Tagore Final Poems Rabindranath Tagore, 2001-12-04 The brilliant and immensely prolific Indian writer Rabindranath Tagore 1861 1941 is known the world over for his accomplished works in an astoundingly wide range of genres fiction short stories poetry drama and essays During the final year of his life while suffering from the painful illness that would eventually end in his death Tagore completed four volumes of poetry that expressed the emotional turmoil of facing one's own imminent extinction Appearing here for the first time in English is a selection of these extraordinary poems that captures as closely as possible the beauty and subtlety of Tagore's original Bengali verses A marked departure from Tagore's earlier work these poems are as the translators say so compact that it is almost as if he were going beyond words as if language no longer suffices and yet of course the language radiates meaning Poised between life and death Tagore is awed by the beauty of this world and glimpses in it the presence of the infinite Such splendor illuminates a deathlessness hidden in the everyday by our senses limits At other times alone by sorrow's last window he is gripped by the sheer terror of experiencing the relentless approach of death Tagore was so weak at the end that he had to dictate his poems Although the pain was often excruciating and the fear and anger overwhelming he still exulted in life In these poems from his deathbed he conveys the intense joy of living and his ultimate triumph over death Tagore's Last Poems Rabindranath Tagore, 1972 Wings of Death focuses on Rabindranath Tagore as a social and political thinker revolving around Tagore's ideas on the seeds of civil society, nation identities and communities in the Indic tradition. The author deconstructs Tagore's concepts against the appropriate resurgent and triumphalist Western concepts in the updated Western social thought and theories. The book examines Tagore's understanding of the nature of the civil social sphere in India and analyzes the relevance of his civil social concepts against the backdrop of colonialism in India. It also discusses his views on nation and nationalism in India and his insights into the problems and prospects of intercommunity, particularly Hindu-Muslim relations in India. Applying current social science and Western literature in an unprecedented manner to interpret Tagore, this book will be of great interest to scholars, teachers and students of politics, nationalism, postcolonialism, history, comparative literature, sociology, religious studies and South Asian studies.

Wings of Death Rabindranath Tagore, Aurobindo Bose, 1960      The Death and the Deathless Sukumar Das, 2020-06

This is English Translated Verse Version of best selected poems of Sir Rabindranath Tagore, Nobel Laureate 1913, on Death and beyond death. Seventy-two specially selected poems on the subject of Death and after-life issues have been published, dividing them in 12 Chapters which deal with the pains, losses, sufferings and pathetic memories of the diseased person, near and dear lover and beloved, and gradually taking readers to a higher platform of thoughts and realization of the Creative process, the Creator's designs, transformation of forms and energy, keeping total aggregate same and unchanged; nothing is lost in the Universe of the Supreme creator and sustainer of these created systems and entities. Believes in liberation, a Buddhist and also a Hindu thought, belief in Re-birth, mainly a Hindu belief, concept of final solace in faithful surrender of all matters to His pleasure and at His feet, some theosophical belief of non-perishability of Soul/Aatma argued by the Upanishads to Geeta. Tagore's own experience of seeing himself outside his own physical existence. Poem No. 58, one resurrection experience as narrated by him in Poem No. 57, and at the last phase of his life, he totally denied death as the end of the Entities, vide poems no. 54 to 62, a final conviction that the Creator processed out after 1750 Crores of years after the Big Bang, giving Humans the only creature to enter into perusal and de-codification of His Universe, its creative process, tried to understand their Creator. He believed that it shall be, and in fact, even in current days, it is His great pleasure that some of His offsprings have understood Him, a father or a mother, who brought any child on Earth, want the first great pleasure when they see that their offsprings first distinctly identify their parents and call them father or mother, as the case may be. Such is the relation of mankind with the Universal Creative Process or the Supreme One, whom we identify a Creator in various manner and may be in a very wrong manner, as ordinary persons have no greater brain power to conceive anything beyond an Anthropometric God. Tagore's God is always approaching to make Him fully revealed and mingle with His creation, the mankind, for His own pleasure, out of His own love for them. And similarly, the mankind is the only product of God, who had been trying utmost to discover who is that ONE, so mankind is also in a march to meet and mingle with their Creator. This mutual love relation is reflected in Tagore's poems, vide specially Poem No. 51 to 56, Chapter 11, Re-Union, The Great Qualities.

Tagore's Last Poems, 2023      I Won't Let You Go
Rabindranath Tagore, 2011

In this stunning collection of poems by Nobel laureate Rabindranath Tagore acclaimed translator Ketaki Kushari Dyson brilliantly captures the energy and lyricism of the legendary poet's verses The title poem evokes the inner turmoil of a man who must return to the drudgery of work after visiting his home for the Durga Puja vacation Haunted by his four year old daughter's parting words I won't let you go he finds his anguish reflected in the vagaries of nature with the earth echoing his pain The other poems in this collection brim with Tagore's compassionate humanity and delicate sensuousness From detailing the nuances of intimate relationships to ruminating on the vast cosmos these poems glow with a burning awareness of man's place in the universe reaffirming Tagore's reputation as one of India's greatest modern poets In what a profound sadness are sky and earth immersed The further I go the more I hear the same piteous note I won't let you go
