Tactical Exercise 1st Edition:

Handbook of Disaster and Emergency Management. First Edition Amir Khorram-Manesh,2017-10-10 We propose here a comprehensive educational program based on the best available evidence to date drawn from recent publications intended to impart the knowledge skills and abilities necessary for the role of crisis manager We expect this program to enhance the intercultural and interagency performance across the Disaster Management DM cycle Here Intercultural does not refer to different nations and cultural backgrounds but rather to working cultures within diverse agencies Since communication and information shortcomings are the most common reason for failed DM this educational program focuses heavily on collaboration and interoperability between trained professionals involved in disaster response to ensure that they understand the need for collaboration and are aware of each other s limitations and possibilities The aim of programs such as this is not to re educate people in respect to their profession area of expertise but rather to train them in elements specific to DM and ways in which they can apply their existing knowledge and professional expertise in the disaster context Such multidisciplinary programs cover all disaster phases accommodate the needs of each organization and offer a safe environment where participants are able to learn by doing in an interactive environment vertically within their own organization and horizontally together with other organizations by focusing on shared training cooperation and intercultural understanding Such programs bring some degree of standardization and offer a thorough evaluation of participants and the program by using evidence based scientific methods One important part of the program is to offer a standardized handbook in which all necessary information is gathered This is not intended as a substitute for reference books but it is intended to make the information accessible and easy to learn so that the information can be combined with the practical parts of the education Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Team Sports: Contextualizing Training and Competition Demands Miguel-Angel Gomez-Ruano,Pierpaolo Sansone,Vincenzo Rago,2024-12-04 Team sports performance is determined by the complex non linear interaction of several factors including physical and physiological aspects technical tactical constraints mental demands perceptual and emotional aspects and contextual and environmental factors. The influence of each of these aspects has been previously investigated. However, studies have often employed monodimensional perspectives looking at one or only a few different domains concurrently. In football and rugby, extensive efforts have been produced to contextualize the demands of training and competition based on players' characteristics, tactical constraints and contextual factors. This information facilitates coaches in selecting the most appropriate training and competition strategies based on a number of different factors including the team and the opponents' characteristics, technical/tactical abilities, fitness status and considering contextual factors. Differently, there is a lack of information on contextualized competition demands in other team sports such as basketball, handball, futsal and volleyball. Furthermore, the mental demands and psychological and emotional implications of team sports have received little or monodimensional attention, limiting the applicability of findings in real life scenarios where a multitude of factors belonging to different disciplines (e.g. physiology, psychology, training science, social sciences) need to be taken into account.
