John Betjeman William S. Peterson, 2006 Sir John Betjeman 1906 1984 Poet Laureate was probably the most widely read English poet of the twentieth century Because of his frequent appearances on radio and television and his fervent devotion to the preservation of England's architectural heritage his face and voice became familiar to millions Few other poets of any century have had such a powerful influence on their contemporaries This bibliography lists and describes all of his known writings including his own books ephemera contributions to periodicals and to books by others lectures and radio and television programmes Other categories such as editorships music settings and dramatic adaptations of his poems recordings and interviews are also included as well as a section devoted to writings about him Manuscripts and drafts of all his works are described in detail This enormous body of material is thoroughly indexed cross referenced and in most cases annotated Now at last the activities of this remarkable man both a poet and a cultural phenomenon can be seen in their full breadth and complexity

Modern Drama and the Rhetoric of Theater W. B. Worthen, 2015-01-30 The history of drama is typically viewed as a series of inert styles Tracing British and American stage drama from the 1880s onward W B Worthen instead sees drama as the interplay of text stage production and audience How are audiences manipulated What makes drama meaningful Worthen identifies three rhetorical strategies that distinguish an O'Neill play from a Yeats or these two from a Brecht Where realistic theater relies on the natural qualities of the stage scene poetic theater uses the poet's word the text to control performance Modern political theater by contrast openly places the audience at the center of its rhetorical designs and the drama of the postwar period is shown to develop a range of post-Brechtian practices that make the audience the subject of the play Worthen's book deserves the attention of any literary critic or serious theatergoer interested in the relationship between modern drama and the spectator
