Budgeting Process, is it Really Necessary? Payam Haerifar, 2012-02 Research Paper undergraduate from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Accounting and Taxes University of Derby language English abstract The strategic planning is the long term plan of organisations and budget is the short term plan that contains more detail regarding to business operations The budget is like a blueprint for entire business which is prepared for the next year So it is designed by estimating and forecasting future trends in market Budget is used to evaluate actual performance of a company or a section of company with desirable performance that this desirable performance is based on forecasting markets Therefore an excellent budget process should have this ability to convert objectives and desirable goals it means future estimated outcomes into data This statement could be wrong in some situations Various scholars provide opposites arguments regarding to this statement Beneath the main body these two arguments against and in favour of this above statement are discussed abundantly One of the main success elements of budget is finding the right resource to implement the budget calls for extensive use of human resources But sometimes even with the appropriate and well designed budget it is not possible to reach budget s targets because of human resource or their misunderstanding of budget Organisations try to have correct congruence perceptions within their employees but some researches demonstrate different outcomes perception may be exhibited when the individuals have not parallel objectives compare to organisational goals These two main issues of budgeting success factors are mentioned in this writing besides one of the main differences between imposed budgeting and participatory budgeting is mentioned in this study This difference is regarding to the way of communication

How Nintendo created a New Market through the Strategic Innovation Wii Jörg Ziesak,2009-12-21 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2009 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 1 3 University of Applied Sciences Bielefeld language English abstract In the year 2009 Nintendo was placed fifth in the BusinessWeek s ranking of the world s most innovative companies This confirms Nintendo s significant rearrangement into an innovative design powerhouse that redefined the predominant business value factors of the video game industry However a few years ago no analyst would have anticipated that Nintendo would develop in this direction Until the mid 1990s the global home video game console industry was dominated by Nintendo a Japanese video game hardware and software manufacturer Rivalry in this industry only marginally existed This changed when Sony entered the market in 1994 By offering a console that was technologically superior Sony outperformed the then Nintendo console Thereby new challenges arose for the Japanese company Nintendo lost its long lasting market leadership to the new entrant Despite several trails to recapture market leadership during the end 1990s Nintendo was stuck in second place Instead of regaining market share the opposite was the case when Microsoft a computer software giant joined the market in 2001 Nintendo's market share slipped dramatically because they were not able to keep up the technological progress of its competitors. The former market leader fell back to the third place of the industry. Analysts of the video game entertainment industry even recommended that Nintendo withdraw completely from the highly competitive console market in order to concentrate on developing software.<sup>4</sup> However, Nintendo refused to surrender but they were in biggest need to recover market share. Nintendo had a very different approach to strategy than Sony or Microsoft. Instead of competing for core gamers, Nintendo tried to expand the market and to win new customers. For Satoru Iwata, the president of Nintendo, the industry had been following a wrong path by only concentrating on core gamers because the number of overall users was getting smaller and decreased its spending patterns. You must know when not to follow the traditional way of thinking. Iwata argued, "For some time we have believed the game industry is ready for disruption. Not just from Nintendo but from all game developers. It is what we all need to expand our audience. It is what we all need to expand our imaginations. Their new strategy was called Blue Ocean Strategy."
