Ethnic Relations and

Nation-Building in Southeast Asia Leo Suryadinata,2004 Ethnic racial relations have been a perennial theme in Southeast

Asian studies Current events have highlighted the tensions among ethnic groups and the need to maintain ethnic racial harmony for national unity This book analyses ethnic race relations in Singapore Malaysia and Indonesia with special reference to the roles of ethnic Chinese in nation building It brings together a group of established Southeast Asian scholars to critically examine some of the important issues such as ethnic politics nation building state policies and conflict resolution These scholars of different ethnic origins present their own ethnic perspectives and hence make the book unique This is the most up to date book on ethnic racial relations with special reference to the ethnic Chinese in three Southeast Asian countries

Ethnic Minorities and Politics in Southeast Asia Thomas Engelbert,Hans Dieter Kubitscheck,2004-01-01

Southeast Asia is a region of eleven different states each having many different peoples languages cultures and religions

However general ideas principles or rules which can encompass any one particular example or one country are nevertheless possible This constant interplay and interaction between the specific and the general between the local and the regional between region and nation between history and current times is one of the characteristics of Southeast Asia In taking this background into consideration it is important to distinguish between rule and exception to trace down recurrent themes in history according to changing circumstances and to seek possible ways of smoothing tensions or of solving conflicts This book includes contributions covering about seven Southeast Asian countries Myanmar Thailand Laos Cambodia and Vietnam on the mainland as well as Singapore and Indonesia on the islands The contributions deal with all three of the important categories of ethnic minorities the tribal or indigenous populations the nationalities who live as majority population in neighbouring states and the so called Foreign Asians Furthermore general questions such as Nationalitatopolitik and language politics Sprachenpolitik are also addressed Post Colonial Society and Culture in Southeast Asia ,1999

Dynamic of Ethnic Relations in Southeast Asia Mohd Azizuddin Mohd Sani,Shamsuddin L. Taya,2010-04-16 Dr Mahathir Mohamad former Prime Minister of Malaysia said in the Far Eastern Economic Review 28 October 1996 The threat is from inside So we have to be armed so to speak Not with guns but with the necessary laws to make sure the country remains stable He implied that ethnic conflict and political instability are inevitable in a multi ethnic society unless protected by certain laws Ethnic conflict is like a time bomb The misuse of human rights for political ends and to exploit ethnic sentiments can spark ethnic conflict In theory the modern nation state must achieve pluralism in its project of nation building There are few nations in the world which consist of a single ethnic group Yet multi ethnicity also seems to be a serious challenge to any system of government especially in Southeast Asia as it adds possibly deep running cleavages to societies Some groups are marginalized in the course of nation building as a result of the nature of the relationship between nation and state Arjun Appadurai stated that the nation and the state have become one another s project groups try to capture states and their power while states try to monopolize about the nationhood There is always tension between the centre and the margin The centre often consists of one ethnic group and marginalised minority groups are denied their right to equality Sometimes horrible wars with thousands of victims commence as a consequence of such processes of ethnically framed nation building Therefore a democratic setting should be functionally superior that is in a better position to moderate the escalatory tendencies inherent in a multi ethnic setting thereby achieving less violence prone conflict management and its eventual resolution in Southeast Asia This book is intended for anyone interested in the subject of ethnic relations and conflicts especially politicians policy makers civil society activists academia and students of ethnic race studies and Southeast Asian politics Southeast Asia in Political Science Erik Martinez Kuhonta,Dan Slater,Tuong Vu,2008 This book provides a state of the art review of Southeast Asian political studies through a dialogue involving theoretical analysis area studies and qualitative methodology Social Transformation and Conflicts in Southeast Asia Southeast Asian Conflict Studies Network. Sinha,2006 Ethnicity, Nation, and the Ideologies of Community Michael Benjamin Goldman,1999 European Journal of East Asian Studies ,2006 China and Southeast Asia's Ethnic Chinese Paul J. Bolt,2000-09-30 Bolt uses the relationship between China and Southeast Asia s ethnic Chinese as a case study and he focuses on the potential role of a diaspora in the economic and political development of its homeland as well as the role of the state in dealing with transnational economic actors He examines China s post 1978 policy of attracting ethnic Chinese investment in light of historical relations between China and its diaspora community demonstrating that China has through various measures consistently aimed at tapping the resources of Asia s ethnic Chinese He then analyzes the contributions that ethnic Chinese have made to China s development showing that such contributions have been tremendously important both in terms of the accumulation of capital and the transfer of business skills Bolt probes how ethnic Chinese intervention in China s economy has affected the politics of the Chinese state He concludes by looking at the international implications of Chinese development being spurred largely by a Chinese diaspora community and he demonstrates how China s efforts to attract ethnic Chinese investments have complicated China s relations with Southeast Asia and led to discussions of a Greater China An important analysis for scholars researchers and policy makers involved with contemporary Southeast Asian
