policy responses to which need to be studied against various contexts. It is designed to appeal to all those interested in policies to combat long term unemployment: local and central government officials, private sector organizations whose work is relevant to locally based initiatives and interested academics.

Tackling Youth Unemployment in Europe Amparo Serrano Pascual, 2000. Comprises ten papers grouped under two themes: European strategies to fight youth unemployment; a comparative analysis and critical assessment and National Action Plans: trends and challenges. Tackling Youth Unemployment in the Regions and Districts, 2005. Poverty Briefings 1-17, The Role of Community Development in Tackling Poverty Combat Poverty Agency, 2000. Combat Poverty Agency Annual Report 1996, Tackling Unemployment, 1999. Tackling Youth Unemployment Francesca Fazio, Anthony Forsyth, 2014-03-17 Youth have always had higher unemployment rates, about twice or more than the average, as they are usually the last to be hired in an expansion and the first to be let go in a recession. In addition, young people engage in extensive job searching in their early years and this can imply considerable job churning as both youth and employers look for a good match. This highlights the importance of facilitating the school to work transition and having early interventions to assist such youth before negative conditions set in. It also highlights the potential importance of determining those young people most at risk of long term unemployment and of targeting or streaming them into programmes that will yield the largest incremental net benefits given their characteristics. Unemployed youth without previous work experience often are not eligible for unemployment insurance benefits when they first enter the labour market. When they do receive job search assistance they often face a bewildering array of programmes that are available to assist them, often with little guidance to help them select the programs that best meet their needs. Consequently, ensuring that today's youth do not become a lost generation is an urgent matter George Bernard Shaw once said that it is too bad that youth is wasted on the young implying that youth do not realize the opportunities they have as youth and only see them as they get older There is a danger however that many of today s youth may be never have those opportunities and hence not even see them with hindsight This book and others in the ADAPT Labour Studies Book Series are intended to deal with these challenges to make sure that youth is not wasted on the young

Struggle in a Time of Crisis Nicolas Pons-Vignon,Mbuso Nkosi,2015-05-20 This is a collection of essays by an array of contributors from the Global Labour Column which highlights and examines class struggle as the core of resistance against capitalism today It provides insights into the dynamics of neoliberalism and its persistence and stimulates debates about the continued impact of the economic crisis focusing on labour as both a victim and a crucial social force which can push for an alternative Examples of the subjects it covers include the Indonesian Sportswear Industry Chinese construction companies in Africa mining in South Africa job quality in Europe globalised T shirt economics and the marketisation and securitisation of UK international aid amongst many others The Global Labour Column managed by the Corporate Strategy and Industrial Development research programme at the University of the Witwatersrand South Africa is part of the Global Labour University

How to Tackle Unemployment David Lloyd George, Benjamin Seebohm Rowntree, 1930 Fight Unemployment Through Production Maurice Bishop, 1983 The New Unemployed Frank Gaffikin, Mike Morrissey, 1992 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1929 Fighting Unemployment David R. Howell, 2004-12-02 With much of Europe plagued by high levels of unemployment it has become widely accepted that the culprit is labor market rigidity and that the prescription can only be labor market deregulation lower wages higher earnings inequality greater decentralization in bargaining less generous unemployment benefits more hiring flexibility and less job security Fighting Unemployment critically assesses this free market orthodoxy With cross country statistical analyses and country case studies leading economists from seven North American and European countries contend that this conventional wisdom has greatly exaggerated the extent to which the unemployment problem can be blamed on protective labor market institutions and that the case for dismantling the welfare state to fight unemployment rests more on free market ideology than on the empirical evidence The larger message of this book is that fundamentally different labor market models ranging from the American Model to the much more regulated and coordinated Scandinavian systems are compatible with low unemployment The Labour Monthly, 1922 Includes section Book reviews
