Tactical Display for Soldiers National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Human-Systems Integration, Panel on Human Factors in the Design of Tactical Display Systems for the Individual Soldier, 1997-01-17 This book examines the human factors issues associated with the development testing and implementation of helmet mounted display technology in the 21st Century Land Warrior System Because the framework of analysis is soldier performance with the system in the full range of environments and missions the book discusses both the military context and the characteristics of the infantry soldiers who will use the system The major issues covered include the positive and negative effects of such a display on the local and global situation awareness of the individual soldier an analysis of the visual and psychomotor factors associated with each design feature design considerations for auditory displays and physical sources of stress and the implications of the display for affecting the soldier's workload The book proposes an innovative approach to research and testing based on a three stage strategy that begins in the laboratory moves to controlled field studies and culminates in operational testing

Interfaces for Ground and Air Military Robots National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences, Committee on Human Factors, Planning Committee for the Workshop on Scalable Interfaces for Air and Ground Military Robots, 2005-04-21 In the early years of robotics and automated vehicles the fight was against nature and not against a manifestly intelligent opponent In military environments however where prediction and anticipation are complicated by the existence of an intelligent adversary it is essential to retain human operators in the control loop Future combat systems will require operators to control and monitor aerial and ground robotic systems and to act as part of larger teams coordinating diverse robotic systems over multiple echelons The National Research Council organized a workshop to identify the most important human related research and design issues from both the engineering and human factors perspectives and develop a list of fruitful research directions Interfaces for Ground and Air Military Robots summarizes the presentations and discussions from this workshop New and Forthcoming Books National Academy Press (U.S.), 1993

International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors Waldemar Karwowski, 2001 International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors - 3 Volume Set Informa Healthcare, Waldemar Karwowski, 2006-03-15 The previous edition of the International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors made history as the first unified source of reliable information drawn from many realms of science and technology and created specifically with ergonomics professionals in mind It was also a winner of the Best Reference Award 2002 from the Engineering Libraries

Human Factors in the Design of Tactical Display Systems for the Individual Soldier, 1995 International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors, Second Edition - 3 Volume Set Waldemar Karwowski, 2006-03-15 The previous edition of the International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors made history as the first unified source of reliable information drawn from many realms of science and technology and created specifically with ergonomics professionals in mind It was also a winner of the Best Reference Award 2002 from the Engineering Libraries Division American Society of Engineering Education USA and the Outstanding Academic Title 2002 from Choice Magazine Not content to rest on his laurels human factors and ergonomics expert Professor Waldemar Karwowski has overhauled his standard setting resource incorporating coverage of tried and true methods fundamental principles and major paradigm shifts in philosophy thought and design Demonstrating the truly interdisciplinary nature of this field these changes make the second edition even more comprehensive more informative more in a word encyclopedic Keeping the format popularized by the first edition the new edition has been completely revised and updated Divided into 13 sections and organized alphabetically within each section the entries provide a clear and simple outline of the topics as well as precise and practical information The book reviews applications tools and innovative concepts related to ergonomic research Technical terms are defined where possible within entries as well as in a glossary Students and professionals will find this format invaluable whether they have ergonomics engineering computing or psychology backgrounds Experts and researchers will also find it an excellent source of information on areas beyond the range of their direct interests

Interoperable Electronic Safety Equipment Casey C Grant, 2013-07-18 Firefighters and other emergency first responders use a huge variety of highly specialized and critical technologies for personal protection These technologies ranging from GPS to environmental sensing to communication devices often run on different systems with separate power supplies and operating platforms How these technological components function in a single synergistic system is of critical interest to firefighter end users seeking efficient tools Interoperable ESE states that a standardized platform for electronic safety equipment ESE is both logical and essential This book develops an inventory of existing and emerging electronic equipment categorized by key areas of interest to the fire service documents equipment performance requirements relevant to interoperability including communications and power requirements and develops an action plan toward the development of requirements to meet the needs of emergency responders This book is intended for practitioners as a tool for understanding interoperability concepts and the requirements of the fire service landscape It offers clear recommendations for the future to help ensure efficiency and safety with fire protection equipment Researchers working in a related field will also find the book valuable Military Life Thomas W. Britt, Carl Andrew Castro, Amy B. Adler, 2005-12-30 With global commitments and combat duty our armed forces face life threatening challenges on a daily basis However less visible threats also impact the mental health of our military men and women Experts examine challenges on the battlefield such as women coming to terms with life after being prisoners of war or soldiers dealing with mistakenly killing civilians But life in the armed forces presents less dramatic daily challenges Away from the front lines soldiers have to raise their families sometimes as single parents Children have to learn what it's like to be in a military family and to make sense of war Gay or lesbian officers cope with a don't ask don't tell policy An unprecedented range of contributors military officers medical doctors psychologists psychiatrists and professors take us onto the bases and the battlefields and inside the minds of military personnel who face far greater challenges than most of us ever see in the headlines These volumes also highlight factors that make members of the military resilient and stable as well as programs and practices that can ease the psychological burdens of military personnel families and children Readers can better understand how society views our military and military operations and how each one of us can play a role in supporting our armed forces Representing Human Behavior in Military Simulations National Research Council, National Research Council (U.S.). Panel on Modeling Human Behavior and Command Decision Making: Representations for Military Simulations, Board on Human-Systems Integration, 1997

Head-mounted Displays and New Technologies for Firefighting and Rescue in a Post 9/11 World Joel Charles Wilson, 2007 Discusses eight prototypes of the head mounted display HMD a technology that can give critical information especially regarding navigation in buildings in a hands free manner Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1985-04

Interface Technology Janet M. Noyes, Malcolm James Cook, 1999 In the context of human machine interactions the interface is the point of contact between the human and the system and is in this sense of primary importance to the user Computers and other advanced technologies have developed over the last two decades and the nature and quality of the interface are critical to facilitate successful transactions This book considers developments in advanced technologies at the user interface It also concerns the evaluation of interface designs and considers techniques that are used to assess performance and quality of the human machine interactions Proceedings of the 4th Asia Pacific Conference on Computer Human Interaction (APCHI 2000) and 6th S.E. Asian Ergonomics Society Conference (ASEAN Ergonomics 2000) K.Y. Lim, 2000-11-16 In the next millennium it is anticipated that human factors issues will take centre stage in initiatives targeted at enhancing economic competitiveness and productivity This development is already discernible in nascent knowledge and digital based industries and economies which are expected to emerge in force in the near future and continue to dominate thereafter These developments will establish irreversibly the emerging global economy The theme of the APCHI 2000 conference is Towards a seamless integration of collaborative human computer systems to reflect the already discernible shift in focus of human computer interaction HCI whilst the theme of the ASEAN Ergonomics 2000 conference is From user centeredness to people centeredness to reflect the imminent shift in focus that is required of human factors The papers in these proceedings provide a good contrast of human factors contributions to both old and new economies that make up ASEAN and APEC They highlight the diverse roles human factors can play in advancing the quality of life in developed developing and third world nations They also serve as a guide to human factors practitioners in old economies on what to expect as their economies develop News Report ,1997 Mixed Reality Yuichi Ohta, Hideyuki Tamura, 1999 Spatial Information Theory ,2003 Augmented Cognition Dylan D. Schmorow, Dennis McBride, 2004-06-30 This special issue provides a sample of research that comprises the foundation of the emergent field of augmented cognition inspired fundamentally from the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency program Taken together the contributions impart a sense of progress and constitute a first look at achievements from this very ambitious program of research in augmented cognition In addition they convey results that range from improved instrumentation and methodology to demonstrations of enhanced performance under experimentally manipulated conditions      Information Assimilation from Alpha-numeric Displays--amount and Density of Information Presented ,1964* In a laboratory study of information assimilation under simulated command information processing system procedures 30 subjects were required to extract specific items of information from a series of slide projected displays Speed search time and accuracy of information assimilation were analyzed to determine whether they were affected by amount of information number of lines in a slide density ratio of letter height to space between lines position of pertinent information on the slide and complexity number of columns to be searched While accuracy was high under all conditions of search there were significant increases in search time as a function of changes in display characteristics increase from 10 to 25 lines of information pertinent information placed near bottom of the slide increase in number of columns to be searched However search time for high density of information was slightly shorter than for medium and low densities Author      Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004
