King,2021-10-23 This book seeks to break new ground both empirically and conceptually in examining discourses of identity formation and the agency of critical social practices in Malaysia Taking an inclusive cultural studies perspective it questions the ideological narrative of race and ethnicity that dominates explanations of conflicts and cleavages in the Malaysian context The contributions are organised in three broad themes Identities in Contestation Borders Complexities and Hybridities takes a range of empirical studies literary translation religion gender ethnicity indigeneity and sexual orientation to break down preconceived notions of fixed identities. This then opens up an examination of Identities and Movements Agency and Alternative Discourses in which contributors deal with counter hegemonic social movements of anti racism, young people environmentalism and independent publishing that explicitly seek to open up greater critical democratic space within the Malaysian polity. The third section Identities and Narratives Culture and the Media then provides a close textual reading of some exemplars of new cultural and media practices found in oral testimonies, popular music, film, radio programming and storytelling who have consciously created bodies of work that question the dominant national narrative. This book is a valuable interdisciplinary work for advanced students and researchers interested in representations of identity and nationhood in Malaysia and for those with wider interests in the fields of critical cultural studies and discourse analysis. Here is a fresh, startling book to aid the task of unbinding the straitjackets of Malay, Chinese and Indian with which colonialism bound Malaysia's plural inheritance and on which the postcolonial state continues to rely. In it a panoply of unlikely identities Bajau liminality, Kelabit philosophy, Islamic feminism, refugee hybridity and more finds expression and offers hope for liberation. Rachel Leow (University of Cambridge) This book shakes the foundations of race thinking in Malaysian studies by expanding the range of cases, perspectives and outcomes of identity. It offers students of Malaysia an examination of identity and agency that is expansive, critical and engaging and its interdisciplinary depth brings Malaysian studies into conversation with scholarship across the world. Sumit Mandal (University of Nottingham, Malaysia) This is a much needed work that helps us to take apart the colonial inherited categories of race which informed the notion of the plural society, the idea of plurality without multiculturalism. It complicates the picture of identity by bringing in religion, gender, indigeneity and sexual orientation and helps us to imagine what a truly multiculturalist Malaysia might look like. Language Choice in Interracial Marriages: The Case of Filipino-Malaysian Couples

Francisco Perlas Dumanig, 2010-10-19. Language choice has become a common phenomenon in interracial encounters in which speakers are always faced with the challenge of choosing an appropriate language in various domains of communication. In multilingual and multiracial societies, language choice can sometimes be crucial because of its social, political and economic impact on the speakers. Even in the smallest unit of a society which is the family, language choice plays an important role particularly in interactions between husbands and wives who come from different linguistic and cultural backgrounds. It is therefore the objective of this research to examine the language choice in interracial couples' communication. More specifically, this research examines the language choice accommodation strategies and code switching patterns in verbal communication of Filipino Malaysian couples in the home domain. Furthermore, this study explores the occurrence of language choice in relation to ethnicity, first language and gender. To carry out the study, 60 spouses consisting of Filipino, Malay, Filipino, Malaysian, Chinese and Filipino, Malaysian, Indian couples were interviewed and given questionnaires which include the socio-demographic profile, language choice and accommodation strategies used. Data were collected using the qualitative approach by interviewing and recording the conversations of Filipino Malaysian couples To support the qualitative findings a quantitative approach based on the questionnaire results was also used The findings of the study reveal that Filipino Malaysian couples prefer English as their medium of communication at home with some switching to Bahasa Malaysia Chinese and Filipino languages The couples preference of English is prevalent although none of them considered English as their first language Their mother tongue becomes the secondary preference which is evident in the use of code switching The findings further reveal that couples language choice is influenced by ethnicity first language and gender On the other hand the use of accommodation strategies such as approximation interpretability discourse management and interpersonal control accommodation strategies occurs in many interactions The findings of the study support Giles and Powesland s 1978 Communication Accommodation Theory CAT that in interracial couples communication spouses tend to accommodate each other by using a range of accommodation strategies which include code switching

Malay Edward S. King,1960 Creoles, their Substrates, and Language Typology Claire Lefebvre,2011-02-17 Since creole languages draw their properties from both their substrate and superstrate sources the typological classification of creoles has long been a major issue for creolists typologists and linguists in general Several contradictory proposals have been put forward in the literature For example creole languages typologically pair with their superstrate languages Chaudenson 2003 with their substrate languages Lefebvre 1998 or even creole languages are alike Bickerton 1984 such that they constitute a definable typological class McWhorter 1998 This book contains 25 chapters bearing on detailed comparisons of some 30 creoles and their substrate languages As the substrate languages of these creoles are typologically different the detailed investigation of substrate features in the creoles leads to a particular answer to the question of how creoles should be classified typologically The bulk of the data show that creoles reproduce the typological features of their substrate languages This argues that creoles cannot be claimed to constitute a definable typological class World and Its Peoples ,2007 Most of what is known about the outside world remains superficial and stereotypical World and Its Peoples Eastern and Southern Asia brings a long rich story to light about ethnic groups the impact of terrain and natural resources and the influence of history This unique reference work maps out how the nations of the modern world became what they are today through photographs of the geography and people of foreign lands through discussion of ancient and contemporary works of art and events and through scores of maps detailing geographical features historic and modern places natural habitats rainfall locations of ethnic and linguistic groups natural resources and centers of industry and transportation No single resource assembles such comprehensive insight into the world and the people who live in it The Baba of Melaka Tan Chee-Beng,2022-12-07 The fullest and most comprehensive ethnography of the Baba community in Malaysia The author is a meticulous ethnographer and provides three chapters of richly detailed information on Baba kinship and marriage practices ancestor worship Chinese folk religion and festivals and a variety of Baba social patterns and organizations This is certainly a necessary and pleasurable reading materials for scholars of Malaysia and for those interested in ethnicity more generally Professor Judith Nagata Pacific Affairs 62 2 1989 Based on a long term ethnographic study the new edition of this book provides a comprehensive description of Baba culture and identity in Melaka Malaysia Tan Chee Beng s landmark study analyses the term Baba the development of Baba society their distribution in Melaka and overt features of identity the Baba Malay dialect customs and religion kinship and social interactions all of which tie in to changes in Baba identity By discussing cultural change and ethnic identification of a Chinese Peranakan community in Malaysia the reader can gain a more complete understanding of this unique minority group within a minority in a rapidly changing Malaysian context Speak Malay! Edward S.
