State Building and Democratization in Africa Kidane Mengisteab, Cyril K. Daddieh, State Building and Democratization in Africa Kidane Mengisteab, Cyril K. Daddieh, 1999-01-30 State building and democratization in Africa rarely attract the attention they deserve Few have grappled with the relationship between state building nation building and democratic experiments in Africa This collection consciously corrects this shortcoming in African political studies Among the issues raised Does democracy facilitate state building or does it exacerbate ethnic conflicts Are certain modalities of democratization more likely to facilitate state building than others Has the era of democracy created the need for new state building strategies Does the objective of state building require significant modifications in the essence and form of democracy This collection combines theoretical explorations with empirical case studies It looks at both anglophone and francophone countries of sub Saharan Africa While the contributors have written extensively on African issues there is no consensus among the authors most argue that integrating ethnic groups that already face discrimination and often are engaged in conflict requires compromise political settlements and new terms of incorporation into the state These compromises in turn involve new arrangements in how democracy is perceived and instituted An important collection for scholars students and other researchers involved with African political social and economic development The Palgrave Handbook of African Politics, Governance and Development Samuel Ojo Oloruntoba, Toyin Falola, 2017-10-10 This handbook constitutes a single collection of well researched articles and essays on African politics governance and development from the pre colonial through colonial to the post colonial eras Over the course of these interconnected periods African politics have evolved with varied experiences across different parts of the continent As politics is embedded both in the economy and the society Africa has witnessed some changes in politics economics demography and its relations with the world in ways that requires in depth analysis This work provides an opportunity for old and new scholars to engage in the universe of the debate around African politics governance and development and will serve as a ready reference material for students researchers policy makers and investors that are concerned with these issues Security and Development in Southern Africa Nana Poku, 2001-04-30 With the end of white dominated South Africa many observers have argued for a positive transformation of the whole of Southern Africa based upon market integration and increased cooperation among the states of the region Poku and the contributors to this collection re examine this optimistic scenerio and they point to the problems of translating good intentions into actual policies In reality the economic imbalance between South Africa and its neighbors poses severe problems for the region Far from finding a stronger ally in regional reconstruction and development the countries in the region are finding that for many in South Africa they simply do not matter that much The analysis points to greater polarization which may imply greater marginalization of the poorer countries in the region Moreover a major widening of the gap between the richer South Africa and some or all of the weaker economies may lead to increased tensions and breakdown of regional relations even to a situation detrimental to economic development in the region A provocative analysis by some of the leading politico economic thinkers of the region the volume will be of great use to scholars researchers and policy makers involved with Southern African development

Beyond State Failure and Collapse George Klay Kieh, 2007-01-01 There is a general consensus in the scholarly literature that the post colonial state in Africa has failed Some states Liberia Rwanda Sierra Leone Somalia have collapsed Various arguments have been proffered to explain this dynamics of African state failure and collapse However the literature on state reconstitution is inchoate and minimal This edited volume focuses on prescriptions for reconstituting the post colonial state in Africa Essays on nine African states Burundi the Democratic Republic of the Congo Ethiopia Kenya Nigeria Sierra Leone Somalia South Africa and Uganda are preceded by an introduction to the political economy of the African state

Modernization, Democracy, and Islam Shireen T. Hunter, Huma Malick, 2005-01-30 The Islamic world has a poor record in terms of modernization and democracy However the source of this situation is not religion but factors including colonialism international economic and trading systems and the role of the military among others Recognizing these themes allows the consideration of possible remedies for change in the Muslim world The Islamic world has a poor record in terms of modernization and democracy However the source of this situation is not religion Islam but rather factors including colonialism international economic and trading systems and the role of the military among others Recognizing these themes allows the consideration of possible remedies for change in the Muslim world The distinguished scholars contributing to this volume identify key factors some intrinsic to the Muslim world and some external that contribute to Islam s current predicament Contrary to much prevailing thought and opinion Islam is neither monolithic nor impervious to change It is neither anti democratic nor inherently anti modernization Islam itself as this book shows is not the root cause of the malaise of the Islamic world

Saha,2008-03-07 This edited collection of essays answers a basic question posed by contemporary discourse on state building How might people s identification with a particular ethnic group matter Essays in this book use an integrated multi disciplinary approach to understanding regional and local community culture and socio political development in developing countries especially in Sub Saharan Africa to argue that the state as well as civil society confers on cultural differences a legitimacy that can be achieved in no other way but by positive cooperation Contributors from different countries look at local patterns in state building and modernization as they have unfolded over the course of the last fifty years They claim that the people and ethnic groups in most developing countries adhere to a concept of popular sovereignty that testifies that aspects of positive and moral ethnicity can contribute to social change as in China economic development as in India or in a democratization process as in Rwanda and Burundi The eventual methodological assumption made by these essays presumes that ethnic conflicts in such countries as Cyprus Turkey India and Rwanda have no moral sanction ethnicity has not assumed a political ideology One conclusion reached by the contributors is that some form of accommodation between opposing ethnically diversified groups as well as between state and ethnic elements is feasible
