Taiwan's Modernization in Global Perspective Peter C. Chow,2002-10-30 In five decades Taiwan has shifted from an authoritarian regime to a multi party democracy has moved steadily toward modernization and has become an economically affluent socially pluralistic society Its experience provides valuable lessons for developing countries This book offers a critical assessment of Taiwan s path to modernization focusing particularly on developments of constitutional democracy and the rule of law democratic transition and consolidation internationalization and globalization and social developments From its market economy to its democratization Taiwan provides a valuable case study On social developments it provides a unique model of demographic transition rising women s social status and the emergence of the nuclear family In eighteen chapters written by prominent scholars this book examines the multiple aspects of Taiwan s modernization in a global perspective

Chinese Modernity and Global Biopolitics Sheldon H. Lu,2007-05-31 This ambitious work is a multimedia interdisciplinary study of Chinese modernity in the context of globalization from the late nineteenth century to the present Sheldon Lu draws on Chinese literature film art photography and video to broadly map the emergence of modern China in relation to the capitalist world system in the economic social and political realms Central to his study is the investigation of biopower and body politics namely the experience of globalization on a personal level Lu first outlines the trajectory of the body in modern Chinese literature by focusing on the adventures pleasures and sufferings of the male and female body in the writings of selected authors He then turns to avant garde and performance art tackling the physical self more directly through a consideration of work that takes the body as its very theme material and medium In an exploration of mass visual culture Lu analyzes artistic reactions to the multiple uneven effects of globalization and modernization on both the physical landscape of China and the interior psyche of its citizens This is followed by an inquiry into contemporary Chinese urban space in popular cinema and experimental photography and art Examples are offered that capture the daily lives of contemporary Chinese as they struggle to make the transition from the vanishing space of the socialist lifestyle to the new capitalist economy of commodities Lu reexamines the history and implications of China's belated integration into the capitalist world system before closing with a postscript that traces the genealogy of the term postsocialism and points to the real relevance of the idea for the investigation of everyday life in China in the twenty first century Situating Sexualities Fran Martin,2003-05-01 This is the first book in English to analyse the stunning rise to prominence of cultures of dissident sexuality in Taiwan during the 1990s Positioned at the crossroads of queer theory and postcolonial cultural studies this book intervenes in current debates on sexuality and globalization to argue that the current emergence of public dissident sexualities in non Western locations like Taiwan cannot be reduced to the effects of homogenizing Westernization Instead Situating Sexualities approaches the queer sexualities represented in recent Taiwanese fiction film and public culture as dynamic formations that combine local knowledge with globalizing discourses on gay and lesbian identity to produce sexualities that are multiple shifting and inherently hybrid Equally the book pushes out the limits of queer to challenge the Eurocentrism of much queer theory to date Consistently critical of essentializing accounts of Chinese culture the book nevertheless highlights some of the important ways in which Taiwanese formations of dissident sexuality differ from the familiar Euro American formations Building a Democratic State in Modernizing Taiwan Wenhui Cai,George P. Chen,2001

Documenting Taiwan on Film Sylvia Li-chun Lin,Tze-lan Deborah Sang,2012-03-12 To date there is but a handful of articles on documentary films from Taiwan This volume seeks to remedy the paucity in this area of research and conduct a systematic analysis of the genre Each contributor to the volume investigates the various aspects of documentary by focusing on one or two specific films that document social political and cultural changes in recent Taiwanese history Since the lifting of martial law documentary has witnessed a revival in Taiwan with increasing numbers of young independent filmmakers covering a wide range of subject matter in contrast to fiction films which have been in steady decline in their appeal to local Taiwanese viewers These documentaries capture images of Taiwan in its transformation from an agricultural island to a capitalist economy in the global market as well as from an authoritarian system to democracy What make these documentaries a unique subject of academic inquiry lies not only in their exploration of local Taiwanese issues but more importantly in the contribution they make to the field of non fiction film studies As the former third world countries and Soviet bloc begin to re examine their past and document social changes on film the case of Taiwan will undoubtedly become a valuable source of comparison and inspiration These Taiwanese documentaries introduce a new Asian perspective to the wealth of Anglo American scholarship with the potential to serve as exemplar for countries undergoing similar political and social transformations Documenting Taiwan on Film is essential reading for all those interested in Taiwan Studies film studies and Asian cinema Taiwan in Japan's Empire-Building Hui-yu Caroline Tsai,2009-01-13 This book explores the institutions through which Taiwan was governed under Japanese colonial rule illuminating how the administration was engineered and how Taiwan was placed in Japan's larger empire building. The author argues that rather than envisaging the ruling of the society and then going on to frame policies accordingly Japanese rule in Taiwan was more ad hoc utilizing and integrating native social forces to ensure cooperation. Part I examines how the Japanese administration was shaped in the specific context of colonial Taiwan focusing on the legal tradition the civil service examination and the police system. Part II elaborates on the process of colonial engineering with special attention paid to colonial governmentality social engineering and colonial spatiality. In Part III Hui yu Caroline Tsai provides a more in depth analysis of wartime integration policies and the mobilization of labor before making an evaluation of Japan's colonial legacy. Taiwan in Japan's Empire Building will appeal to researchers scholars and students interested in Japanese Imperial History as well as those studying the history of Taiwan.

Sinanian, 1980 Refracted Modernity Yuko Kikuchi, 2007-08-01 Since the mid 1990s Taiwanese artists have been responsible for shaping much of the international contemporary art scene yet studies on modern Taiwanese art published outside of Taiwan are scarce. The nine essays collected here present different perspectives on Taiwanese visual culture and landscape during the Japanese colonial period 1895-1945 focusing variously on travel writings Western and Japanese Oriental style paintings architecture aboriginal material culture and crafts. Issues addressed include the imagined Taiwan and the discovery of the Taiwanese landscape which developed into the imperial ideology of nangoku southern country the problematic idea of local color which was imposed by Japanese and its relation to the nativism that was embraced by Taiwanese the gendered modernity exemplified in the representation of Chinese Taiwanese women and the development of Taiwanese artifacts and crafts from colonial to postcolonial times from their discovery estheticization and industrialization to their commodification by both the colonizers and the colonized. Transitions to Modernity in Taiwan Niki Alsfeld, 2017-07-20 On 19 April 1895 British Consul Lionel Charles Hopkins at the northern port of Tamsui was summoned by Tang Jingsong the governor of Taiwan to his yamen in the western district of Taipei. Shortly after his arrival Hopkins was handed a petition Signed by a number of Taiwanese notables the document appealed to the British government to incorporate the island into a protectorate in the wake of an impending Japanese invasion. The British declined. This book addresses the interconnectivity of these two communities by focusing on the market town of Dadaocheng in northern Taiwan. It seeks to contextualise and examine the establishment of a settler society as well as the creation of a sojourning British community showing how they became a precursor of modernity and middle classism there. By uncovering who the signatories of the petition were and what their motivation was to call upon the British consulate to bring the island under its protection it brings into focus a remarkable period of transition not only for the history of Taiwan but also for the modern history of China Using 1895 as a year of enquiry it ultimately challenges the current orthodoxy that modernity in Taiwan was simply a by product of the Japanese colonial period As a social and transnational history of the events that took place in Taiwan during 1895 this book will be useful for students of East Asian Studies Modern Chinese Studies and Asian History Diseased Dirigisme Hun Joo Park,2007

Sih,1973 Taiwan's Development Cal Clark,1989-10-06 Known as the Taiwan Miracle the Republic of China on Taiwan R O C has over the past thirty five years experienced one of the world's highest rates of economic growth Arguing that major theoretical frameworks for analyzing international political economy are often too simplistic in that they omit key factors or overly generalize from relationships found only in limited situations Clark uses a detailed case history of the R O C to suggest not only that development and dependency in contemporary society are extremely complex and indeterminate processes but that development in Taiwan deviates significantly from the postulates of the two leading paradigms of international political economy To go even further Clark states that Taiwan's economic growth and transformation resulted from its deviation from the normal dependency syndrome Indeed a development strategy based on economic flexibility and periodic regime change that has made this flexibility possible are hallmarks in Taiwan's success story The United States and other advanced industrial economies whose past successes have created economic and political barriers to future adaptation can be better understood in terms of the characteristics of R O C's development strategy Part I of the three part work focuses on environment first discussing various paradigms and theories about development and then presenting an historical overview of Taiwan The second part investigates Taiwan's international role political development and rapid economic growth The volume closes with a chapter devoted to the implications of the Taiwan experience and political economy paradigms Eight figures and thirty five tables illustrate facets of Taiwan's development including government structure indicators of agricultural development industrialization educational progress and export performance among others Because of the detailed presentations of political economy theories and their variants especially in relation to economic and political development in Taiwan this volume would be an excellent choice for courses in political economy developing societies Asian politics and international relations theory as well as libraries serving students in these areas
