Spearheads For Reform:

Spearheads for Reform Allen Freeman Davis,1984 Allen Davis looks at the influence of settlement house workers on the reform movement of the progressive era in Chicago New York and Boston These workers were idealists in the way they approached the future but they were also realists who knew how to organize and use the American political system to initiate change They lobbied for a wide range of legislation and conducted statistical surveys that documented the need for reform After World War I settlement workers were replaced gradually by social workers who viewed their job as a profession not a calling and who did not always share the crusading zeal of their forerunners Nevertheless the settlement workers who were active from the 1880s to the 1920s left an important legacy they steered public opinion and official attitudes toward the recognition that poverty was more likely caused by the social environment than by individual weaknesses

Spearheads for Reform Allen F. Davis,1979

Bureau Men, Settlement Women Camilla Stivers,2000

Although the two intertwined at first the contributions of these settlement women to the development of the administrative state have been largely lost as the new field of public administration evolved from the research bureaus and diverged from social work Camilla Stivers now shows how public administration came to be dominated not just by science and business but also by masculinity calling into question much that is taken for granted about the profession and creating an alternative vision of public service

The

Lost Promise of Progressivism Eldon J. Eisenach,1994 Congenital malformations are worldwide occurrences striking in every condition of society These severe physical abnormalities which are present at birth and affecting every part of the body happen more often than usually realized once in every 33 births The most common after heart defects are those of the neural tube the brain and spinal cord which happen in as many as one in every 350 births They have been noted as curiosities in man and beast throughout recorded history and received great attention in our time by various fields of study for example their faulty prenatal development by embryologists familial patterns by geneticists causation by environmentalists and variability by population scientists Attention turned much in recent years to the relation of these malformations to deficiency of a particular dietary ingredient folic acid a subject this book analyzes in depth The greatest conundrum of all which this latest matter like so much else hinges on is the amazing fact of the tremendous almost universal decrease in the frequency of these anomalies since early in the 20th century The puzzle is What can this downward trend possibly mean and at bottom Whether it is part of a long term cyclical pattern This fascinating biological phenomenon is explored in the book together with various other topics

Americanizing the West Frank Van Nuys,2002

The arrival of immigrants on America s shores has always posed a singular problem once they are here how are these diverse peoples to be transformed into Americans The Americanization movement of the 1910s and 1920s addressed this challenge by seeking to train immigrants for citizenship representing a key element of the Progressives search for order in a modernizing America Frank Van Nuys examines for the first time how this movement in an effort to help integrate an unruly West into the emerging national system was forced to reconcile the myth of rugged individualism with the demands of a planned society In an era convulsed by world war and socialist revolution the Americanization movement was especially concerned about the susceptibility of immigrants to un American propaganda and union agitation As Van Nuys convincingly demonstrates this applied as much to immigrants in the urbanizing and industrializing West as it did to those occupying the ethnic enclaves of cities in the East In Americanizing the West he tells how hundreds of bureaucrats educators employers and reformers participated in this movement by developing adult immigrant education programs and how these attempts contributed more toward bureaucratizing the West than it did to turning immigrants into productive citizens He deftly ties this history to broader national developments and shows how Westerners brought distinctive approaches to Americanization to accommodate and preserve their own sense of history and identity Van Nuys shows that although racism and social control agendas permeated Americanization efforts in the West Americanizers sustained their faith in education as a powerful force in transforming immigrants into productive citizens He also shows how some westerners especially in California believed they faced a racial frontier unlike other parts of the country in light of the influx of Hispanics and Asians so that westerners became major players in the crafting of not only American identity but also immigration policies The mystique of the white pioneer past still maintains a powerful hold on ideas of American identity and we still deal with many of these issues through laws and propositions targeting immigrants and alien workers Americanizing the West makes a clear case for regional distinctiveness in this citizenship program and puts current headlines in perspective by showing how it helped make the West what it is today   The Hawaiian Journal of History ,2000   Place Matters Peter Dreier,John H. Mollenkopf,Todd Swanstrom,2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America s cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America s urban crisis back on the national agenda

Protecting Soldiers and Mothers Theda Skocpol,1992-12-10 Instead the nation nearly became a unique maternalist welfare state as the federal government and more than forty states enacted social spending labor regulations and health education programs to assist American mothers and children Remarkably as Skocpol shows many of these policies were enacted even before American women were granted the right to vote Banned from electoral politics they turned their energies to creating huge nation spanning federations of local women s clubs which collaborated with reform minded professional women to spur legislative action across the country   African American Environmental Thought Kimberly K. Smith,2007 Examines the works of Frederick Douglass Booker T Washington W E B Du Bois and several other canonical figures to uncover a rich and vital tradition of black environmental thought from the abolition movement through the Harlem Renaissance Provides the first careful linkage of the early conservation movement to black history the first detailed description of black agrarianism and the first analysis of scientific racism as an environmental theory   Lou Henry Hoover Nancy Beck Young,2004 This first thoroughly researched appraisal of Hoover s tenure as first lady 1929 1933 argues that she was the first modern presidential wife because of her use of radio adoption of social causes and public activism outside White House traditions     Contesting the Master Narrative Jeffrey Cox, Shelton Stromquist, 1998 Social historians today are calling into question the persuasiveness of the master narratives that have dominated our stories about the past Motivated now by personal and professional commitments to solving problems by telling stories not by epistemological and ontological certitude social historians are constructing alternative narratives relevant to an expanded more inclusive audience The essays in this thoughtful volume reflect an explicit self consciousness about historians choices of narrative strategies a new skepticism of the rhetorical strategies embedded in all scholarly arguments and a recognition that every historian has a point of view Critically examining past master narratives in light of emerging alternatives these essayists ask us to reevaluate the stories we tell the narrative traditions within which they are situated and the audiences they are designed to persuade The first essays explore the gendered character of social history rhetoric by exposing alternative feminist traditions of social scientific and social historical writing The second section focuses on alternative narrative traditions of historical writing in non European contexts specifically India Japan and China And the third group spotlights the rhetorical uses of synthesis in the writings of social historians The essays feature the range of narrative possibilities available to historians who have become self critical about the pervasive use of unexamined master narratives they show how limited that tradition can be compared with the diverse alternatives derived from for example gendered traditions of Latin American travel writers of the nineteenth century Victorian women s historical writing or the lively subaltern tradition in Indian social history Together they argue not for the abandonment of historical materialism or the elimination of all master narratives but for the reinvigoration of social history through the use of new and more persuasive arguments based on alternative narratives

Cities Perceived Andrew Lees, 1985 This is a serious and valuable contribution to the vast literature of urbanism Journal of European Studies Although the social and economic aspects of modern urbanization are readily apparent the impact of city growth on ideas and attitudes rarely receives the attention it deserves In Cities Perceived Andrew Lees fills this research gap by examining a number of trends including the cultural assimilation of European and American urbanization in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and the common view on the effects of rural and urban migration during the Industrial Revolution He additionally analyzes the variances among the perceptions of urban life based on decade country occupation and social group Lees also offers insight on how urban problems both stem from and stimulate the efforts that are intended to address them Drawing from a wide range of sources Lees illuminates the complex fears and enthusiasms aroused by the rapid growth of cities in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries A comparative framework encompasses developments in America as well as in Britain France and Germany in addition to evidence of ambivalent as well as strongly positive attitudes toward urbanization that complement the more familiar theme of hostility common in previous writing Cities Perceived is a scholarly overview of one of the fundamental transformations of the age This groundbreaking work on social and cultural history is essential reading for urban historians and students of literature and sociology Andrew Lees has been a member of the Rutgers Camden faculty since 1974 He teaches broadly in the areas of European and comparative European American history Four Hats in the Ring Lewis L. Gould,2008 A leading political historian explains the enduring significance of the dynamic 1912 election featuring four candidates three with previous White House experience and one a future prison inmate as they dealt with pressing issues such as free trade the political role of women and a socialist movement at its apex

CHEUNG,2021-11-01 Hong Kong under British rule was a prime example of exceptionalism in many aspects economic political and even social It was governed under a colonial structure and yet had enjoyed a large degree of social and economic freedom as well as fiscal self sufficiency and autonomy from London After returning to Chinese rule in 1997 Hong Kong has continued to thrive as a relatively resilient city state still known for efficiency and effectiveness despite tensions and scepticism about its political future This book carries decades of academic observations and the author s personal political experience It reviews and reflects on the past trajectory of governance and administration identifying strengths and capabilities as well as constraints and vulnerabilities of Hong Kong as a polity and society while charting its course of exceptionalism within a new context and under changing conditions As this book concludes the exceptionalism of Hong Kong not only hinges on institutional arrangements and historical inheritance but also on the statecraft of the administration of the day This is a text for deep reading reflection and deliberation Professor LUI Tai lok Chair Professor of Hong Kong Studies Director of the Academy of Hong Kong Studies Director of the Centre for Greater China Studies and Former Vice President Research Development at The Education University of Hong Kong a gem whatever your political stand is you have to admire
