

Estimating Time for Outdoor Tasks

Instructions

Objective: To help students develop estimation skills and measurement skills by predicting and comparing the duration of outdoor outdoor activities.

Materials

- Stopwatch or timer (one per group or pair)
- Student recording sheet (provided)
- Outdoor activities
- List of outdoor tasks (examples provided in the student recording sheet)

Procedure

- 1. Introduction
 - Begin by discussing the concept of time estimation. Ask students to share examples of activities they think take a certain amount of time.
 - Explain that they will predict how long various outdoor tasks will take, then measure and compare their estimates with the actual time.
- 2. Task Setup
 - Organize students into pairs or small groups.
 - Provide each group with a stopwatch (if not, assign each group with a timer on their phone).
 - Assign each group a specific outdoor task to complete.
- 3. Activity Instructions
 - Students predict how long each task will take and record their estimates in the sheet.
 - One student in the group starts the task while another completes it.
 - Once the task is completed, they record the actual time and compare it with their prediction.
- 4. Wrap-Up Discussion
 - Gather the class and discuss: "What tasks took more 'forecast'?" "What tasks were harder?" "What changes helped them more before estimated?"

Time for Outdoor Tasks

Instructions

As a student, you are to predict the duration of an outdoor task and then measure the actual time. You will calculate the difference between the estimate and the actual time. This will help you understand how accurate your estimate was.

Time for Outdoor Tasks

Recording Sheet

One of our challenges is to predict the time it will take to complete a task. We will then measure the actual time and compare the two.

Predicted Time (seconds/minutes)	Actual Time (seconds/minutes)	Difference (Actual - Predicted)
1 min	1 min	0 min

Time for Outdoor Tasks

Recording Sheet

How accurate was your prediction? Why?

Did you make your task faster or slower?

How did you feel about the task? Why or why not?

What changes could you make to complete the task more quickly next time?
