Tainted Desert Environmental And Social Ruin In The American West:

The Tainted Desert Valerie L. Kuletz, 2016-04-29 For decades nuclear testing in America's southwest was shrouded in secrecy with images gradually made public of mushroom clouds blooming over the desert. Now another nuclear crisis looms over this region: the storage of tens of thousands of tons of nuclear waste. Tainted Desert maps the nuclear landscapes of the US inter-desert southwest, a land sacrificed to the Cold War arms race and nuclear energy policy. American West Karen R. Jones, 2009-03-21 The American West used to be a story of gunfights, glory, wagon trails, and linear progress. Historians such as Frederick Jackson Turner and Hollywood movies such as Stagecoach (1939) and Shane (1953) cast the trans-Mississippi region as a frontier of epic proportions where savagery met civilization and boys became men. During the late 1980s, this old way of seeing the West came under heavy fire. Scholars such as Patricia Nelson Limerick and Richard White forged a fresh story of the region, a new vision of the West based around the conquest of peoples and landscapes. This book explores the bipolar world of Turner's Old West and Limerick's New West and reveals the values and ambiguities associated with both historical traditions. Sections on Lewis and Clark, the frontier, and the cowboy sit alongside work on Indian genocide and women's trail diaries. Images of the region as seen through the arcade Western Hollywood film and Disney theme parks confirm the West as a symbolic and contested landscape. Tapping into popular fascination with the Cowboy Hollywood movies, the Indian Wars, and Custer's Last Stand, the authors show the reader how to deconstruct the imagery and reality surrounding Western history. Key Features: Uses popular subjects: the Cowboy Hollywood westerns, the Indian Wars, and Custer's Last Stand to enliven the text. Includes 13 b/w illustrations. Interdisciplinary approach covers film, literature, art, and historical artefacts. Living in a Contaminated World Ellen Omohundro, 2019-06-04 Originally published in 2004. Using innovative methodology which considers both social and biophysical parameters to examine a range of mining and mineral production sites, including the controversial Superfund sites in the USA, this book focuses on how environmental regulators, local residents, and other stakeholders work together to define the communities affected by environmental hazards and to assess the associated health impacts. It also questions the social factors which frame community-level decision making about environmental risks, such as shared history, community identity, control in local decisions, distribution of power among local institutions, and participation in decisions about environmental risks and mitigation. The book argues that a better understanding of such factors would not only permit the development of more informed policies but would also provide opportunities to improve community involvement in mitigation efforts. Landscape of the Soul W. Vance Grace, 2020-05-20 The North American church is struggling. Our society seems to be coming apart at the seams, and Christianity appears on the verge of losing its voice, its leadership, and its youth. The church's calling is to cooperate with her Creator in the repair of the world. Instead, we struggle in the loss of the simplicity of the natural images of Jesus which compel us to engage tension, dependency, and the lesson of being on the margins. Until we learn to take our cues from a world

we did not build our actions will continue to prop up a society struggling from the weight of its own ethos Part history part cultural dialogue part travelogue always in conversation with the ancient and compelling biblical vision of shalom Landscape of the Soul will encourage you to see beyond the shells of your constructed world to those places where dynamic spiritual rhythms can still be found

Sand, Snow, and Stardust Gretchen Heefner, 2025-05-05 A vivid tour of US military efforts to understand survive and command harsh environments worldwide and beyond Deserts the Arctic outer space these extreme environments are often seen as inhospitable places at the edges of our maps But from the 1940s through the 1960s spurred by the diverse and unfamiliar regions the US military had navigated during World War II the United States defense establishment took a keen interest in these places dispatching troops to the Aleutian Islands North Africa the South Pacific and beyond To preserve the country's status as a superpower after the war to pave runways and build bridges engineers had to understand and then conquer dunes permafrost and even the surface of the moon Sand Snow and Stardust explores how the US military generated a new understanding of these environments and attempted to master them intending to cement America's planetary power Operating in these regions depended as much on scientific and cultural knowledge as on military expertise and technology From General George S Patton learning the hard way that the desert is not always hot to the challenges of constructing a scientific research base under the Arctic ice to the sheer implausibility of modeling Martian environments on Earth Gretchen Heefner takes us on a wry expedition into the extremes and introduces us to the people who have shaped our insight into these extraordinary environments Even decades after the first manned space flight plans for human space exploration and extraplanetary colonization are still based on what we know about stark habitats on Earth An entertaining survey of the relationship between environmental history and military might Sand Snow and Stardust also serves as a warning about the further transformation of the planet whether through desertification melting ice caps or attempts to escape it entirely

Nevada's Environmental Legacy James W. Hulse, 2009-02-28 Nevada's relatively brief history it became a state in 1864 has been largely a story of the exploitation of its natural resources Mining has torn down mountains and poisoned streams and groundwater Uncontrolled grazing by vast herds of sheep and cattle has denuded grasslands and left them prey to the invasion of noxious plant species and vulnerable to wildfire Clear cut logging practices have changed the composition of forests and induced serious soil erosion More recently military testing including hundreds of atomic blasts to determine the efficacy of nuclear weapons has irreversibly polluted expanses of fragile desert landscape And rampant development throughout the state over the past four decades along with the public's growing demand for recreational facilities has placed intolerable demands on the arid state's limited water resources and threatened the survival of numerous rare plant and animal species. Veteran historian and Nevada native James W. Hulse considers the state's complex environmental history as a series of Faustian bargains between the state's need for economic development and the industries, government agencies, and individuals that have exploited Nevada's natural resources with little concern for the long-term consequences of their activities. His survey covers all these issues and examines public attitudes about the environment and the role of federal and state agencies in creating, interpreting, and enforcing environmental policies. Journal of Environmental Law and Litigation, 2002. Human Behavior and the Larger Social Environment Miriam McNown Johnson, Rita M. Rhodes, 2005 Promotes critical thinking through extensive review and analysis of macro-level systems and structures highlighting both the positive and negative impacts they have on individuals and families. Avoids overwhelming students with the multitude of theories used to explain large systems by using the same structure in each chapter, helping students mentally organize material in a way that helps them apply the knowledge to other social work courses. Fully supports the person-in-environment orientation by moving away from an over-emphasis on individual development toward an examination of contextual issues that more fully explains the challenges routinely encountered by social workers. Thoroughly examines the social institutions that impact social workers and their clients, helping students make connections between current events and social work curriculum content. Chs 2-4 Introduces content on social class, racial/ethnic minorities, gender, sexual orientation, and disabilities in a way that encourages open-mindedness in students while discouraging stereotyping. Chs 5-11 Focuses on diversity and strengths in minority populations and social settings and addresses issues of oppression with sensitivity, helping to develop students' appreciation for the challenges faced by populations at risk. Chs 5-11 West Virginia Law Review, 2011. Macmillan Encyclopedia of Energy John Zumerchik, 2001. Covers the broad field of energy in over 250 illustrated articles written by academics and experts in the field. Includes biographies of people who made significant contributions to the science and technology of energy. The Environmentalism of the Poor Juan Martínez Alier, 2005. Where the Waters Divide Michael Mascarenhas, 2005.
