Taiwan And Chinese Nationalism National Identity And Status In International Society:

Taiwan and Chinese Nationalism Christopher Hughes, 2013-04-15 For China Taiwan is next in line to be unified with the People's Republic after Hong Kong in 1997 China's claim on Taiwan is of great importance to the politics of Chinese Nationalism and is central to the dynamics of power in this most volatile of regions The democratic challenge from Taiwan is very potent and its status and identity within the international community is crucial to its survival Taiwan and Chinese Nationalism explores how Taiwan's status has come to be a symbol for the legitimacy of the Chinese regime in the evolution of Chinese nationalism It also demonstrates how this view has been challenged by demands for democratization in Taiwan The KMT regime is shown to have allowed sovereignty to be practised by the population of the island while maintaining the claim that it is a part of China The result is a post nationalist identity for the island in an intermediate state between independence and unification with the PRC

Barkin, 2020-05-06 Realism and constructivism are often viewed as competing paradigms for understanding international relations though scholars are increasingly arguing that the two are compatible Edited by one of the leading proponents of realist constructivism this volume shows what realist constructivism looks like in practice by innovatively combining exposition and critiques of the realist constructivist approach with a series of international case studies Each chapter addresses a key empirical question in international relations and provides important guidance for how to combine both approaches effectively in research Addressing future directions and possibilities for realist constructivism in international relations this book makes a significant contribution to the theorizing of global politics Taiwan's Democracy Robert Ash, John W. Garver, Penelope Prime, 2013-07-03 Taiwan's rapid industrialization during the 1960s and 1970s combined with the democratic revolution that began with the lifting of martial law in 1987 were of deep historic importance Over the next decade Taiwan's political miracle matched its earlier economic miracle creating a vibrant liberal democracy complete with freedom of speech association and assembly rule of law and competitive and fair multi party elections The continuation of these achievements and the new challenges that have surfaced are addressed in rich detail in the chapters of this volume by an international team of experts One of the biggest such challenges is Mainland China's economic success which has added to the complexity of Taiwan's economic and political policy options A number of the contributors to this volume consider Taiwan's response to China's economic rise and show how Taiwanese companies have strategically taken advantage of the changing economic environment by moving up the value chain of production within Taiwan while also taking the opportunity to invest overseas With chapters covering a wealth of topics including Constitutional reform National identity Party politics Taiwan's development model Industrial policy Trade and investment Globalization Sustainable development Taiwan's Democracy will be of huge interest to students and scholars of Taiwan studies Chinese politics and economics international that much of this debate is now more focused on finding an adequate strategy to deal with the Beijing government than on the legitimacy of Taiwan's claim to sovereignty as the Republic of China. The collection of chapters in this book shed light on very different aspects of Taiwan's current state of identity formation from historical political social and economic perspectives both domestically and globally. As such it will be invaluable reading for students and scholars of Taiwan studies politics history and society as well as those interested in cross Strait relations Chinese politics and Chinese international relations.

Free China Review ,1999-06 Taiwan John F Copper,2003-01-23 In the fourth edition of Taiwan Nation State or Province Professor Copper examines Taiwan's geography and history its society and culture its economy its political system and its foreign and security policies in the context of Taiwan's uncertain political status whether a sovereign nation or a province of the People's Republic of China. Copper argues that Taiwan's very rapid and successful democratization while leaders in Beijing oppose democratic change suggests Taiwan should be independent and separate from China. Increasingly important economic links between Taiwan and China says the opposite. Professor Copper argues that exacerbating this problem Washington and Beijing espouse opposing policies regarding resolution of the Taiwan issue and that has made the Taiwan Strait the world's number one flashpoint place where major powers collide and where war using weapons of mass destruction may be used. This matter has been recently been given further salience by the shift of political power to Chen Shui bian who was elected president in 2000 and the victory of his opposition party which has long advocated an independent Taiwan in the 2001 legislative election and by America's growing perception of a China danger and concern about Beijing's military expansion that is in large part aimed at Taiwan. Taiwan Nation State or Province is unlike other books of this genre pursues the theme of Taiwan's unique status and seeks to gauge its future as one of the world's vortex political entities. □ □ □ □ □ □ □ □ ,2002 China's International Relations in Asia: East Asia responds to a rising China Mingjiang Li,2010 This new Major Work is fully indexed and includes a comprehensive index newly written by the editor which places the collected material in its historical and intellectual context. It is destined to be valued by scholars students and researchers.

States, Markets and Civil Society in Asia Pacific: The political economy of the Asia-Pacific region Joseph A. Camilleri,2000 This first volume of a two volume study concentrates on the geopolitical and economic transformation of Asia Pacific. It focuses on the complex relationship between the decline of ideological bipolarity the rapid industrialization of East Asia and the tensions generated by the shifting balance of regional and global economic interests. Issues & Studies ,2005
