Wildlife Study Design Michael L. Morrison, William M. Block, M. Dale Strickland, Bret A. Collier, Markus J. Peterson, 2008-03-21 We developed the first edition of this book because we perceived a need for a compilation on study design with application to studies of the ecology conservation and management of wildlife We felt that the need for coverage of study design in one source was strong and although a few books and monographs existed on some of the topics that we covered no single work attempted to synthesize the many facets of wildlife study design We decided to develop this second edition because our original goal synthesis of study design remains strong and because we each gathered a substantial body of new material with which we could update and expand each chapter Several of us also used the first edition as the basis for workshops and graduate teaching which provided us with many valuable suggestions from readers on how to improve the text In particular Morrison received a detailed review from the graduate students in his Wildlife Study Design course at Texas A M University We also paid heed to the reviews of the first edition that appeared in the literature

Landscape Ecology Dean L Urban, 2024-12-01 This is a methods tools textbook that covers the fundamental tasks in research and management at the landscape scale It brings together tools from a range of disciplines and presents them in a natural workflow that a practitioner can appreciate Alternative texts cover a narrower range of topics and or present the information without reference to a natural workflow The book begins with 2 fundamental applications that introduce the scope and challenges of working at the landscape scales sampling design and species distribution modeling These motivate several chapters that digress to cover the primary tools that ecologists use to work with multivariate and spatial data The book then returns to applications including site prioritization interpreting and forecasting landscape change and integrated assessment The tasks themselves follow a logical workflow of collecting and analyzing data applying the analyses to management decisions and interpreting the outcomes of these decisions in an integrated framework This book stems from two graduate level courses in Landscape Ecology taught at the Nicholas School of the Environment at Duke University The subject has evolved over time from a concepts based overview of what landscape ecology is to a more applied practicum on how one does landscape ecology As landscape ecology has matured as a discipline its perspectives on spatial heterogeneity and scale have begun to permeate into a wide range of other fields including conservation biology ecosystem management and ecological restoration Thus this textbook will bring students from diverse backgrounds to a common level of understanding and will prepare them with the practical knowledge for a career in conservation and ecosystem management
